OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 22.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1930.

No. 34

BOSTON'S TAX RATE FIXED AT $30.80 FOR 1930. BUSINESS DEPRESSION, SCHOOL EXPENSES, RELIEF OF UNEMPLOYED AND EXPENSES OF PREVIOUS ADMINISTRATION EXPLAIN CAUSES OF INCREASE FOR THIS YEAR. ASSESSORS FIX VALUATION OF CITY WEALTH AT $1,827,339,600.

Upon announcing the tax rate for the year 1930 Mayor Curley made the following statement:

The tax rate for 1930 is $30.80 and while there is some comfort in the knowledge that it is less than the first year of the preceding administration it is nevertheless regrettable. It is unfortunate that due to precedent and pressure upon outgoing administrations a burden is imposed upon succeeding ones and this is responsible for a large portion of the increase in rate.

A study of departmental requirements should be sufficient proof of the fallacy of the theory that discharge of competent employees, or reductions in salaries by private employers, is sound economics. The saving in case of discharged employees is responsible for the increased taxes due to the shifting of the burden to the charity departments of the city and the demands for the maintenance of the Public Welfare Departments discloses, in a measure, the extent of this burden.

The necessity for providing healthful quarters for pupils in public schools is responsible for the major portion of the increased expenditure of $1,400,000 in the School Department.

Eminent authorities, including the present leader of the nation, Herbert Hoover, are in agreement that public works should be undertaken for relief during periods of industrial depression rather than a resort to anything savoring of the "dole" system, and with this program I am in agreement.

Public improvements have been undertaken upon a larger scale and involving a greater expenditure of money than in any previous year in the history of Boston and it is my purpose that this program shall be continued to the end that opportunities for a livelihood for Boston's citizens may be provided so far as it is financially and physically possible for the city to do so until conditions industrially improve.

The statement of the tax rate follows.

The Board of Assessors of the City of Boston announce the tax rate for 1930 as $30.80 per $1,000 of valuation.

The various items and factors entering into the tax rate for 1930 are indicated in the following table:

CALLS ON K. OF C. MEMBERS TO AID IN UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM'S SOLUTION — ALSO ASKS HELP IN RESTORING MORAL SANITY TO PUBLIC STAGE AND LIFE.

At the opening of the convention of the Supreme Council, K. of C., at the Hotel Statler Ballroom, Tuesday, August 19, Mayor Curley spoke as follows:

Right Reverend Monsignor, Reverend National Chaplain, Worthy Supreme Grand Knight, National and State Officers, Fellow Members of the Knights of Columbus, and Guests.

A very great privilege is mine this day as Mayor of the City of Boston in being permitted to present a cane to the Supreme Head of this organization—perhaps I dignify it when I term it a cane—it has been termed by the gentleman responsible for its presence here as a "constitutional big stick." It was cut from an elm tree, growing for more than two hundred years, in the town of Lexington at the very spot where the first shot was fired that was heard around the world. It was fitting that a memento of this character be presented the head of some organization in America that lived true to the ideals which this war club represents, the ideals of the constitution, the ideals of our common country, the ideals of those men whose memory we commemorate in this the three hundredth anniversary year of the establishment of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. It remained for one of my race to write the poem upon the Three Hundredth Anniversary of the Founding of the Pilgrim Colony. Someone has made reference to Boston being cold. It was not very cold to him. He was gifted with a magnetic personality. He was gifted by Almighty God with the power to convey both in prose and poetry thoughts that inspire, thoughts that strengthen, thoughts that make life and the individual worth while. He did not come here in royal garb. He came here in an old fishing schooner and his presence here was made possible by a Yankee skipper from New Bedford, by the name of Captain Hathaway. He came here in the garb of a felon but was greeted with warmth and taken to the hearts of the Brahmins of Beacon Hill because of his God-given attainments without regard to race, to creed, or color, in the same manner that Boston and the Commonwealth took to its heart two years ago another great American. This man wrote many things. There is one line that comes to my mind upon this occasion in the presentation of this constitutional big stick to the head of this organization. He said, "A nation's greatness lies in men not acres; one master mind is worth more than a million hands"—John Boyle O'Reilly. And so, sir, to you, as the Supreme Head of this organization, as a man charged with great responsibility, and who has measured up to that responsibility, I present to you this insignia of authority, for after all a war club is always as inspiring an insignia of authority as any gavel ever manufactured.

Yours has been a heavy burden but you have carried it in strict conformity with highest ideals of God, of Country, and the Knights of Columbus.

BOSTON NOT INHOSPITABLE.

Some mention has been made of our inhospitableness. We are not inhospitable. We are bound by restrictions, by statutes, by ordinances that serve as a check upon our otherwise liberal natures with the public money. But I want at this time, as Mayor of Boston, to express to this organization my sincere appreciation for the constant and steadfast support which they have given me, as Mayor of Boston, in our efforts to maintain sanity, serenity and decency upon the public stage. Without their individual moral and organized support it would have been impossible to adopt, as we have adopted in Boston, and compelled acceptance in every other city in the country, of a moral code for performances that is accepted as necessary for the protection of the morals of the people of America. I rejoice that this organization, in Massachusetts at least, has done its part to help restore the same degree or morality upon the public stage as in halls.

In the years after the World War, or until within the last two years, we have been flooded with sex appeal, both upon the stage and in writing; but lo, and behold, within the last year in America we have enjoyed a visit from a group of Shakespearean players, from the home of Shakespeare, Stratford-on-Avon. They have come here, played to crowded houses, and have so captivated the people of America that they have accepted an invitation to come to Boston next year for a two weeks' open air engagement at the greatest and finest monument to be found to Columbus in the whole world, Columbus Park, South Boston.

And what Sir Archibald Flowers and his Shakespearean players have done in the matter of changing the trend of thought with reference to protection in the spoken word and by the individual on the stage, has been done by another great Englishman, Edgar Wallace. I do not think we can term it literary in the matter of writing, but in his detective stories and mystery stories you may search through the three hundred odd volumes he has produced and you will never find a single reference to anything that savors of sex appeal.

PROSPECT OF SANITY AND DECENCY.

And so there is a prospect of sanity and decency being restored in American life.

As one member of this organization, interested in its future, and one member of this organization who rejoices in the character of its contribution both in time of peace and in time of war, I am wondering if there is not just one other thing that might be worthy at least of serious thought by the convention. We have a profound appreciation of how easy it is to be a good citizen, to be a good member of any religious faith, when prosperity shines upon us, when our income is unimpaired, when the sun is shining and the road is clear. How difficult it is for a man to be a good citizen or good Catholic when he has traveled in the shadow of adversity in the richest land in the whole world. I am wondering if it is not time for this nation to do something about the unemployment problem because even in Sacred

Scripture you will find the age-old axiom "The poor we have always with us."

Before coming here today I had a visit from the Mayor of Waltham, England. It is not a very large city, about twelve miles outside of London, and I was reading to the press a list of awards of contracts for building and road construction. He said, "You are spending a lot of money on buildings and on roads." I said, "I believe it is better to spend the public money in this manner than it is on the dole system that obtains in England." "Quite right," he said, "I am in agreement with you."

Since 1920 an average of $200,000,000 every year has been spent for unemployment aid in Great Britain. What is the future of the British race? What is going to become of that sense of superiority that has marked the race from the beginning? For no such people in the history of the world have ever been more strongly possessed of the superiority complex and ever ready to proclaim it, and because of that superiority complex they have held in subjection, not only land, but people all over the world. I do not propose to discuss the question of honor in the matter in which they have acquired these lands but I am wondering what the future is to be. $200,000,000 a year is paid out in doles. I am wondering if the superiority complex is not going to disappear and the servile inferiority complex take its place with the disposition to live without labor. I am wondering what is to become of Great Britain.

SPIRIT OF PIONEERS STILL NEEDED.

I am wondering what is to become of America if we ever lose the spirit, character, determination and the courage of the pioneers who settled the country, who fought not only the hostile Indians and the hostile climate, but an unfriendly soil, who blazed the path to the Pacific, and who gave to the world the most courageous experiment in government the world has ever known. The corner stone of that government is respect for lawful constituted authority and this organization is one of the most essential bulwarks for the continuance of the American republic. I am wondering if this land, with its wonderful history of accomplishments in less than a century and a half, this land which has witnessed the fruition of the struggle of good men and women for nearly twenty centuries for the right to enjoy personal, civil and religious liberty, this land which has witnessed the striking of the shackles from the black man, this land which has witnessed the saving of the world by the high ideals of the American soldier, sailor and marine in the World War, I am wondering if this land is incapable of seriously essaying the task of solving the problem of unemployment. Four great evils that have afflicted humanity from the beginning of time are poverty, disease, crime and ignorance. I commend this problem to your judgment and I trust you will give it thought.

MORE THAN 1,000 CITIES HAVE MUNICIPAL AIRPORTS.

The Department of Commerce reports that more than 1,000 cities in the United States now have municipal airports, or plan to construct them in the immediate future.

A few days ago the department announced the names of forty-one additional cities in which airports are planned, including Skagway, Alaska. When the Skagway airport is constructed, it will bring Alaska's airports and intermediate landing fields to more than fifty.

TAX RATE FOR 1930.

The same percentage, namely 1.7 per cent, used last year for overlay has been used this year but on account of the

The extraordinary requirements for public welfare and soldiers' relief may be attributed directly to the serious unemployment situation prevalent throughout the country. Approximately 75 per cent of the increase in permanent pay rolls is due to the salary increases granted and the new positions created under the previous administration. Additional appropriations for streets and sidewalks have been deemed necessary to remedy existing conditions in residential sections of the city.

Increased facilities in our hospitals and institutions have made possible the handling of a greater number of patients, thus creating the necessity for larger appropriations for food. In order that the city might do its proper share in helping alleviate unemployment conditions in the community, increased appropriations for temporary employees have been made.

ORDERS OF ADDITION.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The Mayor has approved the issuance of orders of addition as follows: In the sum of $3,403.37, to the contract of the Rugo Construction Company, Incorporated, for the grading of the grounds of the new Brighton High School. This amount is required to cover the cost of open and trench blasting, which was found to be necessary in the excavation for the laying of drains and curbs.

Following are the amounts of rock excavation: Add for 208.57 cubic yards rock trench excavation blasting at $12 per cubic yard, $2,502.84; 221.82 cubic yards open rock excavation blasting at $7.50 per cubic yard, $1,663.65—$4,166.49. Deduct for 208.57 cubic yards earth open excavation, at $1 per cubic yard, $208.57; 221.82 cubic yards trench earth excavation at $2.50 per cubic yard, $554.55—$763.12. Net addition, $3,403.37.

In the sum of $3,231.67, to the contract of the Rugo Construction Company, Incorporated, for the grading of the grounds of the new Brighton High School. This amount is required to cover the cost of open and trench blasting, which was found to be necessary in the excavation for the laying of drains and curbs.

The appropriations for city purposes show an increase of $3,204,874.14 over similar appropriations for 1929. The more important increases are shown in the following tabulation:

The Tercenary Celebration has not only necessitated a direct appropriation for the fitting observance of this historical event, but has also, indirectly, made necessary appropriations for the maintenance and repair of our parks, playgrounds and public buildings, in order that visitors to the city might find city property in a proper condition. The heavy duty trucks purchased four years ago for the Public Works Department have practically reached the limit of their usefulness and it has been necessary to provide additional funds for their replacement. Under legislative approval, appropriations have been made, for the first time, this year for conventions, entertainment of distinguished guests and municipal advertising. In order that sufficient funds might be available for emergencies or contingencies arising during the year, it has been deemed expedient to increase the appropriation for the reserve fund.

URGES PREPARATION AND PROGRAM THAT WILL SUPPLEMENT AND CHECK INDUSTRIAL CHANGES AND DEPRESSIONS — MAYOR CURLEY ADDRESSES BOSTON ROTARY CLUB AT HOTEL STATLER.

At Rotary Club luncheon, Hotel Statler, August 20, Mayor Curley spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, members of the Rotary, and guests: I am indeed grateful for the privilege of being permitted to address you today, on an empty stomach.

Having a realization of the seriousness of the problems confronting America at the present time and of how difficult an adequate solution of those problems are, because, in the main, they represent the problems that have afflicted humanity from the beginning of time, and as referred to in Scripture, "The poor we have always with us," I sometimes wonder if America, a nation with a history of accomplishment greater in less than one and one half centuries than any or all other countries since the world was created, is not capable of solving the present-day problems.

I have a profound respect for the ability of the President of the United States and in concurrence with every American, although not of his political party, from the bottom of my heart I pray for the success of the program announced by him in the last great national campaign. Up to the present time apparently no progress has been made. Someone has tritely said that the administration, being an engineering one, is still in the blueprint stage, and until it has passed the blueprint stage there is little likelihood of evidence of genuine progress being possible to the general public. Now, how true that statement is, we have striking evidence in our own community. At the beginning of the year in January, the demands for relief in the Public Welfare Department in Boston, which I mention because, after all, the cornerstone of Rotarianism is "Service," and this is in line with the highest and most noble character of service that man can give to his fellow man or Almighty God, represented an expenditure of $250,000 each month, or for the twelvemonth period an expenditure of three millions of dollars. In 1925, the last year of my service as Mayor, the total expenditure for the entire year was $1,220,000, an increase of more than 200 per cent in a period of four years.

Now what is true of the Public Welfare Department is equally true of the department known as the Soldiers' Relief Department, where the expenditure showed an increase approximating 250 per cent.

The private employer probably has labored under the impression that it was sound economics to discharge the employees or to reduce wages, and the unsoundness of that position is borne out by the fact that in every case where employees have been discharged in any community the increased cost of maintaining charitable institutions or hospitals have resulted in a higher tax rate, which is borne in large part by the employer who anticipated he was economizing by reduction in force of employees. I am wondering if we have stopped to consider the importance of our own country and its possibilities. I can recall as far back as 1911, being a member of Congress, advocating a program for a sightseeing tour for the men elected to Congress, in order that every member of Congress elected in November and taking office in March might have first-hand information as to the extent and area of the country at large. I can conceive of no expenditure which would prove of more value to the welfare of the nation, that would give to the members of Congress a broader perspective and a greater sense of responsibility, but it did not meet with very much favor.

MOST PROSPEROUS YEARS.

The two most prosperous years in the history of the nation were 1927 and 1928. We talk loudly of the decrease of exports and imports as though it might be in the nature of a calamity and as a matter of fact in 1927 the value of all goods, either dug from the earth or secured from the earth, or grown or fabricated, approximated eighty-seven millions of dollars. The total value of our exports was about four and three quarters billions of dollars, and the total value of imports was about four and one quarter billions of dollars, so that we could have lived unto ourselves throughout this most prosperous year in the history of America without expending a single dollar for goods sent into the country. In 1928 the total value of material developed in America amounted to ninety billions of dollars, while the exports and imports remained at about the same ratio as in 1927, so that we could have still lived unto ourselves during that year. Because of the ferocity of competition for the continuance of existing European governments, we may as well realize now as five or ten years from now that, so far as America is concerned, with the exception of such commodities as they cannot raise in Europe there is nothing Europe will purchase from the United States of America. What they do purchase they purchase because of necessity and for no other reason, unless it be that it is cheaper than that which they can purchase any other place. Now this being the case, is it not about time for the American nation to turn its eyes elsewhere as a source of relief, for the people of the United States of America, for excess production and the development of a future market?

We talk of the source of American prosperity in that two years, and we find it was the American people, and then we have a period of inflation in the market, and lo and behold, the wealthiest country in the world experiences depression and stagnation in industry that develops a psychology of fear that unless speedily checked will undoubtedly ruin countless thousands of manufacturers and individuals in the United States of America. Now what is responsible for the psychology of fear? Some large manufacturing concerns and department stores find that it will be extremely difficult to earn their dividends during a given period, so they decide to lay off a certain number of help. The company employs 5,000 and lays off 500. What happens? They develop a psychology of fear on the part of the 4,500. It does more injury to the community than the money saved. What is the meaning of psychology of fear? I find my fellow worker, who does as much work, and does it as well as I do, discharged solely because the concern wants to conserve and economize. I get the impression that I am going to be next. Getting $40 per week and living up to it, I say to myself that if I am going to be next I must economize to the extent of 25 per cent. Multiply my case by the number of workers and then you get some idea of the restriction in expenditure on the part of the American republic, and the general depression and injury to industry that must inevitably result.

PRAISE FOR PIONEERS.

We are observing in Boston this year the Tercentenary of the founding in America of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. It was a courageous experiment on the part of the women and men who set up a form of government. They did not hesitate to cross 3,000 miles of uncharted ocean and did not hesitate to combat unfriendly Indians, and the terrors bred in the hearts of men through superstition with regard to the dangers upon sea and land, and then the unfriendly climate, and the sickness and epidemics that is always an accompaniment to a pioneering group in a strange country. However, they overcame it through faith. What is faith? Faith is self-reliance. They relied on whom? They relied on God, themselves and the men and women associated with them.

The sooner we realize that we must rely on God and ourselves the better for America and every individual in it.

I was asked by the Boston American to write a 3,000 word article on unemployment, and I wrote it. They were rather gluttonous and they came back and wanted 3,500 more and again came back and wanted 3,000 more. I put it in the form of a book and entitled it "The Vanishing Job," and I have had copies brought for the members of the Rotary Club assembled here, which I trust you will read.

There isn't anything more important in the wide world to America and country than the men who founded the Massachusetts Bay Colony, who had for their motto, "The Man, The Home, The Town, The Commonwealth." The basis of it was the man, since without the man the home was impossible, without the home the town impossible, without the town the commonwealth impossible. Man was the corner stone. The prosperity of the individual worker in America is the most important thing in the life of America. We cannot minimize it. We are confronted in Boston with an unusual situation which does not differ materially from the situation in every section of the country. In Boston we rather anticipated it, and we began a system of public works in order that an opportunity might be provided for those willing to work and in need of employment.

I said at the outset that the Hoover administration was in the blueprint stage. With a realization of how serious the proposition was and an appreciation of the responsibility of the tax burden borne by the Public Welfare Department, and because in times of general depression it is not the habitual criminal who goes to prison, but rather the hungry man who cannot get work and who wants to be committed to avoid starvation. He sometimes breaks a window or goes into the street and assaults a policeman, and these are not uncommon occurrences in America today.

BREADLINE PROPAGANDA DESTRUCTIVE.

I had a visit recently from the manager of a leading hotel in Detroit, a friend of Mr. Cushing's. We stood at my office window on School street and looked out onto Province street, a distance of about two hundred and fifty feet. He said it was interesting to note the activity on that street. He said he had been looking out his hotel window for the last four months on a somewhat similar street. There was at nine o'clock every morning a crowd, four wide and about 200 in depth, waiting in line to get a plate of soup or a piece of bread. The same situation that exists in Detroit could be repeated all over the country. This repetition means the possible development of propaganda that may be destructive to the American republic unless checked through providing jobs for the unemployed workers.

We applied to the Legislature to build an extension of the subway from Governor square out to Commonwealth avenue at a cost of approximately three millions of dollars. The application was made to the Legislature and the bill was filed in January and hearings held in February and March. The bill was not finally approved until just prior to the adjournment of the Legislature in June. Specifications and plans were drawn up and we started work on the first day in July. In other words, it took six months to get beyond the blueprint stage and get into the construction of a small $3,000,000 proposition. We secured, in connection with this work, from the Civil Service Commission permission to give preference in employment to service men who served in the World War. We pay the service man who is unable to work or secure employment a minimum of $37.50 and a maximum of $100 per month, and by putting them to work on that job we save the city the equivalent of almost one half of the total cost of the work itself, and by July 30 we had 160 men on the job. Then we decided as a means of further relieving unemployment that we would double up and instead of an eight-hour day, we made two eight-hour shifts in every twenty-four hours, and now we have nearly 400 men on the job. We anticipate completing the job in one half the time estimated and at a slightly higher cost, but we will save the city one and one half millions of dollars in the next two years in soldiers' relief aid and still we are in the blueprint stage.

LONG WAIT FOR EAST BOSTON TUNNEL.

In 1862 agitation was started in Boston for the building of a tunnel or bridge between Boston and East Boston. It takes a long time for us to make up our minds. Sixty-eight years after, agitation was again started for a physical connection between Boston and East Boston, and we proceeded to put it through. Land-takings were made recently and we made them in the only way a city should make them. Land-takings were made on a basis of payment to the landowners of 10 per cent above the average assessed valuation of the last five years. We will not be required to take down the structures for two years, and the rentals acquired on that property during that period should be more than sufficient to offset the 10 per cent excess. For the past twelve months we have been required to pay out two million two hundred thousand dollars on the property taken by the Street Commission and Transit Department, and this money is approximately 73 per cent in excess of the assessed valuation under the old system, and under the new system there is paid but 10 per cent in excess of the assessed valuation.

We have been working on this tunnel job every day from the beginning of the year, and construction will not be started until November 1. Now, if we could have started that in February, 1,000 more men would be working, but we are still in the blueprint stage. We asked the Legislature for $15,000,000 for a larger school program of construction, willing to try to spend it all in one year. The Legislature allowed us seven and one half millions of dollars. Up to the present time we have only approved contracts for two small school buildings of $500,000 total, and we won't get beyond the blueprint stage until October 1, and we have been working upon the project for more than seven months. We asked the Legislature for authority to borrow for permanent street construction, for the first time in years, ten millions of dollars. They allowed us seven millions. We have already spent three millions, and we won't make a serious dent in the remaining four millions until December.

Everything in America has come as a result of necessity, instead of as a result of an intelligent, well-thought out, carefully planned program. I would that the day was here now that in every state and subdivision in the entire country we might have planning boards made up of competent engineers, of successful business men and public-spirited citizens, that would plan out a general program of development and construction, anticipating possible contingencies. We anticipate rioting, burglary, and crime in general, and so we appoint a police force to protect the public. We anticipate loss by fire, and so establish a fire department. Why can't we anticipate depression in industry? Lloyd George, in England, is responsible for the statement that England experiences an industrial depression about once in every two and one half years. For the last fifty years we have had depression in America once in about every five years. Why can't we prepare for it, with a carefully thought out program of public works to supplement industrial changes or depression in business? Our future is in America and our duty to America represents an obligation that we owe to ourselves, to our fellow man, and God. We take away from this life only that which we leave behind—the record of accomplishment that makes the road a little easier and life a little sweeter to travel for the ones who come after us. Let us give a thought to that road and our fellow Americans.

MAYOR CURLEY APPEALS TO NAVY HEAD IN BEHALF OF CHARLESTOWN YARD.

Mayor Curley forwarded the following telegram on August 19 to Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams at Washington and earnestly asked his intercession, relative to the threatened furlough of 200 additional employees at the Boston Navy Yard. The telegram forwarded by the Mayor reads as follows:

I am advised that the Commander of Scouting Fleet under date of August 16 recommended that immediate repairs to boilers and general overhaul should be made on the U. S. "Manley" at the Boston Navy Yard and that this work was assigned to start April 30, 1931. It appears that certain officials of the Navy Department disregarded recommendation and ordered the "Manley" to proceed to Norfolk Navy Yard for repairs starting August 20 of this year. "Manley" reported in the harbor of Newport, R. I., within easy steaming distance of Boston. The loss of work upon the "Manley" means the certain furlough of 100 additional employees at Boston Navy Yard unless you can kindly intervene and assign the "Manley" here. It is further reported that money providing for repairs and overhaul upon the vessels of the United States Coast Guard has been either suspended or exhausted and which will result in the additional furlough of 100 other men at the Boston Navy Yard. I earnestly beg you to issue the necessary orders that will prevent the furlough of deserving employees, add to the ranks of the unemployed 200 additional men and seriously augment the present conditions of unemployment in Boston. It appears these men are entitled to protection and for which I earnestly seek your generous offices by official orders.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR CURLEY MOVES TO CHECK MILK PROFITEERING SCHEME.

Mayor Curley, on August 11, issued the following statement:

The Dairymen's League of New York and the Borden Farm Products Company of New York announced an increase of 1 cent per quart in the price of milk yesterday, the increase being based on the drought. In view of this fact it is not unreasonable to anticipate that advantage may be taken of weather conditions to foist an increase on the people of Boston of 1 cent a quart.

With a view to counteracting this possibility I conferred today with the officials of the First National Stores and have secured assurance from them that their company will continue to sell milk at 12 cents per quart under the cash and carry system, which is about 2 cents less per quart than the public pays at the present time, and under no conditions will they advance their price. The position taken by the First National Stores makes it inadvisable for the milk profiteers to put in operation an increase in price at the present time.

DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS TO GREET LORD MAYOR AND OTHER VISITORS.

Mayor Curley received on August 20 acceptances of his invitations to attend the town meeting and reception in honor of the visit from His Worship, Lord Mayor Reuben Salter, the Mayoress Salter, Deputy Mayor Bailey, Lady Bailey, City Councillor James Tait, Mrs. Tait and City Councillor James H. Mountain, to be held at the Boston Garden on September 16, at 7.30 p. m., from His Worship Lieut.-Col. H. E. Lavigueur, M. P., Mayor of Quebec; State Department Commander Richard F. Paul of the American Legion; Hon. John G. Richards, Governor of South Carolina; Congressman Richard B. Wigglesworth; Hon. Louis S. Cox, Justice of the Superior Court; Hon. Charles W. Tobey, Governor of New Hampshire; Hon. Louis H. McDuffee, Mayor of Rochester, N. H.

MAYOR CURLEY SENDS BON VOYAGE MESSAGE TO MUSICAL CONDUCTOR ARTHUR FIEDLER.

Mayor Curley sent the following telegram to Arthur Fiedler, S. S. "Bremen," North German Lloyd Line, Pier 4, 58th street, Brooklyn, New York:

Kindly accept my hearty bon voyage message. The closing Esplanade concert attracting an audience of 30,000 persons seems to be without precedence in the musical history of the United States and the people of Boston are greatly your debtor. The success of the concerts is unparalleled. I learn that you directed these concerts after being made ill by exposure in inclement weather but declined to yield your baton which is a fine tribute to your courage and sincerity. Your concerts were one of the finest contributions to the Boston Tercentenary Ceremonies. I sincerely trust you may enjoy both a happy and eventful journey overseas.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with the Deskor Chair Sales Corporation for installing chairs in the assembly halls of certain schools. A communication from L. K. Rourke of the Department of School Buildings was as follows:

BOSTON, July 22, 1930.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of section 30, chapter 486, of the Acts of 1909, of the awarding of a contract, without advertising, in the sum of $15,795, for the installing of 972 assembly seatings of Deskor chairs in the assembly halls of the Public Latin and Christopher Gibson Schools for combination study and assembly purposes, to the Deskor Chair Sales Corporation, 168 Lincoln street. This amount is made up as follows:

Public Latin School hall, 532 seats, $8,645; Christopher Gibson School hall, 440 seats, $7,150.

These two items have been requested by Superintendent of Public Schools, J. E. Burke.

As this chair is a patented article, nothing can be gained by advertising, and I therefore believe that the best interests of the city will be served by awarding the contract as above set forth.

Respectfully yours,

L. K. ROURKE,
Superintendent.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Upon varying dates as indicated in accompanying communications the Mayor approved contracts for specified work. Communications were received from James E. Maguire as follows:

BOSTON, July 24, 1930.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. CURLEY,—In the latter part of May it became necessary to have the steamer "George A. Hibbard" hauled out for certain minor repairs, the cost of which would come well under one thousand dollars. The boat was sent to the Atlantic Works of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and work ordered on the labor and material basis.

We were then informed that a new air pump, which had been ordered by Acting Commissioner Lydon in February and which had been made especially for the "Hibbard," was ready for installation. As this pump alone cost one thousand forty-five dollars ($1,045) it brought the total amount of the bill to one thousand eight hundred sixty-eight dollars and twenty-two cents ($1,868.22).

In view of these facts your approval of payment of itemized bill amounting to one thousand eight hundred sixty-eight dollars and twenty-two cents ($1,868.22) is respectfully requested.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES E. MAGUIRE,
Commissioner.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Upon varying dates the Mayor approved contracts as requested by the Park Department for supplies and work as indicated in accompanying communications received from the Park Department.

BOSTON, August 8, 1930.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request permission to award, without advertising, to the R. & J. Farquhar Company, 6 South Market street, Boston, to furnish such plants and do such planting, weeding, etc., as is required in the development of the East Boston Airport.

The price submitted, $2,000, is a very low one, and nothing could be gained by advertising.

The R. & J. Farquhar Company is a reliable concern and has done a great deal of work for this department.

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG,
Chairman.

BOSTON, August 8, 1930.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Under date of April 16, 1930, an advertised contract was awarded to the M. McGinnis Company, the lowest bidder, for furnishing approximately 4,000 cubic yards of loam to the Park Department at a price of $1.45 per cubic yard.

Owing to the fact that considerably more work is necessarily being done this Tercentenary year than would occur in a normal year, we find we will need an additional 2,000 cubic yards of loam and respectfully ask your approval to award a contract, without advertising, to the M. McGinnis Company for furnishing approximately 2,000 cubic yards of loam at the same price of $1.45 per cubic yard, or approximately $2,900.

The reason for this request is that we have been receiving an exceedingly good quality of loam and the price is extremely low, and we feel sure that nothing will be gained by advertising again for one half of the quantity purchased under the previously advertised contract.

Very respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG,
Chairman.

AMOUNT AVAILABLE FOR TRANSFER

CITY OF BOSTON—DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

July 14, 1930

Mr. J. E. Burke,
Superintendent of Public Schools,
15 Beacon St.,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Because of market conditions and other reasons, this Department has been able to let contracts on new work very materially below the amounts appropriated for same by the School Committee. It seems to me that this substantial overrun should be returned to the School Committee for appropriation on other projects which it may have in mind. I wrote Mr. Silverman regarding this matter, and I am attaching a copy of his answer hereto.

In line with this opinion, I find the following balances available for transfer by the School Committee: Edmund P. Tilton District Intermediate School, Item 3, 1929$70,000.00

Minot District, Thomas J. Kenny School Addition, Item 29, 1929	75,000.00
Bennett District, Harriet A. Baldwin School Addition, Item 6, 1930	50,000.00
Bennett District, Alexander Hamilton School Addition, Item 8, 1930	70,000.00

Making a total available for transfer of$265,000.00

Very truly yours,
(Signed), L. K. Rourke,

LAW DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF BOSTON

July 11, 1930

Louis K. Rourke, Esquire,
Superintendent of Construction,
Department of School Buildings,
11 Beacon Street, Boston.

Dear Sir:

I have your letter of July 10, 1930, in which you ask to be advised what procedure should be adopted by you in cases where the appropriation made available by the School Committee for certain work has been very largely in excess of the price for which the contract was awarded. You give as an example the instance of the Thomas J. Kenny School, the appropriation for which was $197,000 and the obligations for which, up to the present time, including the contract price of construction, are $102,000, leaving a balance of $95,000.

I see no legal objection to your requesting the School Committee to make a transfer to some other items of construction work the excess amount appropriated by the School Committee for a given piece of work. Of course you should not request a transfer of the entire unused appropriation as it may be necessary to contract for extra work on a given construction job or there may be claims for damages which may arise unknown to you at the present time. It seems to me that you should at least allow to remain in the particular appropriation ten per cent after you have ascertained the probable cost of the entire construction. There is no legal barrier to prevent the School Committee making a transfer to some other construction item when requested so to do by you as long as the particular funds are to be used under the same general appropriation item from which the appropriation in question was originally taken.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Samuel Silverman, Corporation Counsel.

Referred to the Board of Apportionment for recommendation.

APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES TO JULY 1, 1930

A communication was received from the Business Manager, under date of June 30, 1930, submitting a statement showing the appropriations, the expenditures, and the balances for maintenance of the public schools for the first six drafts of the current financial year, the expenditures for the first six drafts of the financial year 1929, and the increases and decreases in the several items.

Placed on file.

Chairman: Doctor Burke, I note here that the total expenditures for maintenance under the control of the School Committee for the first six drafts of 1930 are 216,000 odd dollars in excess of the total expenditures for the first six drafts for the year 1929; and having in mind that we had to go to the Legislature this year for 24 cents on the tax rate to give us some four hundred odd thousand dollars to maintain the school system on the existing basis, without any salary increases, may I ask you what solution we must adopt, other than going to the Legislature, or what solution we must adopt if we go to the Legislature and fail to receive an increase in the tax rate, to meet this increase in the cost over the expenditures of last year.

Superintendent: I don't think I have sufficient wisdom to solve that problem. I do appreciate, as the Chairman does, the importance of getting back rapidly, if we can, so that we shall live within our legal revenues and not be repeatedly going to the Legislature for additional money to maintain our schools. How that will work out I don't know. We are economizing in every direction at the present time, but apparently we are not catching up as rapidly as we should like.

Mr. Reilly: Isn't it true that the largest part of the increase is due to increases in salaries and for salaries of teachers in new schools? I have in mind the fact that it has been my good fortune this year to instigate measures that will result before December in a saving of $120,000, only one item of which will result in a saving of $20,000. Such measures are included in the business manager's report, one of which is a reduction in the increase of $29,000 on supplies and incidentals in the first six months over last year.

Chairman: In spite of that, we are $216,000 higher for the first six months, which will mean $432,000 for the entire year.

Mr. Reilly: I wish to point out that the increase in expenditures is due largely to the operation of the salary schedules and to the opening of new schools, and is not due to increases in general administrative expenses. We are saving on our administrative expenses.

Superintendent: The additional number of teachers has increased perhaps less rapidly than at any time in years. We had at the end of June added to the number of teachers employed something like 35, and we are limiting new appointments to the absolute minimum.

Chairman: Normally that would be what?

Superintendent: Normally it would be 70, perhaps 75.

Mr. Reilly: Then this increase may be due to annual increments which the teaching profession receives. That is constant?

Superintendent: Up to the maximum of the rank.

Business Manager: I think the School Committee has done pretty well. The committee has not been to the Legislature since 1925 for increased funds for maintenance. That is, the Committee has lived within the amount of money the law allowed for the years 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929.

Chairman: Mr. Business Manager, may I repeat to you the question,—assuming that we do not go to the Legislature or assuming that we do go to the Legislature and do not get the extra money, as we did this year; how can we run the schools when we have this increase of $216,000 for the first six months?

Business Manager: Mr. Chairman, you are conducting two types of education, mandatory and permissive. You might have to cut the cost of your permissive items,—such as kindergartens and shop instruction, to an amount that would enable the Committee to live within its appropriating power.

Chairman: Would that be the only alternative that would suggest itself to you as business manager?

Business Manager: Yes. A previous School Committee went to the Legislature at one time for increased funds to run the system, and that was one of the arguments the Committee made before the Committee on Municipal Finance, that if the increase were not granted, the Committee would have to cut down or cut out some of its activities which were not mandatory under the public school laws.

Chairman: Assuming we did not want to do that, what other suggestion have you?

Business Manager: You would have to cut them, Mr. Chairman. You must live within your budget.

Chairman: Is there any other solution of the problem?

Business Manager: No, because the School Committee has no reserve fund.

Chairman: As Business Manager could you not suggest any other means of tiding us over the difficulty?

Business Manager: That is, if your estimated expenditures exceeded your appropriating power?

Chairman: Yes.

Business Manager: You would have to cut out or cut down.

Chairman: Cut down what?

Business Manager: About the only thing you could do under such conditions is to cut down the cost of permissive education.

Chairman: Assuming we didn't want to do that, would any other solution suggest itself to you as Business Manager?

Business Manager: There is only one other way in which you could save money and live within your appropriating power, and that would be to reduce the salaries of employees—teachers and others. Let me give you an illustration: Several years ago, perhaps thirty or more, the School Committee in the last month of its financial year found that its expenditures for that particular month exceeded the balance available under its appropriations, and at that time the School Committee was obliged, in order to live within its appropriations, to reduce the salaries of teachers and other employees by either five or ten per cent. That deduction, which was the only thing the School Committee could do in that particular month, was refunded the following year when money was obtained from the Legislature. That was one year in which the School Committee became bankrupt in the last month of its financial year. I hope nothing like that will happen under the present Business Manager.

Chairman: Thank you, Mr. Sullivan.

REQUIREMENT OF BOSTON RESIDENCE

Mr. Hurley offered the following:

ORDERED, That Order No. 3 as passed by the School Committee at the meeting of June 23, 1930, is hereby amended by the addition of the following proviso:

"and provided further, that all residents appointed under the terms of this order to any position in the school department, and all residents admitted to The Teachers College, shall continue to have a domicile in this city during their employment, or during attendance at The Teachers College"—so that the order shall read as follows:

ORDERED, That the rules and regulations be amended to provide that no person shall be appointed to any position in the employ of the School Committee of the City of Boston after Jan. 1, 1931, who is not a legal resident of the City of Boston; provided that this order shall not affect those already on the eligible lists or on civil service lists for Boston appointment, nor shall it affect those who have been admitted to The Teachers College up to that date; and provided further, that all residents appointed under the terms of this order to any position in the school department, and all residents admitted to The Teachers College, shall continue to have a domicile in this city during their employment or during attendance at The Teachers College.

Mr. Gray: Mr. Chairman, as I understand it, this order is merely an amendment, to clarify the orders passed at the recent meeting, the so-called non-resident orders. I voted as emphatically as I knew how against the original orders, and naturally I shall vote against this order. I take this opportunity of saying that in the fall, when we meet again, I shall in some meeting move to rescind all those orders.

Dr. Lyons: I vote with great pleasure, yes.

Mrs. Pigeon: I vote no.

Mr. Reilly: I understand this is not a reconsideration of the previous vote, but an amendment. I voted for the original order because I felt we had the right, and I felt we had the need; and I felt that the proposed legislation would accomplish the purpose for which it was intended. I am therefore voting Yes for this amendment.

Chairman: Yes. It is true this amendment is simply to complete the orders passed at the recent meeting.

The order passed by the following vote:

NAYS—Mr. Gray and Mrs. Pigeon—2.

ADMISSIONS TO THE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Dr. Lyons: Mr. Chairman: I am going to ask this Committee to very seriously reconsider the action taken at the previous meeting limiting admissions to The Teachers College to those who received an average mark of 60. The Superintendent on that occasion made mention of the fact that he thought it would be rather a drastic cut to reduce the number of entrants from some 270, which it had been, to 150, as would have been accomplished by the order presented by one of the members, an order which was defeated; then following that action an order was presented, a motion was offered, and passed, raising the limit of admissions to 200.

I know full well that as the order or recommendation of the Superintendent set forth, admissions should be subject to the meeting of standards for admission which shall be established by the Board of Superintendents. Of course, any standard of admission made by the Board of Superintendents does not go into effect unless it is passed by this Committee. Now I am going to move, and hope that the motion will prevail, that the entrance mark be reduced from 60, where this committee raised it on the last occasion, to 50. I don't see that it is going to make any great difference in the quality of candidates, those having between 50 and 60, considering the fact that since I have been on this committee the entrance mark has been 50. Whether it was lowered to 50, or raised from some other mark,—nevertheless, the entrance requirement was 50.

I think these girls, residents of Boston, daughters of taxpayers supporting that college, are entitled to training in that college, in the profession of teaching. On many occasions I have pointed out to parents who were pretty badly broken up over the drastic ruling made by the Committee, that it was on my part and on the part of the majority of the committee, purely an attempt to save these girls, embryonic teachers, from themselves in the years to come, when on arriving at graduation from college there would be no place for them on account of the general unemployment situation. The answer invariably has been that they felt that they could work out their own remedy, that their daughters have the right to train there for the profession of teaching; and that they would accept the responsibility of whether their daughters would finally be taken care of in this city. I feel the same way.

I feel that it is a pretty extreme cut, to reduce the entrants from 270 to 122, and therefore I am going to move that the entrance mark be reduced to where it has been for two years, from 60 to 50, with the feeling that while there is plenty of room, a sufficiently large number of teachers will be better occupied by having sufficiently large classes; that the teaching qualities of the pupils will not be radically different if the entrance mark is placed at 50. I therefore move that the entrance mark be reduced from 60 to 50. I believe that instead of allowing 200, which is the wise limit which the Board of Superintendents originally recommended it will only allow about 175. Would you say that is so, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: I think about that.

Dr. Lyons: I offer the following: That the entrance mark for admission to The Teachers College be reduced from 60 to 50.

I hope this motion will meet with favorable response. It will help the girls and their parents, and, I am firmly convinced, the children of Boston in the future. We must provide teachers for them. If the unemployment situation is to be faced by these young girls, it rests in their hands. If they feel, and their parents feel that they are entitled to this professional education, I think we should allow them to have it.

Mr. Gray: I have to vote No against Doctor Lyons' motion. I have felt for some years that we have allowed too many girls admission to The Teachers College. We are subject to very great pressure on the part of parents who ask us to admit their daughters; then, when they graduate, we are subject to a corresponding amount of pressure to see that they are given teaching positions in our schools. The result of this policy has been that we now have some 800 girls on our list, graduate teachers, for whom no permanent and very little substitute work can be found.

Chairman: May I ask if that statement is correct, that seven or eight hundred girls are on our list?

Superintendent: Not permanently appointed.

Dr. Lyons: You are not referring to your Teachers College graduates?

Dr. Lyons: Not Teachers College graduates.

Mr. Gray. I will accept any amendment of that nature. The fact is that we have 800 girls on our list; whether they come from Teachers' College or some other college, is not so material. When this matter came up on June 16th, the Superintendent was asked in public meeting about how many—if I am not stating this correctly, will you correct me—about how many girls on an average he could use, and he said 150. Is that correct?

Superintendent. Correct.

Mr. Gray. I then moved that the Board of Superintendents establish a passing mark and report same to the School Committee, and that September admissions be limited to those that reached that standard, in any event, not more than 150. That motion was lost. There was a motion that for this year admissions to Teachers College be limited to not more than 200, subject to meeting of the standards of admission which shall be established by the Board of Superintendents, which motion was carried by a 3 to 2 vote. Following that, the Board met and determined that the passing mark should be 60, so that, as I understand it, in accordance with Dr. Lyons' motion, at the meeting of June 16, 1930, the passing mark should be 60, and any number up to 200 should be admitted who get 60 or above.

Dr. Lyons: Mr. Gray, may I interrupt?

Mr. Gray: I am glad to yield.

Dr. Lyons: I think I might correct that misapprehension. The question was not brought before the Board of Superintendents, but before this Committee. Wasn't it brought before this Committee?

Mr. Gray: I understand it was, and it was reported here to the Committee when the Board of Superintendents approved a passing mark of 60.

Dr. Lyons: I am very glad to vote against it. It should be 50.

Mr. Gray: I don't think there was any objection to the passing mark of 60.

Dr. Lyons: Yes, I was asked to make it unanimous, and I said No, it would depend on how many would be allowed to enter. I made a reservation, depending on how many would be allowed to enter with the pass mark of 60. When I found only 122 instead of 200, I thought it was a drastic cut from 270 to 200—I could not vote for it.

Mr. Gray. We are now asked to lower the passing mark from 60 to 50, that mark having been established by educational authorities. I can only see one result, it naturally lowers the standard of candidates for Teachers College, and at the same time lowers the standards of our teaching force in the future. If for no other reason than that, I would have to vote against it.

Dr. Lyons: Mr. Superintendent, may I ask whether or not you would consider the standards at Teachers' College had been lowered to a dangerous point if they were cut to 50?

Superintendent: Yes, I think 50 is too low.

Dr. Lyons: May I ask the Superintendent if 55 would be a dangerously low mark?

Superintendent: Yes. It would be better than 50.

Chairman: Is there any other comment?

Dr. Lyons: I move a vote. I vote Yes.

Mrs. Pigeon: Mr. Chairman, I am voting No. In connection with this question, I have been subjected to tremendous pressure and in facing this I have given the matter very serious consideration. I feel that we should stand back of the recommendation made by our Superintendent and our Board of Superintendents, in establishing a passing mark of 60. I feel at this time, facing as we do a serious economic situation, with a large number of graduates on the waiting list, that we should continue a passing mark of 60. I vote No.

Mr. Reilly. Mr. Chairman, I realize that no matter how I vote, this order will not pass. Due to the very long list of applicants for teaching positions in our system, I believe we have an excellent opportunity to raise the standard of material accepted as training for teachers. Every accredited college in this vicinity requires a passing mark of 60. Every school I ever attended required a passing mark of 60. The passage of the suggested measure would permit a few who almost qualified to be admitted. I have many friends in this group. The candidates did not take the examination to get 50, but to get as good a mark as they could get. I think 60 is a fair mark, and our Boston girls should attain it. I vote No.

Chairman: Down the dim corridors of time, beyond the age of Pericles, Homer, the blind poet whom seven cities claim, there comes to us a tale of a famous King who was richer than he was intelligent. It was his wont in his misguided thoughtfulness for his subjects, to invite them at specified occasions during the year, to a great feast at the castle. The feast was heralded throughout the kingdom, and the eager peasants would come, expecting a banquet. They would enter the banquet hall, see the tables covered with fine linen, silverware, china service and golden goblets, and sit down expectantly. At a given time the King would come in and take his seat at the head of the table and invite his subjects to eat and quaff of the goodly liquids which he provided, but no servant ever appeared bearing food. The King would go through the motions of eating, using the golden-ware and the silverware, and drinking from the golden goblets. For half an hour he would go through this mummary, and finally, discouraged, the peasants would leave. That has come down to us as the Barmecide Feast, the Barmecide Feast of mythology.

If we have a thousand girls on the list, unappointed graduates of Teachers College, with opportunity to appoint only one hundred girls a year, and admit two hundred annually to The Teachers College, at the end of five years we will have 1500 or 2000 girls. We will surely have invited them to a Barmecide feast, because they go there, not to get an education, but to be trained to teach in the public schools of Boston. What is the use of going there if there is no likelihood of appointment? The reason that there are only 120 admissions is not because of the drastic action of this Committee. Instead of the customary 400 taking the entrance examinations, only 200 applied, because the parents of Boston are coming to realize that the teaching profession is overcrowded, and they are not going to send their daughters to waste four years. Out of those 200, 122 secured a rating of 60 or better. We had to set some mark. If we set the mark at 50, some would only get 49, or 47, and would want to have the mark set at 45. The line must be drawn somewhere.

I see at the table in front of me reporters from three Boston Dailies, each one of which in the editorial department criticized our recent action in establishing residence in Boston as a condition precedent to obtaining a position as teacher, on the only ground on which they could criticize, namely, that it would prevent us from getting the best teachers. I hope the same Metropolitan Dailies will editorially back the Committee in its action which by a 4 to 1 vote raised the standards of admission to The Teachers College, which action cannot but result in our getting better teachers. At the same time I want to congratulate the representatives of another paper which editorially favored the action of this Committee, and say that this Committee is now seeking to get the best teachers for the children of Boston.

I am voting no on Dr. Lyons's motion.

The motion to reduce the mark for admission to The Teachers College failed of passage by the following vote:

YEAS—1. NAYS—4.

PURCHASE OF ATHLETIC UNIFORMS

Mr. Reilly: A few weeks ago, this Committee voted to have the Board of Superintendents and the Business Manager consider the question of purchasing athletic wearing apparel for the schools. They were to report before we closed for the summer. May we expect that report?

Superintendent: The report is in. The Secretary read the following report submitted by the committee to whom the matter had been referred:

"In the meeting of the Board of Superintendents June 19, 1930, there was referred to a committee, consisting of Mr. Campbell, Mr. Downey, and Mr. Snow, with the Business Manager, the request of the School Committee that the Board of Superintendents give further consideration to the question of providing wearing apparel for boys engaged in various athletic sports.

"The committee begs to report that the whole question has been studied again and there seems no other practical solution save that the high schools be authorized to form an athletic association, which will co-operate with the School Committee, to conduct the athletic contests between the high schools.

"Mr. Samuel Silverman, Corporation Counsel, is of the opinion that the head masters forming such an association may, in their private capacity, undertake the work of conducting the games in cooperation with the School Committee, and, in their private capacity, may pay all bills and retain all the income incident to such games or contests."

The report was accepted and referred to the Superintendent with the request that he appoint a committee to consider ways and means of carrying out the above suggestions.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Superintendent of the Department of School Buildings in compliance with the order of your honorable body adopted June 30, 1930.

City of Boston,
Department of School Buildings.
August 1, 1930.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston,
Dear Sir,—With reference to the following order of the City Council:

"Ordered, That the Department of Schoolhouse Construction be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to report to the Boston City Council in detail as to the heating equipment in the Prescott School District, Ward 2."

I attach hereto report of the Heating and Ventilating Division of this department on this matter.

Respectfully yours,
L. K. ROURKE,
Superintendent.

Report for City Council in accordance with their request.

The Prescott School District includes the following schools:

1. Prescott.
2. James A. McDonald.
3. Abram E. Cutter.

Condition of Heating Apparatus.

Prescott School: Classrooms have indirect radiation in the basement, and also direct radiation in classrooms. Steam systems of heating and ventilating throughout.

James A. McDonald School: Modern system, horizontal return tubular boilers, and complete heating and ventilating system.

Abram E. Cutter School: Four-room building. Heated and ventilated by two large furnaces and one hot water heater. One furnace is to be removed this summer, and new furnace installed. This building was on the budget for a new steam system this summer, but inasmuch as the building is to be torn down within two years, it does not appear advisable to expend $3,500 for a new heating plant, a very small portion of which would have salvage value when demolished.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. McGRATH, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred June 30, 1930) for the sale of land in Hyde Park—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted, said order passed, yeas 17, nays 0.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred July 31, 1930) for lease of additional land for airport—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted, said order passed, yeas 17, nays 0.

3. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred February 10, 1930) for sale of land at corner of Chestnut Hill avenue and Commonwealth avenue, recommending the passage of the order in a new draft, as follows:

Ordered, That the Board of Park Commissioners be, and hereby are, authorized, under the provisions of chapter 274 of the Acts of 1899, to sell, at public auction, on such terms as said Board, with the approval of the Mayor, may deem proper, the parcel of land owned by the city at the corner of Chestnut Hill avenue and Commonwealth avenue, containing approximately 66,672 square feet.

The report of the committee was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, this playground is in the extreme end of Ward 21. I do not think there is any gentleman in here that is going to sell a so-called playground which is existing in his district. I have a petition from 500 children in the neighborhood who play in this playground constantly. We have one so-called playground in the district which I have since the first of the year tried to get fixed up so that when it rains they will not need bathing suits to go down there and play in it. I have also tried to have some stringers put in there so that the house will not fall over and the City of Boston have to pay money out to the children in damages. I hope the members of the Council will not pass this order.

Coun. McGRATH—Our committee has had this order before us for over two months. It was sent up by his Honor the Mayor, to sell this land which is out on Commonwealth avenue alongside of the reservoir, at an upset price of $100,000. There was an attorney who represented some people in that location who said that this land had been taken by right of eminent domain, and for that reason it could not be sold. We submitted the matter to the Corporation Counsel and on last Friday when we had our hearing here the Corporation Counsel came down and submitted a six-page opinion, saying that this land came under an old act of the Legislature known as the Reservoir Act, which placed the matter of the price to be accepted within the discretion of the Park Commissioners, and so the redrafted form of order was made out by the Corporation Counsel accordingly.

It appears that this land is not listed as a playground; it is part of the reservoir land. There isn't any question but what people play there, but it is an extremely valuable piece of land, 66,000 feet of land right on Commonwealth avenue, at $100,000. There is so much available land in the section of the ward that the gentleman represents—and I find no fault with his opposing this—that could be bought for a part of this sum that it seems to me that when the city has an opportunity to sell land out on a main thoroughfare for as much money as this, this Council should not stand in the way by opposing this order as submitted by his Honor the Mayor.

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, if they are going to use part of this money for other playgrounds and improvements in the district I have no objection. I put an order in here two weeks ago asking the Park Commissioner to secure a price for a playground up on Chestnut Hill avenue, near Wallingford road, where there is a ledge, and I received a letter stating that it would cost $150,000. There is a tract on Chestnut Hill avenue which can be obtained, and there is another piece of land on Brainerd road, now owned by the city, assessed for $8,000, but they say it is not large enough. There is not another available piece of land in the city that can be obtained today for a playground, and I think when we already have this place existing it should stay there.

The question came on the passage of the order, and the clerk called the roll, with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Arnold, Bush, Cox, Curtis, Donovan, Englert, Fish, Lynch, McGrath, Murray, Power, Ruby—12.

Nays—Coun. Fitzgerald, Gleason, Hein, Kelly—4.

Chairman CURTIS—Twelve votes having been cast in the affirmative and five in the negative, there is not the necessary two-thirds, and the order is rejected.

LIST OF STREETS.

Coun. HEIN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be authorized to prepare and have printed twenty-five hundred copies of a list of streets, according to the new wards and precincts, substantially in the same form as the list printed in 1928; the expense of preparation and printing to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

SIDEWALK ORDERS.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Bowdoin street, east side, from Church street to No. 347, Ward 15, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

Coun. COX offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Belgrade avenue, south side, from Anawan avenue to No. 338, Ward 20, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Belgrade avenue, north side, from Anawan avenue, to No. 345, Ward 20, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Anawan avenue, between Bellevue Station and Allenwood street, both sides, Ward 20, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Severally passed under suspension of the rules.

Coun. GLEASON offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Highland street, from Eliot square to Dorr street, both sides, Ward 9, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

Coun. LYNCH offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works make a sidewalk along Norfolk avenue, from Hampden street, to East Cottage street, Wards 7 and 8, in front of the estates bordering thereon; said sidewalk to be from 3 to 10 inches above the gutter adjoining, to be from 5 to 12 feet in width, and to be built of artificial stone, with granite edgestones, under the provisions of chapter 196 of the Special Acts of 1917.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS ON SUPPLEMENTARY BUDGET.

Coun. WILSON, for the Committee on Appropriations, submitted the following report:

The Supplementary Budget for the City of Boston and County of Suffolk which was referred to your Committee on Appropriations on July 21, 1930, totaled $827,371.11, reductions totaling $363,706.71 having previously been made by his Honor the Mayor out of original department estimates. Of the total amount referred to your committee, $500,000 represents further requirements of the Public Welfare Department; $125,777.39 additional soldiers' relief; $50,000 additional for the official city observance of the Tercentennial and $30,000 is for Water Service, an income producing department. The usual and not extraordinary requirements of other city departments amount to $73,231.09, and of county departments, $48,362.63.

More in detail your committee may well refer to a few items which suggest comment. An item of $5,000 is required for emergency repairs on the new boilers and pulverizing units installed new only last year at the Long Island Hospital at a total cost in excess of $185,000, which, as stated by the present commissioner last April, are highly dangerous and should never have been installed. An item of $1,200 is for an additional trial attorney in the office of the Corporation Counsel.

An item of $2,000 is requested by the Police Commissioner incident to plans which apparently call for early installation of a signal light system on police patrol boxes. The sum of $4,750 represents the cost for the balance of the year of salary increases granted by the Legislature to the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Boston Municipal Court with the recent approval of the act by the City Council. The Superior Criminal Court requires a supplementary appropriation of $20,500 even after reduction of $10,000 made by his Honor the Mayor. One half of the amount is due to the estimated further cost of detective agency services incident to continued efforts by the office of the District Attorney to apprehend one Oliver B. Garrett. Provision for the appropriation of a further $50,000 for Boston's Tercentennial year, making $125,000 in all, is made necessary by the continued discouraging failure of Boston citizens to supplement the city's initial appropriation with donations adequate for a proper celebration of this historical event.

The rapidly mounting, but apparently necessary expenditures, by both the Soldiers' Relief Department and Public Welfare Department, further accentuate the continued acute unemployment situation in our city, and the wisdom of a program of municipal construction work, preferably by day labor, which, as distinguished from contract work, absolutely insures the employment of citizens rather than aliens, and thereby automatically reduces the number of destitute families forced by hopeless unemployment conditions to accept city aid.

With thirty-seven employees and an overhead of $77,000, the Soldiers' Relief Department is this year expending for direct relief to war veterans the sum of $425,000. The Public Welfare Department for the same period, with sixty-three employees in the Central Office and an overhead of only $130,000, is expending $3,125,000, thus making total city aid for the destitute amounting to three and one half million dollars annually.

While your committee has only praise for the excellent services being rendered by both these departments in times of undoubted need and want, yet the suggestion is made that more definite localizing of the districts affected and reports less general in character may well encourage still greater cooperation from churches, associated charities and other organizations throughout the City of Boston. There is no desire by any member of the City Council to disclose or even ascertain the names of such families as now clearly and deservedly receive city aid. Mr. Walter McCarthy, secretary of the Public Welfare Department, appearing before the Committee on Appropriations at its meeting on Friday afternoon, July 25, advised the committee in response to inquiries that the department is taking care of an average of 5,000 destitute families during the year, which he stated means some 7,800 cases in the aggregate. There is no information, however, readily available with reference to the average number of cases by wards or even general districts. Your committee feels that such a survey, which Mr. McCarthy frankly admits can be done without any great hardship in the course of a few days, preferably in the autumn, would be of real assistance in concentrating as it would the assistance of local charitable agencies, awakening some degree of local community pride, and perhaps discouraging or disclosing those undoubted instances of undeserved aid, which even with a competent and conscientious department creep in to the detriment of deserving cases and to the detriment of the taxpayer, on a pay roll of over three million dollars annually. Your committee feels that it would be time well spent to segregate all cases, at least by wards, and preferably by precincts, recording for each such district:

1. The number of families.
2. The number of individuals receiving
 - (a) Temporary aid, or
 - (b) Substantially permanent aid, and
3. The amount.

This record could easily be prepared in the autumn, as of September 1, for example, or as of October 1, and should be available in detail for the City Council, substantially prior to the time of receiving the 1931 budget. And a record for the entire year 1930 might also well be provided. The task should not be a difficult one, where the average number of families being assisted throughout the year as of almost any date, as has been stated, is approximately 5,000, and where, as Mr. McCarthy states, the cases number about 7,800 in the aggregate. Thereafter a practice of listing all cases, or making a reference of all cases by wards, or preferably by precincts, should not incur much more additional office labor than the present custom, for example, of ascertaining in each and every individual case whether outside aid is being received from any recognized charity,—and, in fact, such systematic geographical listing should aid in that respect. In every case, in any event, Boston residence must be determined. In the Election Department all registered voters are annually listed by wards, precincts, streets and dwellings. The Police Department as of April 1 of each year makes a similar police list of all adults, whether registered voters or not. The Assessing Department it would appear each year prepares a list of all parcels of land and buildings, not only by wards, but also by precincts, and even places a money value on each—not to mention the definite assessment and locating of personal property. Obviously the above suggested information requested from the Public Welfare Department should in comparison be most easily ascertained, and as Mr. McCarthy frankly admitted to your committee, would in the autumn be the work of but a few days.

Certainly when relief payments by two city departments now total over three and one-half million dollars annually, and when neither the end nor even a reduction is in sight, your committee submits that the suggestion now made should be and undoubtedly will be received with a spirit of cooperation.

Your committee therefore reports back the Supplementary Budget for 1930 "ought to pass."

Coun. WILSON—The Committee on Appropriations submits its report, and unless a request is made, I will not read the report, which consists of the first four pages in City Document No. 67, other than to call the attention of the Council to the suggestions and remarks concerning the Public Welfare Department, as to which the chairman of the committee will offer an order, after the adoption of the report.

The report was accepted, and the order passed, yeas 19, nays 0.

PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:
Ordered, That the Public Welfare Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be, and said Department hereby is, respectfully requested to advise the City Council before the close of the current year, and as of any date most convenient for the department, and by precincts:

1. The number of families and
2. The number of individuals as of such date receiving
 - (a) Temporary aid, or
 - (b) Substantially permanent aid, and also
3. The amount.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I am glad that the chairman of the committee has introduced this order. For a great many years the amount of dole that is given out by the City of Boston has been increasing, and I do not think there is a member of this Council that wants to fight against the amount of money that is given out to the real worthy families of the city, but it seems to me that if we are going to do the most good for the people that really need help we need to watch the distribution of this money a little more closely than we have been doing up to the present time. We appropriated this year, outside of the salaries of the department, close to $3,000,000, and in this supplementary budget his Honor the Mayor, asks for another $500,000, which brings it up to over $3,000,000 for this year. The men who are most familiar with the giving of aid in our city can appreciate that there are dozens of organizations that are out every day collecting for the so-called worthy families of our city. Recently there was an order issued by the state, stopping certain organizations from collecting for charitable purposes, when it was discovered that most of the money was spent in salaries for the people who were running the organizations. We know that every year, if the money that was collected in the City of Boston actually reached the families that needed it, there would be no real poverty in our city. They tell you that the people living in the lodging house districts who receive aid of $5 a week form a great part of the people receiving aid. We brought in the secretary of the Public Welfare Department at our meeting last week, and he said that there were about six families in the city receiving $30 per week, but that somewhere between $17 and $20 was the average. If you have a thousand families, with an average of four persons to a family, that would be 4,000 people in our city who are receiving the average amount of dole. In other words, if a thousand families in the City of Boston are dependent on our city, and if the average they receive is about $1,000 a year, it only takes $1,000,000. At that time I asked the committee this question. The Assessing Department knows not only the different pieces of property, but every single individual piece of property in every ward of the city. The police make out a list not only of citizens, but of noncitizens in every home and every building in the city. I asked the secretary of this Board: "How is this money divided as to wards?" And for perhaps the hundredth time in fifteen years, I received the same answer: "We have never drawn up the records of the department that way." Now, there is an old stock argument that is used this year, as it has been used for years in the past: Surely the members of the Legislature, or surely the members of the City Council do not want the names of the unfortunate of the city paraded before the entire city. And I assured them that we did not. But why, in the name of Heaven, can't we find, not only by wards, but by precincts, the number of people temporarily or permanently receiving city aid? I want to know in my ward, for more reasons than one, because I believe there are many local agencies that are willing to help, churches and different agencies that will help in the ward. I want to know how many people in my ward and how many people in the precincts of my ward are getting temporary or permanent aid, for this reason, that it is a little harder to have visitors going out and sometimes perhaps finding families that do not really exist. I know, and I feel certain about it—and I know it will be argued strenuously against what I say that it is not so—that $3,000,000 properly distributed in this city this year would relieve every single case of abject poverty. That goes even in a year like this, an extreme year. We figured it out in the room there the other day, and they said $600 was the average for a family. That takes care of nearly 5,000 families of four persons each. That takes care of 20,000 people. That takes care of 1,000 people to a ward. That is on their own figures. When you say, "How about wards?" they say, "No; we take care of the city, the mysterious city." How about wards? How about precincts? How about getting the figures down on whether it is Charlestown, Ward 15, or whether it is the ward of the gentleman who sits in the chair that is getting the most? If there are 250 families in Ward 3, and 250 families in Ward 4, or Ward 5, there are not 250 families in my ward, there are not 250 families in Ward 16 or Ward 17, there are not 250 families in Ward 20 or Ward 21. I know the wards in this city pretty well. There are certain wards that have more families, and it is in those wards that I want the money to go. I have no objection at all, and I know the chairman of the committee has no objection to every single worthy individual and every single worthy family getting all the assistance the city can afford, but if there is one man or one old person in one of the rooming-houses of our city, or in any ward of the city, who is being denied the proper assistance that we are paying for because some family that is not entitled to it is getting it, or some mysterious family which exists in the city but not in a ward or precinct where you can put your finger on it, I want to know it. They ought to be able to say each year that of the 300 odd precincts such a precinct has so many families, and such another precinct has so many, and then the men of this body, who are more intimately connected with the real people of the ward, the gentleman in Roxbury, the gentleman in South Boston, if they saw a precinct where the families needed help, they could say, "Take part of this money and put it here." I don't care how much assistance East Boston, the West End or the South End gets. I want every individual and every family taken care of. But if there is any money being charged up to wards where they have not as many people as the number they claim to be receiving aid, I want to know it. I want these $3,000,000 to fall into the hands of the people who need it, and I am confident that if $3,000,000 is properly spent this year, there will be no starvation or no real abject poverty in the entire twenty-two wards of the city.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, for the reasons set forth in the committee's report, I favor very strongly the excellent point which was originally brought out by Councilor McGrath at the meeting of the Committee on Appropriations, with the one additional thought, that with the Soldiers' Relief money to be included, the amount annually to be expended by the City of Boston supposedly for the poor and the unfortunate amounts to nearer three and a half million than three million, and the committee unanimously favored the point brought out by the councilor from Dorchester.

Chairman CURTIS—Councilor Wilson moves the suspension of the rules and the passage of the order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rules.

FIRE ASSISTANCE IN OTHER CITIES.

Coun. GREEN, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on message of Mayor and ordinance (referred July 21, 1930) providing for assistance by the Fire Department to other cities and towns—that same ought to pass.

Report accepted; said ordinance passed.

ORDINANCE ON UNNECESSARY NOISES.

Coun. GREEN, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted a report on the ordinance, referred June 23, 1930, to prohibit unnecessary noises from radios and other machines,—recommending the passage of the ordinance in a new draft, as follows:

An Ordinance Prohibiting Certain Unnecessary Noises.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. No person owning or having the care, custody or possession of any musical instrument, radio set, phonograph, victrola or other machine or device for producing or reproducing sound shall operate or use or permit to be operated or used such machine or device in such a manner as to disturb the peace and comfort of the neighboring inhabitants, or at any time with louder volume than is necessary for convenient hearing for the person or persons who are in the room or chamber in which such machine or device is operated and who are voluntary listeners thereto. The operation of any such machine or device between the hours of eleven o'clock p. m. and seven o'clock a. m. in such a manner as to be plainly audible at a distance of fifty feet from the building or structure in which it is located shall be a violation of this ordinance prima facie. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit playing by a band or orchestra in a hall, building or in the open air, but this exception shall not apply to a reproduction of such playing by any machine or device, nor shall the provisions of this ordinance apply to radio broadcasting under municipal or other government authority on a public ground, playground or park, or to the use of loud speakers or amplifiers by a daily newspaper in reporting elections or other events of public interest, or to the use of amplifiers at a political or other public meeting or to advertise the same.

Sec. 2. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars for each offence, and not only the person actually doing the prohibited thing but also his employer and every other person concerned in so doing shall be subject to such penalty.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the ordinance.

Chairman CURTIS declared the ordinance passed.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I doubt the vote and call for a roll call.

Chairman CURTIS—The clerk will please call the roll.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Chairman CURTIS—The Chair, hearing no objection, the councilor may proceed.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. Chairman and members of the Council, in view of the heat of the day, and because I felt, due to the outpouring of the citizens interested in this ordinance, that there would be no substantial objection, I had not intended to weary the Council with a resume of what happened at the public hearing. But I feel, because there seems to be now some doubt from unexpected sources, and because I feel the Mayor of the city should have before him, as a matter of record, exactly what occurred, that something should be said in defence of this proposed ordinance. This ordinance is designed to fill the only gap of any importance in our laws regulating noise nuisances in the City of Boston. It was introduced in the interest of the sick, in the interest of the workman who needs his rest, in the interest of mothers trying to put young children to sleep, in the interest of those radio owners who wish to pick their own programs, and in the interest of business men who wish the right to conduct their business without unreasonable interference. There is no desire to stop the playing of radios, but merely to insure the use of radio loud speakers in such a reasonable manner as shall not unreasonably disturb the peace and comfort of others. The wording, I submit, seems fair enough,—shan't be operated "at any time with louder volume than is necessary for convenient hearing for the person or persons who are in the room." Between 11 p. m. and 7 in the morning, the ordinance says, the operation of a radio loud speaker loud enough "to be plainly audible at a distance of 50 feet from the building in which it is located" shall prima facie be considered the unreasonable use referred to. The Committee on Ordinances held two hearings. Who are the proponents and opponents of the proposed ordinance? I believe that those who attended the hearings will agree that public opinion is almost unanimous in favor of the passage of the proposed ordinance. The very substantial support at the public hearing, included Mary H. Tolman, secretary of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, an organization of between 4,000 and 5,000 members, believing, as she stated, that "in general radio owners get as much enjoyment out of their radios if the sound is more or less confined to their own homes."

Also Mrs. Frederick T. Lord, representative of the Women's Municipal League of Boston, an organization of 1,400 members, who stated, "This mix-up of the radio is very hard on the children. It is very hard for them in curtailing their hours of sleep, and very hard on the mothers; besides the nervous strain which noises cause and which are now recognized as more serious than ever before."

Also Alice M. MacIntire, representing the Elizabeth Peabody House on Charles street, an organization of 2,000 members, who commented on the difficulty of getting children to sleep and said, "Late at night loud noises of the radio have been found very objectionable; also in cases of illness."

Also Marian C. Nichols, Secretary of the Beacon Hill Association.

Also Charles A. Newhall, representing the Boston Real Estate Exchange, who stated, "I feel that this bill is one to curtail the power of a few disagreeable or thoughtless individuals, and that the ordinary radio owner does not condone this nuisance in any way. I feel that it would help the sale of radios. It would cut out some of the hate that a great many people have against radios because of such nuisance and noise, and if they could have one of their own and have a program of their own they might be interested, and so as not to be annoyed by other people."

Also former City Councilor Horace Guild, appearing as Secretary of the Back Bay Association.

Also Edward T. Hartman, State Advisor of Housing and Planning, representing the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, who pointed out the advantage of the ordinance in filling the one real gap at present existing in our laws against noise nuisances. Mr. Hartman stated, "The radio people have no more license to oppose a regulation of radio loud speakers than automobile horn manufacturers have to oppose the regulation of the use of horns."

Also numerous individuals, including among others M. C. Ryan, real estate man from Dorchester; Lieutenant of State Police Joseph L. Ferrari, and Mrs. M. J. Lewis of West Roxbury; E. B. Oliver of Riverway, D. G. Keith of St. Germain street, A. McCauley of the South End, and B. T. Goldie, J. F. Lynch and S. P. Kelly of Allston. In addition scores of letters were received, of which these few are typical.

Roxbury, 12 Hampshire Street.

Dear Mr. R. G. Wilson,

Member of Boston City Council.

My wife, Mrs. Mary E. Gardner, is on her death bed and the loud speaker in garage across street keeps going at night until after 12 o'clock with a gang around. She has but a short time to live. This is a sad case. She can not talk from shocks. Read in Daily Boston Post what you are trying to do stopping them. May you do so.

HUSBAND.

10 Radford Lane, Ashmont, Mass.,
June 24, 1930.

Councilor Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr.

Dear Sir,—I want to thank you for your proposed ordinance to limit radio noise to 11 o'clock. I think you will make a lot of friends not only in Dorchester, but throughout the entire city.

Last summer there was one fully 100 feet away that could be distinctly heard on several occasions after twelve o'clock at night, to say nothing of the noise it made during the day.

We enjoy our radio, but we keep it in the house. I certainly hope the other councilors will back you up.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. MARGARET C. BURKE.

15 Royce Road, Allston, Mass.
June 24, 1930.

Councilor Wilson.

Dear Sir,—Having seen by today's paper that you had introduced an order in the City Council to restrict radios so they will not be an annoyance to persons in the neighborhood, I wish to say I think it is one of the most needed bills that could be introduced.

Every day the noise is becoming more unbearable and I wish you every success. I shall ask the councilor from this ward to support your measure. Yours truly,

JOSEPH F. LYNCH.

Leopold Morse Company, Boston, Mass.
City Councilor Robert Wilson, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Dear Mr. Wilson,—In behalf of my company I trust you will be able to pass the proposed ordinance against the operation of loud speakers. Our business, as you know, is on the corner of Washington and Brattle streets and repeated requests on our part to have the many radio dealers on Brattle street discontinue these loud noises during the whole of the working day have not met with very much success. Protests on our part seem to silence them for a day or two, and then they start all over again.

I believe, unless there is some national event of major importance in which the general public are particularly interested, that your ordinance should pass. There might be some exception at certain times of the year when it might be for the interest of all concerned to allow the loud speakers a chance to be heard, but the way they are carrying on at the present time shows an entire disregard of the Golden Rule.

Hoping you will be successful in the regulation you are contemplating, I am,

Very truly yours,
J. C. MORSE,
July 11, 1930. President, LEOPOLD MORSE.

Brighton, Mass., July 7, 1930.

Mr. John F. Baldwin, Clerk of Committees.
Dear Mr. Baldwin,—Having noticed your announcement in today's Boston Post I would like to make a suggestion.

As one who has suffered from radio noises in an apartment to the extent of having to move and the loss of ten pounds from lack of sleep in one month's time. The fifty feet may be all very well for the outside neighbors but it does not help one bit the ones who live upstairs or downstairs from the offending machine.

The rumble and vibration outside of the music is most annoying to a tenant of an apartment house. I do trust you can do something regarding this.

Very truly,
MRS. E. NEUMAN.

Against such substantial public sentiment and the demand for some relief against the most modern noise nuisance, the only real and substantial opposition was on the part of Mr. Frank C. Gorman, a Winthrop resident but Boston attorney, representing the twenty-nine radio jobbers comprising the Radio Wholesalers, Inc., and Mr. C. C. Colby, president of Sampson Electric Company of Canton and chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Wholesale Radio Dealers of Massachusetts. Mr. Colby admitted there was no apparent objection at all to the form of the proposed ordinance so far as the winter months are concerned, and even during the summer months he frankly admitted that only about one half of one per cent of all radio users would in any event prove unreasonable. One of my colleagues, I understand, has suggested that various radio stations themselves request tuning down of radio loud speakers after 10.30 or 11 p. m. The suggestion may have some merit, and only a few will be so unreasonable as not to recognize any mere request. I am inclined to agree with the expert, Mr. Colby, that 99 per cent of our people will comply gladly with any regulation of loud speakers. It is that small per cent of small and unreasonable radio users who make any regulation at all a necessity, and it is that one half of one per cent of Boston residents who would be affected by the adoption of the present ordinance. Certain opponents of the ordinance have already taken it on themselves somewhat boastfully to commit his Honor the Mayor in advance. I know full well that his Honor will continue to do his own thinking and continue to make his own decisions, as has been his custom in the past. I confidently believe that he will recognize the substantial arguments advanced by these splendid civic associations which have shown, with reference to the proposed legislation, such an active public interest,—and obviously without selfish motives. And most especially I feel confident that his Honor the Mayor will recognize the almost unanimous public sentiment in favor of this legislation. I therefore urge adoption of the ordinance as amended. On coming into the Council Chamber there was called to my attention one of several circular letters which were sent out by the attorney for the radio dealers of Boston in their effort apparently to drum up a little real, substantial, logical, if any, objection to the adoption of the proposed ordinance, and I was interested to see how hard up they were when they wrote this paragraph:

"If each member therefore, who is interested and can spare the time, will write to the secretary at once and mention any points which might be used in argument against the ordinance, it would materially help in drafting a sound argument which could be presented to the Council."

"Just send a letter to the writer today stating any reasons you have why the proposed ordinance should be defeated."

And I gathered from the arguments that were advanced before the Committee on Ordinances, either that there was no response to the hectic appeal, or that the arguments which were advanced failed to have an appeal for the attorney who came up here, for he, with decent self-respect, apparently, failed to advance such arguments as he had received. But I repeat, public sentiment in this city is almost unanimously in favor of the adoption of this ordinance. The only objection is from a few radio dealers and a paid attorney living in Winthrop who came up here and said his piece. And I say to the members of this Council that there has been no argument advanced at the public hearing, at which so many of you were present, against the adoption of this ordinance, which has been amended in two respects to take care of the only reasonable objections which were advanced.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

Coun. BUSH—I object.
Chairman CURTIS—The Chair hears objection. The question came on the passage of the ordinance; the clerk called the roll with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Arnold, Bush, Curtis, Donovan, Englert, Fish, Gleason, Green, Hein, Lynch, Mahoney, McGrath, Power, Ruby, Wilson—15.
Nays—Coun. Cox, Fitzgerald, Murray, Norton, 4.

The ordinance was passed.

PROPOSED ACCEPTANCE OF FURNIVAL ROAD.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Furnival road, Ward 19, as a public highway.
Passed under suspension of the rules.

REPAVING WOODMAN STREET.

Coun. ENGLERT offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repave with smooth paving Woodman street, Ward 11.
Passed under suspension of the rules.

RESURFACING WHITNEY STREET.

Coun. POWER offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to resurface Whitney street, Ward 10.
Passed under suspension of the rules.

UNITED STATES CENSUS ENUMERATION OF UNEMPLOYED IN BOSTON.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ascertain for the information of the City Council whether or not the United States census enumerator, in tabulating the unemployed of Boston, refused to count as unemployed those who stated that they had been promised employment.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, perhaps the greatest industrial authority in America, the lady who heads the Industrial Commission of the State of New York, brought to the attention of the American people the fact that the United States census enumerators here in Boston and in New York, in counting the unemployed, refused to count those who said they were promised a job. I don't suppose there is one person in one hundred who is out of work that some one has not promised a job. I would like to quote two lines from her letter, Mrs. Francis Perkins, Industrial Commissioner of the State of New York:

"I have information definitely that the United States census enumerators followed the same procedure in Boston and in other cities. My information is to the effect that all over the United States the enumerators were instructed not to include among the unemployed those who said they were laid off and expected to go back to their jobs in the future. This group, of course, consists, in my opinion, of exactly the group which we want to have counted, those who are out of work because of the business depression, and not through fault of their own."

Therefore, Mr. President, I respectfully suggest that his Honor the Mayor inquire from the United States census enumerator whether it is a fact that in this city those who said they were promised work were not counted in the census of the unemployed.

The order was passed under suspension of the rules.

PROPOSED ACCEPTANCE OF CLEMENT PARK.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:
Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor to lay out and accept Clement park, Ward 17, as a public highway.
Passed under suspension of the rules.

ADDRESS OF MR. WHITING, ACTING CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY, UPON THE OCCASION OF THE BEGINNING OF THE GOVERNOR SQUARE EXTENSION.

Upon the inauguration of the Governor Square subway extension, Mr. Edward Elwell Whiting, as acting chairman of the Board of Trustees, said:

The trustees take great satisfaction in the beginning of this public improvement for the betterment of service and as a factor in helping solve the problem of traffic congestion in Governor square.

It seems to me than an outstanding significance of this occasion is that, besides the specific achievement represented in this improvement, there has been manifested a spirit of agreement and cooperation among the interested parties which is satisfying now and is most encouraging for the future. In this undertaking we have had working together the directors, and stockholders, representing a property interest in the road; the Public Trustees, representing primarily the interest of the car riders in better service; the Transit Commission, which guarantees a workmanlike and efficient construction; and his Honor the Mayor, whose interest is in improving the convenience and welfare of all the people of Boston.

The trustees take particular satisfaction in this improvement. Speaking for the Board, I am sure I may say that we recognize our responsibility to give the maximum of good service that can possibly be given. We try to keep in mind that cold efficiency of operation is not the whole story. We believe that we must so operate the road as not only to show technical efficiency but to meet as far as possible the desires of all the people who ride on our system. When we receive complaints of service, we know that there is an obligation for us to try and overcome any basis for such complaints, and this we do try to accomplish as far as we can.

I want to pay particular tribute to the energy, driving power and vision of his Honor the Mayor in this undertaking. He has shown an accurate understanding of the public needs and by his forcefulness and leadership has made this improvement a fact. We shall go forward on the basis now established of cooperation and we have high hopes for the future.

233 NOW EMPLOYED IN GOVERNOR SQUARE WORK.

Mayor Curley, on August 11, received the following communication from Chairman Thomas F. Sullivan of the Transit Department:

DEAR SIR,—The contract for the use of the premises of the Governor square extension having been executed by the City of Boston and the Boston Elevated Railway Company on June 30, plans for actual construction were entered into the following day, July 1. A temporary yard for construction purposes was laid out in the reservation on Commonwealth avenue at Charlesgate West. Work on this yard was started by fencing in the area to be occupied. This was followed by the construction of a stationary compressor plant, tool house and an engineers' field office.

The actual construction work on the subway extension was started on July 21, when your Honor dug the first shovel-ful of earth at a point just east of the subway portal. Electric derricks, portable compressors and other machinery were installed and two shafts about 15 feet by 40 feet in area were started, and have been carried down to a depth of about 25 feet. Preparations are being made to start two additional shaft.

At the Newbury substation the Boston Elevated Railway Company has continued installing electrical equipment.

On the Traffic Tunnel B. F. Smith Company has substantially completed its contract for borings on land and in the harbor.

Survey work and notes on conditions of buildings have continued in the field during the month.

In the main office work has been in progress on detail plans for the Boylston Street Subway Extension and on the Traffic Tunnel.

Number of employees on July 1, 1930, 131; number of employees on August 1, 1930, 233.

Yours respectfully,

T. F. SULLIVAN, Chairman.

STATE TO SHARE IN SEPTEMBER 17TH MILITARY PARADE.

Mayor Curley, accompanied by General Logan, chief marshal of the parade to be held on the 300th anniversary of the founding of Boston, called on Governor Allen on August 8 and were assured by him of his participation, accompanied by troops of the National Guard, in the parade which will be held upon September 17.

It will be interesting to note that on the previous anniversaries of the founding of Boston the Governor of Massachusetts, with the organized militia of the state, participated in the parades in celebration of the occasion and the participation by the National Guard of the state ensures this year a military representation greater than ever previously in any similar public function of the City of Boston.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement, consisting of the widening and construction of Morton street, Dorchester district, as a highway, from near Gallivan Boulevard to Druid street, bounded and described as follows:

The highway named Morton street is hereby widened, from Gallivan Boulevard to Druid street, and ordered constructed.

For the making of the aforesaid improvement an easement for street purposes is taken in the following described land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Dorchester Real Estate Corporation, bounded:

Northwesterly by Gallivan Boulevard, fifty-five and 58-100 feet; easterly by other land supposed to belong to said Dorchester Real Estate Corporation—twenty-one and 77-100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius; northeasterly by the same by two measurements, one hundred seventy and 88-100 feet and thirty-one and 11-100 feet; southeasterly by land supposed to belong to Hurley-Driscoll Building Company, thirty feet; southwesterly by the northeasterly line of Morton street as said street existed at the time of the passage of this order by two measurements, two hundred twelve and 72-100 feet and thirty-three and 8-100 feet, containing seven thousand and eighty-five square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Hurley-Driscoll Building Company, bounded:

Northwesterly by land hereinbefore described as taken from Dorchester Real Estate Corporation, thirty feet; northeasterly by other land of Hurley-Driscoll Building Company and a part of the way known as Pine Ridge road, by three measurements, three hundred forty-nine and 7-100 feet, fifty-four and 45-100 feet and one hundred thirty-six and 12-100 feet; southeasterly by land supposed to belong to Edward J. and John B. McGovern, forty and 85-100 feet; southwesterly by the northeasterly line of Morton street as said street existed at the time of the passage of this order, by three measurements, one hundred thirty-six and 9-100 feet, fifty-four and 45-100 feet and three hundred twenty-one and 37-100 feet, containing fifteen thousand seven hundred and seventy-three square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Edward J. McGovern and John B. McGovern, bounded:

Northwesterly by land hereinbefore described as taken from Hurley-Driscoll Building Company, forty and 85-100 feet; northeasterly by other land of the said McGovern by two measurements, two hundred sixteen and 23-100 feet and three hundred fifty-three and 66-100 feet; southeasterly by Druid street, forty and 68-100 feet, and southwesterly by the northeasterly line of Morton street as said street existed at the time of the passage of this order, by two measurements, two hundred forty-five and 22-100 feet and three hundred eighty-two and 41-100 feet, containing seventeen thousand nine hundred and sixty-three square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Said Morton street as hereby widened is bounded and described as follows:

Northwesterly by Gallivan Boulevard, fifty-five and 58-100 feet; easterly by the easterly line of said Morton street as hereby widened, twenty-one and 77-100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius; north-easterly by the northeasterly line of said Morton street as hereby widened, by three measurements, one hundred seventy and 88-100 feet, seven hundred eighty-six and 98-100 feet and three hundred fifty-three and 66-100 feet; south-easterly by the westerly line of Druid street as it existed previous to the widening, relocation and extension of Morton street under the order of March 11, 1927, forty and 68-100 feet; again south-easterly by another part of Morton street, fifty feet; southwesterly by the southwesterly line of Morton street, by three measurements, three hundred eighty-four and 51-100 feet, seven hundred ninety-five and 61-100 feet and two hundred sixteen feet; northwesterly by another part of Morton street, fifty feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lots of abutting land on both sides of Morton street as widened under this order, between Druid street and Gallivan Boulevard, will receive benefit or advantage, beyond the general advantage to all real estate in said city, from the improvement herein ordered, each of said lots to the amount hereinafter respectively set against it; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked, "City of Boston, Morton Street, Dorchester, Assessment Plan, December 17, 1926, William J. At a conference held on August 14, at the office of the Mayor, at which were present the Fire Commissioner and representatives of the Fire Department and J. Philip O'Connell, Director of Public Celebrations for the City of Boston, it was unanimously voted to appoint George Y. Berry as chief marshal of the Firemen's Division in the Tercentenary Parade.

Mr. Berry accepted the honor and has agreed to communicate with the volunteer hand tub companies in every city and town in New England and is very confident that he will have no difficulty in having a parade of the old time red shirts not less than two miles in length.

Prizes will be offered to the company turning out the largest number; also the company making the best showing, as well as the company coming the greatest distance.

BOSTON TYPOS TO ENTERTAIN
BOSTON, ENGLAND, LORD
MAYOR AS GUEST.

Mayor Curley, on August 8, received the following communication from J. Arthur Moriarty, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer of the Boston Typographical Union No. 13:

Please accept this as an acknowledgment of your kind and solicitous letter of the 4th instant, relating to the coming visit of His Worship, Lord Mayor Reuben Salter of Boston, England, the week of September 14, 1930, to participate in the Tercentenary Celebration as arranged by the City of Boston.

The members of Boston Typographical Union No. 13 are indeed most anxious to have the opportunity to entertain the noted guest and printer on at least one occasion during his visit to our city and action to that effect was taken at the last meeting of the Union.

Our Executive Committee, which will meet on Wednesday evening, August 13, has been empowered to make the necessary arrangements. Your letter will be placed before the committee at that meeting and you will be notified immediately of its plans.

In response to your kind suggestion that a representative of Boston Typographical Union be chosen to serve upon the reception committee, will state that our President, Leo F. Greene, would be glad to serve on the committee.

Thanking you for your thoughtfulness and solicitation in this matter and wishing you continued success, I am,

Sincerely yours,

J. ARTHUR MORIARTY,
Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.MAYOR CURLEY VETOES LOUD
SPEAKER ORDINANCE.

Mayor Curley, on August 7, returned to the City Council the loud speaker ordinance passed under date of August 4, 1930, with the following message:

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to return, without my approval, the ordinance adopted by your honorable body under date of August 4, 1930, for the following reasons: That the ordinance drafted is most drastic in character; that the penalty it proposes shall be imposed is most excessive, and that the provision with reference to the volume of sound gives too much latitude both to an unfriendly neighbor and to the law enforcing powers.

Further, that the operation of law under the ordinance as proposed would constitute a serious infringement on personal liberty, which, in my opinion, is sufficiently restricted.

I am in agreement with reference to the necessity for the regulation of the operation of phonographs, victrolas or other machines or devices for producing or reproducing sound, operated in connection with any business concern, either as a means of entertainment or for advertising, and am heartily in favor of a regulation which would prohibit operation in such places between the hours set forth in the ordinance.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON, 1630.

Effected by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop in the latter part of August, 1630. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7, (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the new style calendar in 1752 to September 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

DIMENSIONS, ETC., OF BOSTON.

Boston's greatest length, 13.8 miles, i. e., from northern end of East Boston to southern end of Hyde Park; greatest width, 7.75 miles, i. e., from Marine Park shore to western end of Brighton; median transverse width, 5.75 miles, i. e., from Charles river at Harvard Bridge to Neponset river at Blue Hill avenue; width of business center, 1.2 miles, i. e., from Charles river at Cambridge Bridge to Fort Point channel at Summer street. Geographical center of city in Roxbury, corner Walnut and Westminster avenues.

NEW ORLEANS BUILDING THREE NEW INCINERATORS.

Three new incinerators to cost a total of $700,000 are under construction at New Orleans and will add appreciably to that city's sanitation system. This will make a total of five plants where garbage can be readily disposed of. The plants, according to Commissioner of Public Property John Klorer, will be equipped in the most scientific manner with special provision for the prevention of any smoke nuisance.

The incinerators are conveniently distributed about the city, one of the new ones being almost ready for use. The one now nearing completion can handle 170 tons of garbage every 16 hours with no odor escaping, and its stacks are 125 feet high.

COLLECTION OF DELINQUENT TAXES BY MUNICIPALITIES.

The collection of delinquent taxes is often neglected by city officials, resulting in a considerable financial loss to the municipality.

The sale of property for taxes usually takes place from one to three years after the taxes have become due and after the publication of a tax sale notice for from three to six weeks. The property is sold at auction to the highest bidder provided that the bid covers the amount of taxes, all unpaid assessments, interest, fees, penalties, and other charges against the property. If the bid is not sufficient to cover these items, the city bids in the property. Property sold for taxes may be redeemed after a period varying from one to three years upon payment of sum sold for, together with interest computed at the rate of 12 per cent per annum. If the property is not redeemed within the prescribed time the purchaser is given either a deed, an estate in fee simple, or an absolute estate in fee, subject only to the lien of unpaid state and county taxes.

In two cities, White Plains and Yonkers, the tax lien is sold. This has worked out very satisfactorily. In Yonkers the problem of the collection of delinquent taxes has been cleared up:

1. By keeping the assessed valuation down to the real present market value, thereby preventing the accumulation of a large amount of uncollectible taxes.
2. By foreclosure, in one action, of large numbers of lots in one ownership.
3. By assignment of tax liens, at full value, to any one applying for same.
4. By resale, at reduced amounts, of tax liens held by the city.
5. By compromise with owners, reducing the amounts due to a sum that will make it worth while for such owners to pay up the city thereby saving foreclosure costs, and immediately placing such property on a taxpaying basis, and at the same time allowing the owners to get out with some equity. Foreclosure should never be resorted to where an owner shows any disposition to compromise.

BOSTON AREA TO WARD LINES.

Total, 30,598 acres (i. e., 47.81 square miles), 2,944 acres being filled land, 1,143 acres water area and 1,436 acres flats. Land area only, 28,019 acres (i. e., 43.78 square miles). Included in the latter are 160 acres of filled flats recently added to the land area of South Boston and 175 acres to that of East Boston.

Original Boston contained about 780 acres of land. Of the twelve leading American cities, eight are larger in land area than Boston, viz., Los Angeles (441 square miles), New York (318), Chicago (199.4), Philadelphia (129), Baltimore (91.9), Detroit (80), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.25). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 square miles).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and others have expanded, its total area, in case of including the thirty-nine cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would be second to the largest, viz., Los Angeles, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

CHICAGO POLICE ALLOW SPEED ON SAFETY BASIS.

Traffic police in Chicago have been ordered to make a "sane application" of the law on speeding, determining the relation of an automobile's speed to the hazards it may create, according to "Chicago Commerce," published by the Association of Commerce of that city.

Such an interpretation of the law is new to Chicago, but is based on the experience of Michigan police and of those in other states where speed limits have been legally removed in favor of the enforcement of cautious driving.

"The Illinois statute," states Police Commissioner William F. Russell, "makes it illegal to drive at a speed greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to the traffic and the use of the way, or so as to endanger the life or limb or injure the property of any person."

"The following types of fast driving are particularly dangerous and must be stopped:

"Cutting in and out of traffic at excessive speed.

"Excessive speed while approaching or passing pedestrians in the street.

"Excessive speed while approaching an intersection where the view of the other street is obstructed.

"Driving at high speed on a boulevard or through street in such a manner as to prevent other drivers from entering or crossing the same after they have made the legal stop.

"Driving at excessive speed while turning a corner where pedestrians are crossing.

"Driving at excessive speed at any time where an accident results, causing injury to any person or property."

AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES.

Automobile fatalities for the months of January and February of this year, as compared with last year, decreased considerably in the cities and increased considerably in the towns and country, as indicated by the Nation-wide reports received by the National Safety Council.

These reports show that the cities had six per cent fewer automobile deaths this year than last year; 61 of the 90 cities that reported showed declines, or no changes at all, as compared with a year ago. But the state-wide reports received during the same period showed an increase of 11 per cent in fatal automobile accidents. In the total, there were an estimated 4,240 motor vehicle deaths during January and February of this year, as compared with 4,220 such fatalities during the same two months of last year.

CHICAGO TRAFFIC POLICE IN YEAR-LONG DRIVE.

Chicago traffic experts have promised a 50 per cent decrease in deaths from motor-car accidents, as a result of a week-by-week drive now in operation by Commissioner Russell of the Police Department to enforce the city traffic code. The drive, an outgrowth of the National Safety Congress and Chicago Safety Week recently held in Chicago, is expected to prove a valuable educational feature for drivers, pedestrians and policemen.

PROPERTY OWNERS ON ROUTE OF EAST BOSTON TUNNEL ACCEPT MAYOR'S TAKINGS.

At a conference held at the office of the Mayor on August 11 the chairman of the Transit Commission reported that owners of property representing 60 per cent of the total value of properties to be taken upon the Boston approach to the tunnel had agreed to accept 10 per cent in excess of assessed valuation.

The acceptances represent $1,747,540 off a total estimate for the Boston approach to the tunnel of $3,200,000 and the spirit of cooperation manifested by these owners is most gratifying and lends assurance to the belief that within the thirty days allotted the remaining owners will accept of the tender made in behalf of the city.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for authority to rough grade in Iroquois street, Roxbury, from Darling street to Sachem street, with division forces, without advertising, the estimated cost for labor and material being $1,000.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for authority to resurface with asphalt macadam McBride street, West Roxbury, from South street to Call street, with division forces, without advertising, the estimated cost for labor and material being $3,200.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz., 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

RECREATION, ADEQUATE AS TO KIND AND AVAILABILITY.

Although the ratio of park acreage to population has been used as the simplest measure of the extent to which cities provide areas for the recreation of their people, it is by no means an accurate basis for determining this. If most of the total acreage is in one large park, if the parks are poorly distributed, or if they do not provide various types of recreation facilities, the park system may be inefficient even though the acreage is large. The efficiently planned park and recreation system will involve balanced relationship and well-distributed location of several types of properties, namely, children's playgrounds, neighborhood playfield parks, neighborhood parks, reservations, boulevards, and parkways.

(Bureau of Labor Statistics, Publication No. 462.)

SITUATION OF BOSTON.

Boston is situated in latitude, north, 42 degrees, 21 minutes, 29.596 seconds, longitude, west, 71 degrees, 3 minutes, 51.040 seconds (exact situation of apex of State House dome, according to United States Coast and Geodetic Survey). Boston's latitude is similar to that of Detroit and the southern boundary of Oregon, also Rome (Italy), Sofia (Bulgaria) and Mukden (Manchuria); longitude nearly that of Quebec (Canada), Bogota (Colombia) and Santiago (Chile).

STIMULATING WISE MUNICIPAL CONSTRUCTION.

The American people are initiating one of the most important governmental experiments ever tried on any considerable scale. For many years there have been suggestions that public projects could be made to constitute an important element of stabilization in times of economic depression. At the instance of President Hoover the states and cities of the country are about to cooperate with the Federal Government to prevent the stock market depression from spreading into business generally.

"BUYING CAMPAIGN" URGED UPON NEW ENGLAND TO BREAK DOWN PRESENT INDUSTRIAL DEPRESSION — MAYOR CURLEY, IN RADIO ADDRESS, ASKS CITIZENS TO CAST ASIDE FEELING OF FEAR AND RENEW FAITH IN COUNTRY'S ABILITY TO RECOVER BUSINESS EQUILIBRIUM — BIG BUSINESS SHOULD SHARE BURDEN.

In his address over the radio at 11 p. m., on August 27, WNAC and New England network, under the auspices of New England Trade Week, Mayor Curley said in part as follows:

The assertion is frequently made that conditions are not ripe for a business revival and everywhere one turns the voice of the croaker is heard, until one gets the impression that there is something fundamentally wrong with America. We overlook the part that psychology plays in the present case, aided and abetted by the unfortunate army of women and men who lost their savings either in the November crash or in one of the sinking spells that have since taken place in the stock market.

The all-important fact is overlooked that America has weathered every storm, including seven wars, among which was the greatest internecine struggle in history, and that the present picture is rapidly changing but would change at once if everyone would take a more hopeful outlook as to the future.

The present situation does not differ materially from ones that have preceded it, and our chief concern at present should be to adopt such measures as will prevent a recurrence.

The finances of the nation have never been upon a sounder basis and banks have never been so plentifully supplied with funds and money has never been available at such a low interest rate for legitimate business needs. While it is true that there is a surplus of raw material it is equally true that every concern in America has been doing business for eight months upon less than a month's supply of goods on hand. A buying wave tomorrow would mean depleted stocks of goods in every retail establishment and the starting up of mills and factories throughout the land with work and wages for everyone.

Workers Bearing All Burden.

The financial report for the six months period of 1930 as contrasted with 1929 is of interest since it discloses that 702 firms made no change in dividends while but 25 omitted dividends and 24 decreased dividends. These figures disclose the secret of a large measure of present day depression, namely: the entire burden was placed squarely upon the weak shoulders of the workers instead of being borne equally by industry and the workers.

Dividends were maintained in many cases by retrenchment through the discharge of employees, unmindful of the all-important fact that for every man discharged a thousand prospective customers, in the person of fellow employees, are stampeded, through fear that they will be next, into restricting their own expenditures, thereby reducing their purchasing power to the minimum.

In a period like the present there is no way to justify payments of prevailing dividends, as this money should be utilized to maintain the purchasing power of the workers rather than to destroy it. Capital has failed to assume its share of the burden and in so doing has worked injury to all. Stress has been laid upon the loss of European trade owing to the recently enacted tariff act, notwithstanding the fact that every student of trade realizes that such an enactment is necessary for the protection of American workers, as Europe is rapidly becoming a closed book, so far as the United States of America is concerned, for other than raw materials.

Contrary to general belief imports and exports, outside of raw materials, do not mean much to America, since in 1927 and 1928, the two most prosperous years in the history of America, they practically balanced, being in each case slightly less than five billions, while the total value of goods produced, fabricated or derived from the earth, and paid for by Americans, was $87,000,000,000 in 1927 and $90,000,000,000 in 1928.

Mass Production Universal Now.

We must not be unmindful of the fact that American mass production is no longer an American institution, due to the invasion of foreign markets by American concerns, which today number nearly 1,700 branches in Europe.

Patriotism has not been the handmaiden of the American dollar in the case of these American foreign branches where child, prison and pauper labor at starvation wages have been set in competition with American workers.

The conferences arranged by President Hoover for the promotion of a construction program have been prolific of promise but rather sterile in the matter of performance, with the exception of the political subdivisions of the nation which have eagerly seized upon the opportunity presented to conduct major programs that have long been regarded as necessary, but which in the past, due to lack of public support, have been impossible of fulfillment. The federal government itself has been one of the chief offenders. The actual expenditure for building construction under federal auspices from January 1 to July 1 of the current year were but twenty-one million dollars. Congress authorized an expenditure of $520,000,000 under the public building program and the public assumed,

PAYS TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR FOR CONTRIBUTION OF SUCCESS TO SECURING OF SAVING WAGE FOR WORKERS—MAYOR CURLEY ADDRESSES CONVENTION OF PHOTO ENGRAVERS AT HOTEL STATLER.

At banquet of International Convention of Photo Engravers, Hotel Statler, Boston, Thursday, August 21, Mayor Curley spoke as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster, Honored Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen.

It is a very great privilege to break a custom that has been in operation for the last six months to attend this banquet tonight. I am attending for two particular reasons; one, the privilege and the opportunity of paying a tribute to the man who, in all probability, is more responsible than any other individual for the success of this organization and his contribution to the general welfare both of the employer and the employee in America, Matthew Woll.

To be permitted in addition to pay a tribute to one of the individuals who has witnessed a daily newspaper grow from a limited circulation to one of the most powerful institutions of its kind, not only in New England but in America and differing materially from most large industries in that, despite its growth, despite the increase in the number of persons employed to turn out that newspaper, there is still the intimate, common, lovely, neighborly touch that is always in evidence when one of the Taylors of the Boston Globe is present.

It is an exceeding pleasure, after the grind of a day in the present hour in the life of America, when one is confronted with statistics day after day, disclosing depression in industry, even though hope hovers in the distance and the prospect of the end of that industrial depression is happily in sight, to come into a gathering of this character composed of women and men who are enjoying in the life of America the salvation of every individual in America, the saving wage.

No institution in the life of America is more important to the continued existence of the nation, or more necessary for the promotion of happiness in the home, than the saving wage and to no single agency in America may credit be traced for this contribution to the common good more than to the American Federation of Labor.

It is a very great privilege in Boston this year to entertain many notable gatherings; some 550 conventions are scheduled to assemble within the city during the present year and among these conventions perhaps the most important are in session at the present time, the International Convention of the Photo Engravers and the Knights of Columbus.

A little later the hosts of the American Legion will assemble here from every portion of the world, blessed by the guardianship of the best flag ever known in the world's history, the Star-Spangled Banner.

APPRECIATION OF AMERICAN LEGION.

We have a profound appreciation of what the American Legion means in the life of the world. We have an appreciation of the fact that the American Legion in the recent World War made possible the continuance of that government that came into existence through the courage and determination, the faith and the vision of Washington and his followers; that government that was preserved in the life of the nation after four long weary years without the loss of a state in the Union or a star in the flag under the God-given leadership of Abraham Lincoln, and that was perpetuated in our day by Woodrow Wilson; that nation whose government was preserved through the loyalty, valor and determination, not of the trained killer of men, but the citizen soldiery of the United States of America.

So we are going to greet the Legion in October and we are going to greet another great body of men during the coming month, an organization whose real rise may be traced, as substantially every great movement for the emancipation of the individual man and for the progress of mankind in America may be traced, to Boston, for after all, one of Boston's proudest traditions is not only that we boast the Cradle of Liberty, dear old Faneuil Hall, not only do we boast the Boston Common, the Old North Church, Bunker Hill or the scene of the Boston Massacre, but we boast the great leader of the hosts of labor, through whose vision and effort a brighter outlook was possible, not only for America but for the world, that great leader of the hosts of labor, Samuel Gompers.

I read in the New York paper this morning about an innovation in New York; it is not an innovation in Boston, it is an old institution. The establishment of an employment bureau opened on Monday in New York and the first day a man was crushed to death among the two thousand gathered to enroll in order to secure employment. Yesterday it was necessary to call out the police reserves; ten thousand persons seeking to secure work in the richest city of the richest nation in the whole world.

UNHEEDING LEADERS IGNORE UNEMPLOYMENT.

What is true in New York is equally true in substantially every section of the country. Perhaps there is less unemployment at the present hour than there has been at any time during the past six months and yet we find leaders of thought in the nation, the educators, the men in the pulpit, the leaders in industrial life standing idly by and paying no attention to this important question.

On the journey of Marie Antoinette from Paris to Versailles, when she found them crying for bread, she said, "What are they asking for, bread?" Someone said, "Yes, they want bread." She said, "Pay no attention to them, there is no bread; why don't they eat cake?" A few days afterward her head was removed from her body.

It is the most serious problem confronting America today and the only agency apparently that is giving serious consideration to the solution of this problem is the agency that is represented intelligently, ably and well by one of the vice presidents of the organization that stands for progress and prosperity—the American Federation of Labor and one of its leaders seated at the head table here—Matthew Woll.

And so with our own little problems—they are small but considerable. In 1925 the last time I held the office of Mayor, we spent in our Charity Department, $1,125,000. This year we will pay out in the vicinity of four to five millions of dollars. We have not an old age pension but we have men forty-five years of age and over, not sixty-five, forty-five years of age, calling daily at the Charity Department and drawing down sufficient money to keep from starvation and to prevent them from committing crime in order to provide for their families.

We have five thousand families to whom we pay $20 a week on an average. We have a thousand more families under the Mothers' Aid Act to whom we pay $25 a week, and one thousand service men to whom we pay $50 a month approximately, a total approximating in the vicinity of four to five millions of dollars in one city in America, and we are the richest country in the whole world.

OTHER PROBLEMS SOLVED.

We have solved more problems in a century and a half than have been solved by all the other countries in the whole world that have preceded that century and a half.

We have solved the problem of the right of the individual to liberty and equality of opportunity. We have solved the problem of chattel slavery that had been in existence for centuries and when the bonds were stricken from the slave in America they disappeared from the black man the entire world over.

We solved the problem of perpetuating free government through the participation of six million American boys during the period of the World War. You, in your organization, have solved the problem of providing opportunities where the opportunity has been removed for the individual.

Through the development of the steam shovel, the endless belt and link chain system, opportunity for employment has been taken from one million laborers in less than ten years. Automatic machinery has taken away opportunity for livelihood from half a million in addition.

It is all right to worship the machine but the boast of New England colonial government—and we are celebrating this year the founding of New England, of the Massachusetts Bay Colony—the basis of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony was, first, the man; second, the home; third, the town, and fourth, the Commonwealth, but the basis of all was the man.

Unless the individual can, in the richest country in the world, find opportunity for a livelihood, with sufficient return for his labor to live in decency and comfort, with an occasional luxury for his family then the future is indeed bleak.

COOPERATION NEEDED.

This is the most important problem confronting America today. It is a great joy to come before an organization that has been able to retain that measure of good will and common understanding between employer and employee that makes it possible to sit at the same table, as you are sitting tonight, to break bread, and the employer still contributing to the welfare, comfort and happiness, and well-being of the employee. It is an appreciation and realization of the most important and necessary thing in American life.

Cooperation—that is what we need, an understanding of our dependence, one upon the other.

Your organization sets an example to America. Your organization, a leader in the movement for wider opportunity for the individual worker—a five-day week, saving wage, shorter working hour and a yearly salary.

It has been a pleasure to come here and wish your organization the most happy convention that it has ever been your privilege to enjoy and to wish for the members of the organization, and the organization itself, continued prosperity, and every blessing that a just God can confer on worthy and worth-while men and women.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

M. Solimando has been allowed an extension of time for completion of contract for erection and completion of film storage building at the Boston City Hospital from July 25, 1930, to August 31, 1930.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

N. Sannella & Son have been granted an extension of the date of completion of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Holworthy and Waumbek streets, Roxbury, from August 23, 1930, to September 6, 1930, fourteen days.

T. J. O'Connell has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for building Savin Hill bay sewerage works, section 3, from point about 320 feet northeast of existing culvert under New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad, about 2,070 feet northerly and easterly in Savin Hill Play-ground and land of Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Dorchester, dated November 19, 1929, from August 15, 1930, to October 1, 1930. This extension is in addition to a previous one, making a total of 121 days, and is occasioned by the fact that the nature of the excavation was such that longer piles were required and difficulty was encountered in maintaining the timbering of the trench, requiring a longer time than was anticipated.

Louis Balboni has been granted an extension of the date of completion of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Monument court and outlet in alley, Wallace street, and Bunker Hill street, Charlestown; Gladstone street and Maverick street, East Boston, from August 16, 1930, to September 16, 1930, thirty days.

James J. Conway has been granted an extension of the date of completion of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Baker street, Lasell street, Temple street, Temple terrace and Glenham street, West Roxbury, from August 16, 1930, to August 23, 1930.

The Pierce Company, Incorporated, have been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for cleaning sewers in Atlantic avenue and Commercial street, city proper, dated July 1, 1930, from August 30, 1930, to October 18, 1930, forty-nine days.

James J. Conway has been granted an extension of the date of completion of the contract for the building of sewerage works in Winship street, Brighton, from August 16, 1930, to November 1, 1930.

"BUYING CAMPAIGN."

that to meet the existing emergency and industrial depression, that the entire amount would be allocated and provision made for its expenditure during the year 1930. As a matter of fact, the $520,000,000 allowed under the public building program represents a ten-year building program rather than a one-year program. So that the actual benefit to industry will be negligible. The Mississippi river project contemplates ultimately an expenditure in excess of $2,000,000,000, but the actual expenditures to the present time have been considerably less than $200,000,000. Had the federal government set the example and met the present situation as it should be met by making provision for the entire building program, representing a total of $520,000,000 during the year 1930, opportunities, not only for employment of labor, but for the purchase of vast quantities of the material produced by the basic industries, namely, steel, lumber and cement, would have aided materially in minimizing the effect of present industrial depression.

FEDERAL EXPENDITURES WOULD AID.

What is true in the case of the public building program is equally true in the case of the Mississippi river project. The expenditure by the federal government during the year 1930 of $1,000,000,000 would not only aid labor but would render it unnecessary for the railroads and the steel mills and other like industries to dispense with the services of countless thousands of workers who have been added to the already swollen army of the unemployed. This has not been the policy adopted, so far as the City of Boston is concerned.

Anticipating the seriousness of the situation application was made to the state Legislature in January for authority to expend a sum of $23,000,000 greater than had ever previously been expended for public improvements in the history of the city. Hearings were given by the Legislature but, unfortunately for the unemployed, favorable action was not taken in the matter of authorization until almost the close of the legislative session in May. Work is now progressing upon some of these public improvements. Others may be said to be in the blueprint stages which could be in the construction stage had the Legislature given early assent to the authorizations desired by the municipality.

The following sums have been allotted:

Schoolhouse construction.....	$7,500,000
Street construction.....	7,000,000
Commonwealth avenue sub- way extension.....	3,100,000
Tunnel to East Boston.....	16,000,000

With a view to providing employment for service men who, in the hour of the nation's trial rallied to the call of country, Boston is at present constructing, upon a day-labor basis, the $3,100,000 Commonwealth avenue subway extension and is doing the work on a two-shift system, thereby making possible the employment of twice as many men as have ever previously been employed upon a similar construction job.

The indications are that America has turned the corner. Relief is being provided for the farming element of the nation and the prices of farm commodities have shown some increase so that there is a reasonable certainty that this great element, representing one in every four of the population of America, may enjoy some small measure of prosperity.

One of the outstanding economists of America, Col. Leonard P. Ayers, of Cleveland, states that the depression of 1929 to 1930 was a world depression and consequently lasted longer than the purely national depression of 1924 to 1927. He further states that in the first five months of the present year we produced only about the same as we did in the first five months of 1925. Yet our living standards have advanced and the population has increased 7,000,000 during that period of time. Factories and merchants have been getting rid of their surplus and families getting rid of their debts. Meanwhile, we have not been producing on as large a scale. We are manufacturing shortages and with production lowered to the rate of five years ago and consumption higher, it can readily be seen that we cannot have much further to go to produce the shortage that will send us all back to work again.

SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY GROWS.

The shipbuilding industry has already, under the provision of the Jones-White Act, started upon a period of prosperity with a program contemplating sixty-eight new or reconditioned ships, aggregating 700,000 gross tons, at a total cost of $275,000,000.

The food companies and the utility companies are showing marked improvement and there is every indication that the coming winter, which millions in America have regarded with fear, may prove one of the most prosperous ever known in peace times.

The deposits in mutual savings banks, which control more than thirty per cent of all the savings in the United States, showed gains of two hundred and seventy-three million dollars for the six months up to June 30 of this year, in contrast to a loss of $82,000,000 in the last half of 1929.

The total resources of 7,250 national banks to June 30 of this year, aggregated $29,000,000,000, an increase since March 27, or but three months, of $1,768,000,000.

Every thoughtful citizen recognizes his duty in a situation like the present and it should be only necessary to direct the attention of the individual to their duty in order to have a performance of this duty.

The most pleasing feature in connection with the depression which has obtained during the past year is the fact that the industrial leaders of America have stood firm for the maintenance of the saving wage and have refused to cut the same, recognizing that the best buyer's market in the whole world is an American citizen enjoying permanency in employment at good wages, or, in other words, being permitted to share in the values that are created by the labor of his or her hand and brain.

EVERYONE CAN AID.

Each one of us can do something in the present emergency even if it be but to paint one's home, add to the household possessions, improve the plumbing or heating facilities, or plant the ground, all of which not only contributes to the aesthetic value but to the utilitarian and more than all else to the health of the household.

Faith was the basis for the establishment of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and without an abiding faith the Revolutionary War would have been unsuccessful. We need faith at the present hour. Faith in God, faith in our common country, faith in our fellowmen, but more than all else, faith in ourselves. Saint Paul said: "Faith without good works is of no avail." Let the good work be represented by every individual purchasing at once, so far as his or her means will permit, not only the things that are necessary, but those things, the purchase of which might be delayed for a period of time.

If this is done by all an impetus will be given that will be reflected in every artery of industry which will make necessary the immediate employment of the nearly 3,000,000 of persons who are today without opportunity for a livelihood because of an industrial depression which today obtains largely as a consequence of fear. The area of the United States has not diminished during the past year but the wealth of the nation has increased. The population of the nation has increased and the health of the people has been improved.

The future is in our own keeping. Let each one do his duty and the clouds of fear that have hung heavily over our fair land will be dissipated by God's sunlight of prosperity and the promise of an abundant future.

MAYOR SENDS BEST WISHES TO G. A. R. VETERANS.

Mayor Curley telegraphed his best wishes to National Commander-in-Chief, Edwin J. Foster of Worcester, Grand Army of the Republic Encampment at Cincinnati, Ohio, on August 25.

The Encampment is the sixty-fourth annual assembly of the veterans and for whom Mayor Curley has a very deep regard.

"Upon the Assembly of the Comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic in National Encampment I pray you will extend them my affectionate salutation and greeting. The Grand Army of the Republic comprises members of a militant army and navy who saved our nation from dissolution, established the principles of human freedom for all men within our country's borders and for sixty-five years has presented the greatest appeal for American patriotism known in the history of our land. May God bless you, one and all."

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz., 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

LAND TAKING IN BRIGHTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of an extension of Hunnewell avenue, Brighton district, as a highway, from Matchett street to Atkins street, bounded and described as follows:

An extension of the highway named Hunnewell avenue is hereby laid out, from Matchett street to Atkins street, and ordered constructed.

For the making of the aforesaid improvement an easement for street purposes is hereby taken in the following described lands, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Wallis W. Webber, bounded:

Northwesterly by Matchett street, forty-one and 86-100 feet; northeasterly by other land supposed to belong to said Webber, by two measurements, eighty-seven and 39-100 feet and forty-five and 64-100 feet on a curve of six hundred and eighty feet radius; southeasterly by land hereinafter described as taken from owners unknown (Hunnewell avenue), forty and 95-100 feet; and southwesterly by other land supposed to belong to said Webber, by two measurements, fifty-seven and 34-100 feet on a curve of seven hundred and twenty feet radius and seventy-five and 6-100 feet, containing fifty-three hundred and nine square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, owners unknown, being part of the private way known as Hunnewell avenue, leading northwesterly from Atkins street for a distance of approximately one hundred and nineteen feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforescribed land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said lands for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Said highway as hereby laid out is bounded:

Northwesterly by Matchett street, forty-one and 86-100 feet; northeasterly by the northeasterly line of said extension of said Hunnewell avenue as hereby laid out, by two measurements, eighty-seven and 39-100 feet and one hundred sixty-four and 51-100 feet on a curve of six hundred and eighty feet radius; southeasterly by Atkins street, forty and 4-100 feet; and southwesterly by the southwesterly line of said extension of said Hunnewell avenue as hereby laid out, by two measurements, one hundred seventy-six and 2-100 feet on a curve of seven hundred and twenty feet radius and seventy-five and 6-100 feet.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on both sides of said extension of Hunnewell avenue as laid out under this order, from Matchett street to Atkins street, will receive benefit or advantage, beyond the general advantage to all real estate in said city, from the improvement herein ordered; each of said lots to the amount hereinafter respectively set against it; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Hunnewell Avenue, Brighton, Assessment Plan, July 2, 1930, William J. Sullivan, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

MAYOR CURLEY TAKES EXCEPTIONS TO GERARD'S LIST OF U. S. RULERS.

His Honor the Mayor, on August 21, issued the following statement:

I find it extremely difficult to believe there is any basis for the statement made by James W. Gerard that fifty-nine men whose names he has made public rule the United States. It is unquestionably true that the group as named represent in large measure a considerable portion of the wealth of the United States. I nevertheless incline to the opinion that the people rule. In the event, however, that the statement of Mr. Gerard is correct, it simplifies the proposition of solving economic problems that threaten the serenity and security of the American home and American Government, and I have accordingly directed my secretary to forward a copy of my booklet entitled, "The Vanishing Job" to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who is named as the principal ruler of America, supplemented by a request that he call a conference of the other rulers as named and give consideration to the solving of the unemployment problem.

In the event that Mr. Rockefeller's group fails to settle this question, notwithstanding the fact that as Mr. Gerard says they rule America, there is a serious possibility that the real rulers of America may settle it—the people.

Mayor Curley, following his comment, sent the following communication to Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., New York City:

DEAR MR. ROCKEFELLER:

The Boston Globe publishes a statement this day in which James W. Gerard, formerly Ambassador to Germany, is credited with saying that fifty-nine men, headed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., rule America.

I have no means of determining the truth or falsity of the statement. Nevertheless, as an American citizen interested in our common country, I am taking the liberty of forwarding you a booklet entitled, "The Vanishing Job," which discusses in a small way conditions in so far as they affect the worker in America. Personally, I know of no problem of equal importance confronting America at the present time than the problem of unemployment and I beg to suggest that in the event that Mr. Gerard's statement is true that you arrange an early conference with your fellow rulers and give serious consideration to the question of solving this all-important problem.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR CURLEY EXPLAINS POLICY IN EAST BOSTON TUNNEL TAKINGS.

Mayor Curley, on August 19, made the following statement:

The question has been raised in connection with payment of damages for land-takings for the East Boston Traffic Tunnel as to the wisdom of the new policy of insisting on a settlement upon a basis of 10 per cent above assessed valuation. This policy was made necessary as a measure of protection to the taxpayers and so long as I continue in office it will continue in force.

Recent payments made as a consequence of jury trials represent an amount above the original awards made by the Street Commission and Transit Commission of approximately 75 per cent.

In actual cash the original awards made by the Street Commission and the Transit Commission were $1,228,429.50, and the amounts awarded by the juries represented $2,139,862.16, or an excess in cash of $911,432.66.

I am not concerned as to the ownership of any property taken by the city. I am not concerned as to the profits that any individual may make on a transaction. My sole concern is to protect the city from the disgraceful character of raids that have been permitted in recent years.

I am informed by the Transit Commission that it will be unnecessary to raze the properties taken on the Boston side for a period of two years, and if such is the case, the properties already having been taken, the rentals during the two-year period should be more than sufficient to offset the 10 per cent in excess.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

B. E. Grant Company has been directed to perform the following extra work under the contract for laying bitulithic pavement in Boylston street, St. James avenue, Tremont street and Washington street, dated July 1, 1930. Items ordered: Furnish Velo cement for grouting granite block paving in Washington street, at Beach street approach. Price to be paid: For each square yard the sum of 35 cents. Estimated cost of extra work, $50.

Charles Struzziery has been directed to perform the following extra work under the contract for laying bitulithic pavement in Eustis street, Dearborn street, Perry street and Kearsarge avenue and artificial stone sidewalks in Eustis street, from Washington street to Harrison avenue, dated July 14, 1930. Items ordered: Furnish gravel filling where directed in Eustis street. Price to be paid: The sum of $2 for each cubic yard of filling furnished. Estimated cost of extra work, $200.

T. J. O'Connell has been directed to perform the following extra work under the contract for Savin Hill Bay Sewerage Works, Section 3, from point 320+ feet northeast of existing culvert under New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, 2,070+ feet northerly and easterly in Savin Hill Playground and land of Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Dorchester, November 19, 1929. Items ordered: Pump water from existing concrete sewer at easterly end of this job built since this contract was awarded; remove therefrom existing brick bulkhead, and make connection between the new work and the existing concrete sewer aforementioned for the lump sum of $100. Although this is in addition to the work contemplated in the original contract, it is incidental thereto. Estimated cost of extra work, $100.

MAYOR OF BOSTON, ENGLAND, PREPARES FOR A VISIT HERE.

Mayor Curley, on August 25, received the following communication from His Worship Reuben Salter, Mayor of Boston, England:

MY DEAR LORD MAYOR,—The members of the Corporation and others who will accompany me on the 6th proximo by the S.S. "Ascania" from Southampton will be:

The Deputy Mayor, Councilor Arthur Bailey, Chairman of Health Commission; Mrs. Arthur Bailey, Deputy Mayoress; Councilor James Tait, ex-Mayor, chairman of the Dock Committee and chairman of the Church Restoration Committee; Mrs. James Tait, ex-Mayoress; Councilor Jabez Holland Mountain.

My own titles are: The Mayor of Boston, Chief Magistrate, Admiral of the Port, Justice of the Peace, and Chairman of the Water Committee.

Councilor Tait is one of the most active and capable members of the Corporation, and a large timber merchant in the town. Councilor Bailey belongs to an old Boston family, and is a well known chemist in the town. Councilor Mountain is a cattle dealer, butcher, farmer and miller, one of the best known men in South Lincolnshire, and one of the most successful. All four of the deputation are among the most active in the public life of Old Boston, and may all be described as successful business men. Messrs. Tait, Mountain and Salter are also members of the Holland County Council.

The liner will sail to Montreal, and we shall come straight on to Boston. I had booked by the S.S. "Laconia" but there was not room for the others, and so we have decided that all shall travel together.

May I say how delighted we were to have your three sons visit us on the 9th instant? What nice boys they are, too, and I believe they enjoyed their look round the old town.

It is exceedingly generous of Mrs. R. F. Herrick to make her offer, and I appreciate it very much, but I am afraid that the Mayoress will not be able to come with me. I shall be as much disappointed as you will be at her decision, but I have to admit, on reasons of her health alone, that she is justified in what she is doing.

With kind regards,

Yours very sincerely,

REUBEN SALTER, Mayor.

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE UNABLE TO VISIT BOSTON FOR ANNI- VERSARY.

Mayor Curley, on August 17, received the following communication:

DEPARTMENT OF THE PRESIDENT,
IRISH FREE STATE,
August 18, 1930.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I am in receipt of your very kind letter and am exceedingly grateful for your invitation to participate in the events of "Boston Week," and for your thoughtful offer of hospitality. I regret very much that I shall not be able to attend the celebration of Boston Tercentenary. I need not say how much the City of Boston appeals to our people—so many of their kith and kin enjoying the rights of citizenship in that wonderful metropolis.

This year we have extra duties and responsibilities which will absorb more time and attention for the members of the Executive than any year since 1926.

I had the honour and pleasure of meeting your sons here last week, both looking very well and in excellent spirits.

In conclusion, Mr. Mayor, I have the honour to wish you every success in the great ceremonies of the Tercentenary of Boston and every blessing on the city which is so far famed in Ireland for its many kindnesses to the Irish people who made happy homes within its walls.

Yours very sincerely,

WILLIAM S. COSGRAVE.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston,
Boston, Mass.

MAYOR RECEIVES LETTER OF SYMPATHY FROM LABRADOR.

Mayor Curley, on August 19, received the following communication from Sir Wilfred Grenfell, K. C. M. G., M. D., F. R. C. S.:

DEAR MR. MAYOR: The news of the loss of your partner in life has filtered through to this far-off coast, and I hope you will forgive my thoughts flying back to the day when we were leaving Boston on the School Cluett for this coast, and you so kindly remembered us, and sent us a loving cup in token of your friendship. These kindly sentiments expressed in so permanent a form are never forgotten and we want to express our share in sympathy for the great loss you have sustained. To those of us who can realize what it means to be alone, as I, alas, so often have to be, it is easier to understand the gap this makes in life's journey, especially unless we have that abiding comfort which comes of the spiritual interpretation of the meaning of life that I know you are in possession of. This is a coast, isolated and lonely, where that is the greatest asset in life.

With the sincerest of sympathy, may I remain,

Very truly yours,

WILFRED GRENFELL.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for authority to resurface with asphalt macadam Child street, Hyde Park, from Glenwood avenue west to Cleveland street, with department forces, without advertising, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,000.

LONG ISLAND HOSPITAL BOILERS SHOWING WEAKNESS AND STRAIN.

His Honor the Mayor, on August 23, received the following communication from Commissioner James E. Maguire of the Institutions Department:

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—It is our duty to report to you that one of the 84-inch boilers in the power house at Long Island Hospital showed signs of weakness yesterday on the girth-seam rivets and on the tube ends. Our chief engineer has reported the matter to the state boiler inspector. It was recommended that it shall be repaired at once. We have ordered the Roberts Iron Works Company to do so.

The weakness in the boiler cannot be laid against excessive use of boiler compound or to oil, because no compound has been used or is there oil in the system. The water used is not returned through the boilers but runs overboard to the amount of 7,500 gallons a day. It can only be charged to uncontrollable heat from the coal pulverizing units.

The tale has been told many times. We repeat that it is not wise to continue longer the coal pulverizing system at the Long Island Hospital power plant. The operation of the pulverizers depends upon electricity generated by the plant. If the electricity goes out for any reason the pulverizing units cannot run. There will then be no light, no heat, no fire protection.

Time is running swiftly against us. A change must be made before cold weather sets in.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES E. MAGUIRE,
Commissioner.

Commenting on the above Mayor Curley said as follows:

A report received this day from the Institutions Department Commissioner, James E. Maguire, furnishes added proof that a change in the system of fueling at Long Island must be undertaken at once. The action of five members of the City Council at its last meeting is most regrettable and it is my purpose to call an early meeting of the Council so that proper facilities for the heating of the institution and the protection of the inmates may be provided at once.

PRESIDENT HOOVER UNABLE TO SHARE IN BOSTON'S ANNI- VERSARY.

Mayor Curley is in receipt of the following letter:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
WASHINGTON, August 22, 1930.
HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I have your kind telegram of August 22. I deeply appreciate the courtesy of the invitation which you extend to me.

I regret that I had already arranged other appointments, which together with my obligation to leave Boston immediately after luncheon in order to reach a speaking engagement in North Carolina makes it impossible to accept.

I deeply regret that I shall not have the pleasure, therefore, of accepting the courtesies which you extend to me.

Yours faithfully,

HERBERT HOOVER.

AMENDMENT AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES

On motion, the minutes of previous meetings were amended as follows:

The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was omitted, the Committee approving them as printed.

The Chairman stated that through error in the setup of the salary schedule which was adopted at the meeting of July 14, 1930, the salary of the rank of Director of Manual Arts was incorrectly given.

This item as approved by the School Committee and set forth in the original Board paper, reads as follows:

Department of Manual Arts

The necessary correction has accordingly been made in the final proof of the minutes of July 14, 1930.

The Chairman stated the question was on approving the appointments of teachers as reported by the Superintendent and laid over at the previous meeting.

The appointments were approved.

ELIGIBLE LISTS

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of July 30, 1930, recommending the following insertions on the list of successful candidates of the December, 1929, examinations for certificates of qualification IV. High School, XXX. Day and Evening Industrial Schools and XI. Special: Sewing, as certified by the Board of Examiners. These candidates have now submitted to the Board of Examiners satisfactory evidence of fulfillment of eligibility requirements for the said certificates, and it is therefore recommended that their names be inserted in School Document No. 10, 1930, at the place warranted by the ratings:

IV. HIGH SCHOOL

Rating	Name	Certificate Expires

XI. SPECIAL: SEWING

Placed on file and the insertions allowed.

A communication was received from the Board of Superintendents, under date of July 30, 1930, reporting that in the list of successful candidates of the December, 1929, examinations, as certified by the Board of Examiners and reported to the School Committee at the meeting of June 16, 1930, in the Physical Education group (Certificates Valid in Day High Schools), Anna B. Culhane was reported with a rating of 864. It now appears that there was an error in recording the examiner's mark on the major examination which deprived the candidate of 15 points. Her final rating should therefore be 879 instead of 864.

The Board of Superintendents asks that the list—Physical Education (Certificates Valid in Day High Schools), as certified at the meeting of June 16, 1930, be amended by substituting a rating of 879 for the reported rating of 864 for Anna B. Culhane, and rearranging the list accordingly.

Placed on file and the amendment of the list allowed.

LAND AND BUILDING APPROPRIATIONS

CITY OF BOSTON—DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

July 21, 1930

School Committee of the City of Boston,
15 Beacon St.,
Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen:

At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings held on July 21st, 1930, the land and buildings budget of the School Committee for the year 1930, submitted to the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings and bearing the date of June 23d, 1930, was further considered. Acting under the authority of Chapter 351 of the Acts of 1929, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings makes further report in relation to some of the items included in said budget as follows:

Item proposed as d: Chapman District, East Boston: Plans for thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	$15,000.00
Item proposed as l: Elihu Greenwood District, Hyde Park: Plans for thirteen-classroom annex to Elihu Greenwood elementary school building.....	15,000.00
Item proposed as n: Elihu Greenwood District, Hyde Park: Plans for thirteen-classroom annex to Fairmount elementary school building.....	15,000.00
Item proposed as v: Gilbert Stuart District, Dorchester: Plans for thirteen-classroom unit of elementary school building on Morton street, corner of Pine Ridge road.....	15,000.00
Item proposed as aa: Henry Grew District, Hyde Park: Plans for thirteen-classroom annex to Henry Grew elementary school building.....	15,000.00
Item proposed as bb: Henry L. Higginson District, Roxbury: Plans for thirteen-classroom annex (with basement assembly room) to Morrison elementary school building.....	15,000.00
Item proposed as gg: Longfellow District, Roslindale: Plans for thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	15,000.00
Item proposed as ii: Robert Gould Shaw District, West Roxbury: Plans for thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	15,000.00

The Board, having considered the foregoing items, believes that the amount allocated for each of said items should be $8,000, instead of $15,000. The Board therefore reports favorably on all the foregoing items of said budget, with an amount allocated for each item of $8,000.

Item proposed as i: Edward Everett District, Dorchester: Land for thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	$31,250.00
Item proposed as j: Edward Everett District, Dorchester: Plans for thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	15,000.00

In relation to the two foregoing items, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings has been given to understand that these items were to replace the Savin Hill School and the Harbor View School, in the Edward Everett District. In view of the fact that the Superintendent of Construction of this Department has already started on a program which involves substantial renovation of the Harbor View School, and these repairs are now being made, which will make this building satisfactory for further use, this Board respectfully requests the School Committee to eliminate these items from the program for the current year.

Item proposed as cc: Henry L. Higginson District, Roxbury: Furnishing of thirteen-classroom annex to Morrison elementary school building.....	$7,500.00
---	------------

The Board reports favorably on this item, and believes the amount allocated for same to be reasonable.

Item proposed as dd: Lawrence District, South Boston: Land for thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	$15,000.00
Item proposed as ee: Lawrence District, South Boston: Plans for thirteen-classroom elementary school building with basement auditorium.....	15,000.00

The Board of Commissioners of School Buildings understands that these two items were included in the budget after a survey had been made of the cost of necessary repairs to the existing buildings, and with a question of the suitability of the present structures.

The Board of Commissioners of School Buildings has made a further study of the Lawrence District, and has had an examination made by officials of this Department of the Lawrence School and the Drake School. This examination shows that both buildings are structurally sound and in good condition, and that the cost of the necessary repairs can be taken care of from the money allocated to this Department for repairs and alterations in 1930. We believe that after such repairs the buildings will be in satisfactory condition for occupancy for a number of years, and during that period of time the question of the shifting of population to make way for business should be studied. Business has encroached very much during the last few years on the district in which these two buildings are located.

In view of this report, the Board respectfully requests the School Committee to eliminate these items from the program for the current year.

In the School Committee's budget, under the heading "Other projects proposed for appropriation after further conference with the Commissioners of School Buildings as to estimates," there appear other items:

Chapman District, East Boston: Construction of thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	$230,000.00
Charles Sumner District, Roslindale: Construction of thirteen-classroom elementary school building on Poplar street, corner of Dale street.....	230,090.00
Gilbert Stuart District, Dorchester: Construction of thirteen-classroom unit of elementary school building.....	235,000.00
Robert Gould Shaw District, West Roxbury: Construction of thirteen-classroom elementary school building.....	235,000.00

The Board, having considered these last foregoing items, believes that the amount allocated for each of the items should be $200,000 instead of the amounts set against said items in the budget. The Board therefore reports favorably on these four items, with an allocated amount for each item of $200,000.

Henry L. Higginson District, Roxbury: Construction of thirteen-classroom elementary school building with basement assembly room.....	$250,000.00

The Board believes that the amount allocated for this item should be $220,000, instead of $250,000. The Board reports favorably on this item, with an allocated amount therefor of $220,000.

The foregoing report, with prior reports, covers all the items of said budget except the item referring to the Eliot-Hancock District and that which involves the construction of an intermediate school in the Warren-Bunker Hill District. These two items the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings is still studying, and will report thereon at as early a date as possible. In relation to the item for intermediate school in the Warren-Bunker Hill District, the Board has forwarded to the School Committee under this date a request for certain information therewith.

Respectfully submitted,
Board of Commissioners of School Buildings,
By (Signed) Richard J. Lane,
Chairman.

CITY OF BOSTON—DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS

July 21, 1930.

School Committee of the City of Boston, 15, Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:

In the letter under date of July 21st, 1930, in which the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings made a report on the land and buildings budget of the School Committee for the year 1930, this Board reported that it was making further study of the items in the budget in reference to the Eliot-Hancock District.

As reported to us, the School Committee intended to demolish the present Eliot School building on North Bennet Street, and to erect a new building on the site of the said school; and two items were included in the budget, one for plans for an eighteen-classroom addition with basement auditorium, for $36,000, and one for the construction of said building, for $600,000.

The situation in this part of the City, on account of the absence of available land, is appreciated by all to be a very difficult one. To use for the new building the lot on which the present Eliot School is located, which is estimated to contain a little over 11,000 feet, would necessitate practically annexing the building to the Christopher Columbus School structure. Under this plan there would, of course, be no school yard attached to the school for the children.

After a study of the situation, we believe that land could be taken adjacent to the present Freeman School, which would give a frontage on Charter Street, and the rear abutting on a City of Boston playground, which would give excellent light to the new school structure. The Freeman School could then be demolished. This school is a fairly old building, is very dark and poorly adapted for school use, it is only a six-room structure, and is not therefore economical to administer as a separate unit.

By adopting the plan outlined in this letter, in our judgment, a much better solution of the problem would be accomplished than by using the present Eliot School lot. If therefore a lot of land were taken bounded by Revere Place, by Charter Street, with the playground in the rear, and including the Freeman School lot, a good school lot would be obtained, and the present Eliot School could be continued to be utilized until the new school building is built.

If the Eliot School were demolished there would be difficulty in finding accommodations for the children in this school while the new school was being built, unless the Moon Street School should be used to a greater extent than at present. On the other hand, the children of the Freeman School, being fewer, might be absorbed without the continued use of the Moon Street building.

We estimate roughly that the land to be taken for the school site recommended in this letter, in addition to the land now owned by the City as the Freeman School site, will be approximately 10,667 square feet, the assessed value of which land is $94,800.

This Department sees no reason why a playground of the City of Boston should not be utilized during recreation periods by the children of the public schools; and on account of the proximity of this playground to the new school, if the same is built, in our opinion, the playground could then be utilized by the very persons by whom it is desirable to have a playground used.

We appreciate that the School Committee has had to meet many perplexing problems in arranging for school accommodations in this district, but after study we offer you this plan as one, in our judgment, offering a satisfactory solution of the problem.

Respectfully submitted,
Board of Commissioners of

Chairman.

The Board of Commissioners of School Buildings has already considered and forwarded to the School Committee, under date of July 21st, 1930, its report and comments on the land and buildings budget of the School Committee for 1930, which included the items in the foregoing appropriation order. In reporting on said budget, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings stated its reasons for approving said items with certain changes and curtailment of amounts allocated for some of the items, which changes and curtailments in amounts the School Committee has adopted in the appropriation order now submitted to this Board.

In said appropriation order are included three items on which we now would like to make further report, namely,

Item 56—Eliot-Hancock District, North End: Construction of eighteen-classroom elementary school building with basement assembly room.....	400,000.00

As to these last three foregoing items, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings has considered the same and reports favorably thereon, with the amounts allocated for the same as in said appropriation order. In relation to the Eliot-Hancock District, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, under date of July 21st, 1930, submitted to the School Committee a special report, in letter form, which explained its views in regard to improvements in the Eliot-Hancock District.

The Board of Commissioners of School Buildings therefore, acting under the authority of Chapter 351 of the Acts of 1929, reports favorably on said appropriation order as herein set forth with the amounts allocated in said appropriation order for the several items thereof.

Mr. Gray: Mr. Chairman, I have heard the orders read and I intend to vote for their passage. However, they do not seem to me to go far enough in the respect that they leave unappropriated, as I figure it, somewhat over $400,000.00 to meet expenditures for construction of school buildings, etc. This $400,000 we are entitled to levy and raise under Chapter 314 of the Acts of 1926, usually known as the sixty-eight cent statute, because we are entitled to sixty-eight cents on each one thousand dollars of the valuation of the city. In my judgment we should appropriate this $400,000—I do not give the exact figure—we should appropriate that $400,000 at once. If we fail to do so, the money is lost for good and all and will not be available at any future time for construction of schools.

When we were considering our building program this year, we had various proposals—one, three, and ten-year programs. It finally seemed desirable when we went to the Legislature to concentrate on the one-year program and this was done; but this does not mean that there are not a great many needs for this money in the construction of schools. Consequently I cannot bring myself to overlook this item, and I move the following amendment:

That the difference between $915,750, which in the proposed order is to be certified to be raised by taxation under the sixty-eight cent statute, and the full amount which we are permitted to appropriate under the sixty-eight cent statute—$409,374.87—be certified to the Board of Assessors.

The Chairman stated that since Mr. Gray's motion involves an appropriation order, four votes are required for passage.

In answer to roll call on Mr. Gray's motion, the members respectively voted as indicated, and in connection therewith made the following statements:

Mr. Gray: Yes.

Dr. Lyons: Yes.

Mr. Reilly: I am voting against Mr. Gray's motion out of consideration for the tax payers. It means twenty cents on the tax rate at a time when everyone is complaining about the increased cost of our schools. When we considered programs of varying lengths, we had in mind relief of the burden of our present tax rate. Here is a chance to relieve in some degree the great burden on the tax payer without postponing a single project. The old Schoolhouse Commission spent in the vicinity of $3,500,000 last year in twelve months. We have already appropriated this year some $4,477,000 to be used in six months. $4,477,000 in six months against $3,500,000 in twelve months last year. This, with some $250,000 still available for appropriation, and with the savings Mr. Rourke will effect, will provide sufficient money to complete the items covered in this year's program without further burdening the tax payer. Mr. Rourke has already saved us $69,000 on one item, and bids this year are so low that $4,477,000 is ample and all that the tax payers should be expected to assume. For these reasons I am voting against the motion.

Mr. Hurley: I am voting no principally because last year on the tax rate for land and buildings there was an item of only $2,500,000. Voting no on Mr. Gray's proposed amendment and voting in favor of the orders now submitted certifying to the Board of Assessors the amount which will be required to be raised this year for land and buildings, will mean $3,415,750 on the tax rate, or one million dollars more than last year. I don't feel that we should make that one million, one million four hundred thousand dollars.

In other words, $1,000,000 more this year than last year is to be raised for land and buildings. I don't feel that we should make that $1,000,000 extra, $1,400,000 extra. I believe the taxpayer is standing as much as he should stand. I therefore vote no.

Dr. Lyons: I agree heartily with both Mr. Reilly's and Mr. Chairman's figures and I appreciate what it is going to mean to the tax payer, but I also have in mind this fact: It would be the desire of the tax payer to see that this money is appropriated. We have had in the past year and a half, and prior to the last election, a tremendous issue in the City of Boston—portables. I think that had a great deal to do with the election of the present Mayor of Boston and I know it had a great deal to do with the election of the members of this Committee. It has been the most important issue before the public for a great many years.

There has been a drive to relieve the portable situation to such an extent that members of this Committee went before the Legislature when told it was useless to petition for additional appropriation, and succeeded in getting everything that we asked for and more, over and above the sixty-eight cents already available under the 1926 act, with the full cognizance of the Legislature of the existing situation, and granted on our word to relieve the portable situation. Now that $400,000 if not appropriated will be lost to us. If appropriated, it will mean a little increase in the tax rate, but this is a question of primary importance to the people of Boston today—expenditure of a little more money on their schools to relieve the portable situation which has been bothersome to them and to this Committee for the past year. We have never witnessed anything like it. Petitions, representations of citizens, demanding release of their children from portables. We have worked hard and faithfully to accomplish this purpose. We were received by the Legislature with open arms and granted this large sum of money over and above the sixty-eight cents which they positively expected us to appropriate.

Now there comes to my mind this fact: It is the money of the tax payers and they seem willing enough to bear the burden, judging by their action in the tremendous drive to take the children out of the portables. It is all their money, whether expended by City Hall or on the schools. The big question to the people of Boston today is whether every dollar which reasonably can be expended to relieve a disagreeable situation in the school system shall be so expended; whether this is more important than the spending of untold millions which will be spent from now on for public parks, rose gardens, and innumerable other items. It seems to me that the people of Boston, the tax payers who are assuming a little more burden in order to relieve their children from a condition which this Committee has worked so hard to relieve, should be considered.

If it were a matter of this $400,000 going over to another year it would be different, but if it isn't appropriated this year and certified now, part of the money which the Legislature expected we would expend and should appropriate—is going to be lost to the schools. If we find within the next few years that we cannot get any additional money for land and buildings, the portable situation is going to be as bad as it ever was. I think a little addition to the tax rate to take children out of portables will be acceptable to the people, $400,000 isn't a huge sum. I appreciate the wonderful work Mr. Rourke is doing, but all the money we can save, and all the money we can get, will be needed to accomplish the purpose that contributed to the election of members of this Committee and had a great part in the election of the present Mayor—the relief of the portable situation.

I maintain that this money which the Legislature gave us was over and above the money which came out of the sixty-eight cent appropriation, and the Legislature expected that every cent would be spent. I wish something could be done to make the other members see the light and agree to appropriate this additional $400,000.

Mr. Reilly: Is this $400,000 before us to relieve portables or will it be expended on such items as grading and furnishing properties now existing? Have we any assurance that this $400,000, if appropriated, would eliminate $400,000 worth of portable buildings?

Chairman: It would increase the appropriation for land and buildings from $3,415,750 to $3,825,124.

Dr. Lyons: Regardless of how this additional $400,000 is to be spent, the answer to Mr. Reilly's question is that it may be spent for grading school yards and to do things that are essential in line with the portable situation. If the money were not taken out of the $400,000 then it will be taken from the general appropriation. Grading is as essential to a school building as the digging of the land. It makes it possible to put the children into the finished building. If the $400,000 were appropriated it would surely have something to do with the portable situation.

Mr. Gray: I don't think it is fair for Mr. Reilly to leave the impression that a particular $400,000 can be picked out and treated any differently from the budget as a whole. The building program naturally covers a variety of construction needs. If you look at the appropriations we have already made, which will in a measure relieve the portable situation, you will find occasionally items for extensions of schoolyards, for grading, etc.; but it is grossly unfair to indicate that if we are to maintain our point we must show that the $400,000 shall be used solely for portables.

Mr. Reilly: It was my colleague, Dr. Lyons, who first mentioned portables and based his vote against it to relieve portable buildings, and in defense of my vote I mentioned that this $400,000 was not for portables only.

Dr. Lyons: You might say the same thing of the entire appropriation—it is all to be used for construction of buildings and all that goes with the construction. Mr. Reilly's intention was right, but I think he is laboring under a misapprehension and probably now will agree with me that whatever money is spent, it is all for the construction and equipping of school buildings. We cannot say that what we have already provided is going to be assigned to the taking of children out of portables.

Chairman: There is no allocation of specified items for the removal of portables. Dr. Burke, will you speak to the portable situation in so far as it will exist under the building program contemplated without this $400,000.

Superintendent: We are getting rid of fifty portables this year.

Chairman: The completion of this year's building program, without this $400,000, will dispose of how many more?

Superintendent: Between forty and fifty; perhaps one hundred altogether.

Dr. Lyons: How many portables have we now?

Superintendent: A little over two hundred.

Dr. Lyons: According to that the inference might be that it would leave us with one hundred portables at the end of that program. Isn't it safe to say that by that time, because of shifting population, it might be necessary to move portables around? After all the effort we have made on building construction, we cannot feel that this is going to settle the whole problem.

Superintendent: We are making a remarkable record on portables. If we can eliminate 50 per cent this year, it is a fine record.

The Chairman stated that Mrs. Pigeon, who was unavoidably absent, knowing that this question would arise requested him to place her on record as in favor of appropriating the $400,000. Her absence, and therefore her inability to vote, do not affect the situation because her vote would make but three in favor, and an appropriation order being involved, four votes are necessary.

The Chairman stated that Mr. Gray's amendment failed of passage by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Gray and Lyons—2.

Nays—Messrs. Hurley and Reilly—2.

Absent—Mrs. Pigeon—1.

The motion to amend being lost, question came on the passage of the three orders as submitted by the Business Manager certifying to the Board of Assessors the amounts which must be raised by taxation during the financial year 1930, totalling $20,038,272.28, and specifically for land and buildings for schools $3,415,750.00.

The orders passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Gray, Hurley, Lyons, and Reilly—4.

NAYS—0.

ABSENT—Mrs. Pigeon—1.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The order making a change in the authorized list of text books, as submitted and laid over at the previous meeting, was taken up and passed.

The Committee adjourned.

VETO OF ORDINANCE REGULATING OPERATION OF RADIOS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 6, 1930.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return, without my approval, the ordinance adopted by your honorable body under date of August 4, 1930, for the following reasons: That the ordinance drafted is most drastic in character; that the penalty it proposes shall be imposed is most excessive, and that the provision with reference to the volume of sound gives too much latitude both to an unfriendly neighbor and to the law enforcing powers.

Further, that the operation of law under the ordinance as proposed would constitute a serious infringement on personal liberty which, in my opinion, is sufficiently restricted.

I am in agreement with reference to the necessity for the regulation of the operation of phonographs, victrolas or other machines or devices for producing or reproducing sound, operated in connection with any business concern, either as a means of entertainment or for advertising, and am heartily in favor of a regulation which would prohibit operation in such places between the hours set forth in the ordinance.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

Edward F. McLaughlin,
Fire Commissioner.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I return herewith the following order passed by the City Council:

Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to investigate and report to the City Council the advisability of providing increased fire protection for the Metropolitan Hill section of Ward 18.

In City Council June 30, 1930. Passed.

The nearest companies to Box 2564 at the top of this hill are Engine 45 and Ladder 16. The distance from the fire station in which these companies are quartered to that box is seven tenths of a mile, and they respond to this box in from three to three and one half minutes. In addition, Engines 30, 53 and Ladder 25 respond to that location in approximately five minutes.

The response to boxes on the lower or east side of the hill, in addition to Engine 45 and Ladder 16, calls for Engines 48, 53 and Ladder 10. Engine 48 and 53 reach the scene in about five minutes and Ladder 10 in about seven minutes.

From an investigation of the chief officials of this department it appears that the fire protection for Metropolitan Hill is adequate at the present time.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD F. McLAUGHLIN,
Fire Commissioner.

ENLARGEMENT OF EAST BOSTON AIRPORT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 14, 1930.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to forward herewith report received from the chairman of the Park Department with reference to the East Boston Airport.

It is desirable, both in the interests of the unemployed and the development of the Boston Airport, that the order now pending before your honorable body be approved at once, and provided suspension of the rules is necessary, I sincerely trust that such action will be taken.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, August 13, 1930.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—Conditions at the airport are at a standstill. I cannot go ahead with our construction of enlarging the airport until the additional land is acquired from the State Department of Public Works.

At the present time the lease for additional land has had one hearing before the City Council and as they have adjourned until September 8, it will be October 1 before this department can go ahead with any improvements. That brings it very late into the year and I regret to inform you that no perceptible enlargement of the airport can take place this year.

Very respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

TEMPORARY LOAN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 18, 1930.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the accompanying communication from the City Treasurer directing my attention to the fact that the sum of $2,000,000 additional will be necessary to meet payments levied against the city pending the receipt of taxes, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Treasury Department, August 18, 1930.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston.

Sir,—Of the $24,000,000 temporary loan, authorized by the City Council under date of January 29, 1930, I have issued notes to the amount of $22,000,000.

To August 20, 1929, the City Treasurer borrowed $18,000,000 and subsequent to that date $3,000,000 more (on August 28, $2,000,000, and on September 4, $1,000,000).

Anticipating heavier payments this year, during the next month, I think it expedient that additional authority to borrow to the amount of $2,000,000 should be obtained from the City Council and I respectfully request you to ask for this authority at the meeting to be held today.

Respectfully yours,
EDMUND L. DOLAN,
City Treasurer.

Ordered, That to provide temporarily money to meet the appropriations for the financial year 1930, the City Treasurer issue and sell at such times and in such amounts as he may deem best, notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston not exceeding two million dollars in the total, in anticipation of the taxes of the current municipal year; that all such notes or certificates of indebtedness be dated the day the money for the same is received, be made payable with the interest thereon within one year of their date from taxes of the year 1930, and bear interest from their date until the same are made payable at such rate as the City Auditor, the City Treasurer and the Mayor may determine.

Referred to Executive Committee.

WATER ABATEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 15, 1930.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—It is desirable, in the interests of efficiency in the Public Works Department, that the Commissioner of Public Works be relieved of the obligation of passing upon water abatements in order that he may have all the time available for street construction.

Heretofore water abatements have been acted upon under the direction of the engineer in charge of water income and it is necessary that the ordinance be amended so that this work, when performed by the engineer in charge of the Water Income Division, shall be in conformity with the ordinances.

Accordingly I recommend the adoption by your honorable body of the accompanying amendment to the ordinance.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

An Ordinance Concerning the Abatement of Charges for Water by the Public Works Department.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Section 1. Section twenty-three of chapter twenty-seven of the revised ordinances of nineteen hundred and twenty-five is hereby amended by striking out in the third and fourth lines of said section the words "shall make abatements of charges for water where improperly assessed."

Sect. 2. Section twenty-four of said chapter twenty-seven is hereby amended by inserting after the word "ordinances" at the end of said section the following:—"and who, under the direction of the commissioner, shall make abatements of charges for water where improperly assessed."

Referred to Committee on Ordinances.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 18, 1930.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of a communication from the Institutions Commissioner condemning the coal pulverizing equipment in the boiler plant at Long Island Hospital as unsafe and not economical, and requesting an appropriation of $50,000 to change over the system. I am greatly concerned with the safety and comfort of the population of the institution and if the plant is to be altered it is necessary to complete the work before cold weather sets in.

I accordingly respectfully request the City Council to give the accompanying loan order its first reading at this meeting.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of fifty thousand (50,000) dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, to be expended by the Commissioner of Institutions for Power Plant, Long Island Hospital, Alterations and Improvements, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be, and hereby is, authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to the said amount.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 18, 1930.
To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am inclosing an order providing for the acceptance of the bequest of Matilda Jane Kennemon to the City of Boston, which order is self-explanatory. This estate consists of two lots of land situated in Saugus, Mass., and less than two hundred dollars in cash, after other claims and expenses are deducted.

Under the provisions of this will it is necessary for the City of Boston to give, by registered mail, a full and unqualified acceptance of this bequest and devise within sixty days from the date when the letter of notification of said bequest from the person who acts as executor or in any other capacity under said will, is mailed to the City of Boston. In order to carry out this provision it will be necessary to have this order passed immediately.

I therefore recommend for immediate passage by your honorable body the accompanying order.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Whereas, The said Matilda Jane Kennemon died September 16, 1928; and

Whereas, The said will was proved and allowed by the Probate Court for the County of Suffolk on April 14, 1930; and Ordered, That the said devise and bequest made by the said Matilda Jane Kennemon to said City of Boston as set forth in her said will be, and the same is hereby, accepted by the City of Boston in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in said will.

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR PAYMENT OF REAL ESTATE TAXES.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to authorize the City Collector to grant an extension of time for the payment of real estate taxes for 1929 to persons owning their homes and who are in needy circumstances at the present time.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, on Tuesday next, the 26th day of August, a number of homes in the City of Boston are to be sold for the non-payment of taxes. The order I have introduced today covers only persons who are striving to own their own homes, or attempting to pay off mortgages in order to own their own homes. In my ward a number of cases have been called to my attention of houses that have been advertised three weeks in the City Record and are about to be sold. They are really worthy cases of widows or husbands out of work who are unable to pay their taxes. If you go over to the Tax Collector's office and ask for an extension of time you are met with the answer, "If a man owns a house it is possible for him to pay taxes." You ask them, "How?" and they say, "Well, he can raise the money." But I ask, "How can a man raise money who has perhaps two mortgages on his home and is striving to pay them off?" The real estate sharks will not give him any more money, and the result is that his equity is going to be taken from him a week from tomorrow, whereas if he could get through this year, next year with better times coming things would perhaps be better. What is happening? There are a bunch of real estate shysters that stand down here in the alley, that refuse to pay even office rent, that are around looking at every one of these homes that are advertised, even going around peeping in cellar windows, with the intention of buying in at auction the homes of these people in which their lives' earnings are invested, and I feel confident that the Mayor of this city will certainly grant additional time in worthy cases only for the payment of these taxes. I have a number in my ward, and I think every gentleman in the Council must have the same conditions as exist in my ward, and I sincerely hope this order will be passed under a suspension of the rules. Another thing, Mr. President, part payment for the first time in the history of Boston has been refused by the Tax Collector. If a man owes $225 taxes, $224 are refused. I don't think that condition should exist in the City of Boston. Take out here in Malden where they have had a mayor for five years. Taxes have been discussed, but never has a house been sold for the nonpayment of taxes. Give these people a little more time, and I am sure they will not have to give up their homes to these real estate shysters—and most of them are noncitizens—that hang out here on Tremont street and down City Hall avenue.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. WILSON called up, under unfinished business, Nos. 3, 8, 10 and 11 on the calendar, in part, as follows, viz.:

3. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor August 4, 1930, of James J. Tracey, to be a Weigher of Coal; John Connors, to be a Weigher of Coal and a Measurer of Wood and Bark; and William H. Muldoon and James H. Muldoon, to be Weighers of Goods.

8. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor June 23, 1930, of William J. Cleary, to be Constable.

10. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor July 21, 1930, of George W. Long, to be Constable.

11. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor August 4, 1930, of Stephen J. Dunleavy, George C. Riley and Frank G. May, to be Constables.

The question came on confirmation, and the Chair appointed Coun. Gallagher and Donovan to receive, sort and count the ballots. Whole number of ballots 18, yeas 18, and the appointments were severally confirmed.

IMPROVEMENT OF VOSE PARK.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:
Ordered, That the Metropolitan Park Commission, through his Honor the Mayor, be respectfully requested to make some early provision for improvement of Vose Park in the Neponset river section of Dorchester.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REMOVAL OF ASHES AND GARBAGE, DORCHESTER DISTRICT.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:
Ordered, That, through his Honor the Mayor, the contracting firm in charge of the removal of ashes and garbage in the Dorchester district be instructed and required forthwith to comply with the requirements of the contract between that concern and the City of Boston.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, with reference to this order, I will state that apparently it has been customary in the City of Boston for those who bid for contracts for the removal of ashes and garbage to play about the same game that is played by some contractors who bid for the privilege to lay the public streets of the City of Boston. We found in the latter case, on street construction work, that the insiders—and I do not refer to this administration necessarily, but perhaps more particularly to the most recent administration—that the insiders bid knowing, for example, that although everybody is supposed to be bidding on a basis of $5 a day for citizen laborers, the insiders will get the contract and then proceed to pay $2 or $3 a day for alien labor. Somewhat along the same line, those contractors who bid for the removal of ashes and garbage apparently from time immemorial bid on the basis of the conditions made by the City of Boston, which, so far as the Dorchester district is concerned, specify that there shall be a collection of garbage twice a week throughout the year, and specify, for example, that the contractor shall remove barrels from the yards when so placed as to be easily accessible. The contractor is forbidden to place the barrels on the street until one hour before collecting them, and he must remove all receptacles so placed on the same day, and after emptying the receptacles he must return them to the place from which they were taken, which is different from the provision with reference to the collection of ashes and garbage by city labor. So I make these two points: that in the Dorchester district the contractor who obtained this contract has been making money at the expense of the people of Dorchester in two respects. In the first place, although the contract that he bid on and got specifies the collection of garbage at least twice a week, the garbage in the precinct in which I live, Precinct 7 of Ward 17—at least in the street I live on—has not been collected even once in two weeks, resulting in a saving to the contractor; and in the second place, almost invariably the contractor fails to do what he agreed to do, namely, take the receptacles from an easily accessible place anywhere on your premises, take them to the street, dump them and return them to the place from which he took the receptacles, and it is easy to estimate that that item alone undoubtedly means a saving of six men each and every week throughout the winter, and it means at least four in the summer. And it seems to me that when these contractors bid to do a job, when they obtain such a valuable contract—and I assume it is valuable because there is competition enough in order to get it—when these contractors obtain such a valuable contract as that contract for the removal of garbage and ashes in a district such as Dorchester, it is up to them to fulfill the terms of the contract; it is up to them to remove the garbage twice a week as they agree to do; it is up to them to hire citizens enough to do what they agree to do, namely, take the barrels and receptacles from the yard, empty them and take them back. And I think it is time to call a halt. I think the present contractor should keep his contract, and I think when the new contract is let in January that question should have consideration.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege and ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President LYNCH—Councillor Wilson asks unanimous consent to make a statement.

Coun. ARNOLD—Does the gentleman desire to tell us what this statement is going to be about?

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, it will be about three minutes, and refers to a letter which appeared in the City Council minutes on July 21, 1930, which I have just had an opportunity to read, and which refers to me specifically.

President LYNCH—The Chair hears no objection. The councillor may proceed.

Coun. WILSON—I wish to make reference to that letter appearing in the City Council minutes of July 21, 1930. On June 23, 1930, in presenting an order to the City Council with reference to the continued purchase of provisions and merchandise from such chain stores as fail to recognize American standards of employment, I suggested that low prices are frequently an indirect reflection of working conditions. I stated that recently a constituent who worked in a chain store had been called for jury duty, and on returning from jury duty in the Suffolk Superior Court he found he had been fired, solely because he had been called for jury service. He had served as a jurymen, and he was called before the judge of the Superior Court since on three or four occasions, and the man in charge of the store was called, and so far as I am able to ascertain from the last report the man is still looking for a job in one of these very same chain stores to which the poor of the City of Boston are sent by the Welfare Department of the City of Boston because the goods are cheap. I stated further that if these stores are going to treat their help the way they are treated, and if they are going to fire a man merely because he does his duty and serves as a jurymen, I think it high time that the Public Welfare Department and the other departments of the city should not indirectly encourage any such un-American standards of workmanship. I mentioned the name of no chain store concern, but apparently, as from time immemorial, "a guilty conscience needs no accuser," because on July 9, 1930, writing from a main office of the First National Stores,

Inc., which incidentally is located in Somerville, and not even in the City of Boston, one C. F. Adams wrote to the Mayor as follows:

"As far as First National Stores, Inc., is concerned, the accusations directed by Councillor Wilson neither can nor do apply to our company. If we had an executive who discharged a man because he was called upon for jury service, the executive who discharged the man would himself be discharged. Because of the large number of employees we have, approximately 9,000, there is hardly a time when courts are in session that one or more of our employees are not engaged in jury service, and to my knowledge there has never been a single instance of discharge by reason of such absence—or ever will be."

There is an element of humor in that letter. Of course the information on which I based my order and remarks of June 23 was based on no phoney, phantom phone call, but for once I agree with the gentleman in question, when he says,

"I do not know where Councillor Wilson secured his information, but as far as our company is concerned, it does not apply, and he is as far wrong in this instance as he was at the time he stated that I was 'masquerading under an assumed name'."

I am just as far wrong in this instance as I was then, and so I will pick just one case out of several. The man's name is Peter Martin; the address is 87 Centre street, Dorchester; the First National Store from which he was fired on his return from jury service is located at 465 Washington street, Boston, almost opposite the Cathedral; the name of the manager is Al Le Mier. This was a First National Store also. The man was fired for serving on a jury. The incident was reported to the division superintendent, McManus. Peter Martin was drawn for jury service in this room on January 6, 1930; he commenced service in the Fifth Session of the Suffolk Superior Court on February 3, 1930, with Judge John D. McLaughlin. He reported twice each week at the store during his period of jury service, and on his prompt return to work after his completion of jury service he was forthwith fired. It may have been that there was not that overwhelming evidence necessary in criminal matters for any contempt finding, but in any event the concern promised the presiding judge to take Martin back, and I know of my own knowledge that the Court has assumed that the promise was long since kept, and the man back in his former employment. He was not taken back. I trust the above facts may suggest that so far as I am concerned I base my statement on something more reliable than fairy stories.

RECESS

The Council voted at 2.50 p. m. to take a recess, subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled in the Council Chamber and were called to order by President LYNCH at 4 p. m.

REPORT OF PARKMAN FUND COMMITTEE.

Coun. CURTIS—On behalf of the Parkman Fund Committee, I would like to report on the request for an appropriation, that the committee called a meeting but a quorum was not present. However, I have spoken to the various members, and they are agreeable to passing this appropriation, and I would like to ask that the members of the committee be polled, if that is in order, on an appropriation of $120,000.

President LYNCH—If there is no objection, the Chairman may report back the order. There being no objection, Councillor Curtis submits a report recommending an appropriation of $120,000 from the Parkman Fund. The question comes on the acceptance of the report and the passage of the order.

Coun. HEIN—What is the $120,000 for?

Coun. CURTIS—Mr. President, $5,000 is for the zoo and animals, and another $5,000 for the aquarium and other matters of that nature; there is an item of $45,000 for improvements out in Franklin Park, and $65,000 for improvements in the Fens Parkway.

Coun. HEIN—He wants $100,000 altogether, $65,000 for the Fens, as I understand it, to put a rose garden out there. With the unemployment situation the way it is in Boston today, and with everybody having an auctioneer coming up to their houses within a week or so to auction them off, I think we can find a better way to spend $65,000 than to put it into a rose garden at the present time. I know there are plenty of playgrounds where this $65,000 could be spent to better advantage than in a rose garden and in Franklin Park. I think they have got their share, and that this money should be spent in other parts of the city.

Coun. RUBY—For the benefit of the councillor who has just spoken, it might be well to remind you, I having been a member of that committee since my election to the Council five years ago, that this particular money that is being asked for today is interest accumulations up to the present time from the Parkman Fund that can only be used for specific purposes. It cannot be used for anything else. And for that reason the Mayor, as well as the Park Commissioner, when this interest money accumulates, three times a year comes into the Council and submits a program for improvements in the various parks that are covered by the Parkman Fund, and the money that is available cannot be used for anything else than that specified for by the Mayor as well as the Park Commissioner.

Coun. DONOVAN—I cannot see my way clear today, Mr. President, to vote this $125,000 for the beautifying of the Fens or of Franklin Field. Ever since I have been a member of this Council, for the past five years, the interest from the Parkman Fund has been spent on Franklin Field and on the Fens, and I think it is high time that the Park Commissioner should consult with the Parkman Fund Committee of the Council with regard to spending some of this money in the congested areas. In East Boston, for instance, I have several parks that come within the scope of the Parkman Fund, and I find it a hard job to secure one cent from the Park Commissioner to be spent in my district, and the other members of this Council who represent wards in this city have the same trouble. It is time that some of this money was spent upon other parks in our city rather than upon any particular area of the city.

Coun. MURRAY—May I ask the councillor from Ward 14 a question? Is it not a fact that this money from the Parkman Fund was also left for playgrounds?

Coun. RUBY—No. As I understand, Mr. President, the money derived as income from the estate of the late Mr. Parkman was to be used for those parks and playgrounds which were in existence prior to 1887, and for the further information of the councillor from Ward 1, I would say that Franklin Field does not get one dollar of that money, because it does not come under the parks and playgrounds in existence at that time. The money is spent in Franklin Park, and not in Franklin Field, and is spent, as I have said, and can only be spent for parks and playgrounds in existence prior to 1887, if my memory serves me right.

President LYNCH—The Chair will state that this money has to be spent on the parks—

Coun. MURRAY—And not playgrounds?

President LYNCH—Not on playgrounds. The clerk will read the entire order for the information of the members of the Council.

The clerk read the order as follows:

"Ordered, That the sum of $120,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for the maintenance and improvements of the Common, and the parks in existence on January 12, 1887, as follows: Fens improvements, $65,000; Franklin Park improvements, $45,000; animals, birds, etc., $5,000; aquarium improvements, $5,000."

Coun. FITZGERALD—I move that this matter be postponed until the next meeting of the Council.

President LYNCH—The question comes on Councillor Fitzgerald's motion to postpone.

Coun. CURTIS—I would like to speak on that, Mr. President, if it is in order.

President LYNCH—Councillor Curtis.

Coun. CURTIS—Mr. President, I understand that there is a desire on the part of the Park Department and the heads of the departments concerned to get to work on this, and they are anxious to have this order go through. I received a message today that it was desirable that men be employed on this work as soon as possible, and it was reported today with that in mind.

Coun. BUSH—Mr. President, I am surprised and astonished at the attitude taken by some of the councillors with reference to the expenditure of this money in either the Fens or Franklin Park. Franklin Park and the Fens are not local propositions, they are not local parks. They are parks of which the entire city is proud. Franklin Park is one of the largest and finest parks in the entire country, and perhaps in the entire world. There have been efforts made to beautify that park continually, and people come to see it from all over the country. And more particularly now in this Tercentenary year there ought to be as much money as is available spent on both the Fens and Franklin Park. They are not local propositions. I happen to be fortunate enough to have that park in my ward, but it certainly is not used by the people in my ward alone. Every Saturday and Sunday all through the summer there are thousands and thousands of people that come from all over the city for rest and recreation in that park. There are people that come from the outlying towns to visit that park and see the zoo and the beautiful rose garden there; it is a park that serves the entire city and the surrounding towns. It is, as I have said, one of the finest parks in the world, and I am surprised that any councillor should even mention the fact that this park is a local proposition, a ward proposition. It is not. It is a matter in which the entire city takes pride. And the Fens is the same kind of a proposition. People come from all over the city to take rides through the Fenway. They take pride in showing it to guests from other cities as part of our park system. I know it is a source of pride to me to be able to take guests from out of town and show them the beautiful parks we have in the City of Boston. I think the money might well be spent in both of those places, with all due respect to the local, small parks in the congested area.

Coun. ARNOLD—Mr. President, none of these projects is in my ward and therefore I think I can speak impersonally. It is a fact that Boston is most fortunate in that a considerable portion of the maintenance of our park system is taken care of through legacies. A few years ago I had an opportunity to test out just how much Boston really thought of her park system when, upon a petition of mine to the Legislature, it was proposed that the Metropolitan District Commission take over the park system of the City of Boston, and it was not long before I was very much impressed with the pride that the City of Boston had in its own park system, and I hope that we will always be able to maintain it, even to a greater degree than we have done during these twenty-five or fifty years, or whatever the length of time may be, that we have had the opportunity to use this income to take care of the parks that were in existence prior to that time. I hope, sir, the matter will not be postponed, and that work may proceed along the ideas that have been advocated by the Park Commissioners. There are plenty of men in the Park Department on the waiting list that need the work. Now, let us give it to them.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. President, coming from Ward 18, an outlying section of Boston, I want to say that I do not believe we have ever had a Parkman Fund allotment in that ward. Nevertheless, we are all beneficiaries of the wonderful park system of our city. I never pass 33 Beacon street but what I think of the wonderful man who lived there, and the great good that his bequests have been to the people of Boston today and generations yet unborn. I think of the man who left practically all of his fortune to the people of Boston. In the Franklin Park area we have a great park that thousands of our residents go to yearly—one of the greatest of any municipality in America, and this particular rose garden that is alluded to I understand is the finest rose garden of any in this hemisphere. I think we are all beneficiaries of it, and I do not think we should take a local, provincial attitude on it. Because the park in my district has not been benefited by the money left by that great Bostonian, Francis Parkman, there is no reason why I should stand here, feeling, as I do, that our district is in need of park facilities, and oppose a request made by the Park Commissioner and a board of experts to the Mayor of Boston to further beautify in this Tercentenary year the beautiful rose garden that is already there, and to add further to our wonderful park system that our people enjoy today.

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, I noticed here on Thursday, August 14, in the Boston Herald, the Mayor says he wants $50,000 for a rose garden in the Fenway and $50,000 for a rock garden in Franklin Park. We have some forty-eight or fifty acres out there in Brighton, and we cannot get settees or shade trees, let alone $50,000 for a rose garden, which they are asking for the Back Bay, and $50,000 for a rock garden out in Franklin Park.

Coun. DONOVAN—I am not opposed, Mr. President, to the beautifying of the park system of Boston, but I think the time has arrived to spend some of this money on other parts of the city. I have three or four parks in East Boston that were in existence at the time of Mr. Parkman's death and which come within the terms of his will, but during the past five years that I have been a member of the City Council I do not know of one instance wherein the Park Commissioner has spent any of that money in the congested areas. I do not blame Councilor Bush or Councilor Arnold for wanting to beautify the Fens and Franklin Park, due to the fact that this is the Tercentenary year in Boston, but it is high time that this money was utilized in some of the congested districts. In East Boston I represent some 70,000 people. We have a World War Memorial Park in East Boston which has been in existence, I will say, for nearly 100 years, but we have not had one cent of that money spent there during the past five years. In the closing hours of our last administration here last year there was an order came in for something like $50,000, if my memory serves me right, to build a building with this money in Franklin Park or in the Fens—I forget which it was; my memory is not quite clear on the subject—and I say it is high time that the interest from this fund should be used in some of the congested areas of this city, for the benefit of the men, women and children of those congested areas.

The question came on Councilor Fitzgerald's motion to postpone; the question was taken and the Chair declared the motion lost.

Coun. HEIN doubting the vote, a rising vote was taken with the following result: Yeas 4, nays 13.

The Chair declared the motion lost.

The report of the committee was accepted.

The question then came on the passage of the order, and the clerk called the roll with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Arnold, Bush, Curtis, Englert, Fish, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Gleason, Green, Kelly, McCarthy, Murray, Lynch, Norton, Power, Ruby, Wilson—17.

Nays—Coun. Donovan and Hein—2.

The order was passed.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. WILSON, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of the Mayor and order, referred this day, for the acceptance of the bequest of Matilda Jane Kennemon, recommending passage of same.

Report accepted; order passed.

2. Report on message of the Mayor and orders, referred this day, for the transfer of loan appropriations to various playgrounds; that same ought to pass.

3. Report on message of the Mayor and order, referred this day, for the transfer of $700 from the Reserve Fund to the Art Commission—that same ought to pass.

4. Report on message of the Mayor and order, referred this day, for transfers within departmental appropriations—that same ought to pass.

5. Report on the message of the Mayor and order, referred this day, for a loan of $2,000,000 for temporary purposes—that same ought to pass.

The said reports were severally accepted and said orders severally passed, yeas 19, nays 0.

6. Report on message of the Mayor and order, referred this day, for a loan of $50,000 for Institutions Department for power plant alterations and improvements at Long Island Hospital—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I would like to have this laid on the table for one week, or at least until the next meeting. There is a difference of opinion between the heads of the two departments that are interested in this loan order, in that one says that the oil burners and the coal pulverizers are not right, and the other says they are right. I would like to have some outside engineer give us a reason why they are right or why they are not right, so that I would like to have it laid on the table for one week.

President LYNCH—The Chair will state that the next regular meeting of the Council is September 8. Councilor Murray moves that the order be laid on the table until the next regular meeting of the Council. There is no debate on it.

The question was taken and the Chair declared the motion to lay on the table lost.

The question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. ARNOLD—Mr. President, I hesitate to get into this debate, after what was said in the meeting of the Executive Committee. It seems that the preponderance of the evidence showed an endeavor on the part of the present Institutions Commissioner to discredit the man whom he had succeeded. The members of the Council who were here last year will recall that it was emphasized that if we made this improvement, if we appropriated the money necessary for this improvement at Long Island, we would have a more efficient heating of that institution, as far as the supply of heat is concerned, and a more economical carrying on of the business of that department. Now we are told that was all wrong; there is not a scintilla of proof in any of the arguments which I believe influenced us last year to pass favorably upon an appropriation to install these feeders for those boilers at Long Island. Now, the gentleman who held that position last year and during a former administration was not, I submit, an engineer. The man who spoke to us today may be an orator, but he is not an engineer. The former commissioner was advised by somebody that that system would be an effective and efficient one. The present commissioner has told us that he has been advised that such a system is a most inefficient one. Now, they both cannot be right. One of them we did go through with last year, and I believe we should not now about face and retreat, in the face of personal abuse and condemnation of a previous administration. I appreciate the fact that Mr. Maguire is a practical politician, but I want to refer him to something that interested me in this morning's press, where it said that a great fraternity was going to take up the cudgels and fight for purity in politics, as far as the vilification of candidates was concerned. I believe that if that great fraternity promulgates that it will have done one of the finest things that has ever been done in political life. It said, as I recall, that many people would hesitate and have hesitated to run for office because of the liberty given for personal abuse and attacks. Now, I do not know that Mr. Maguire is an exception. I believe he is as vulnerable as any of those who have preceded him. I believe he is as vulnerable as the former and present mayors of Boston. I believe he is as vulnerable as any member of this Council, and I do not believe that it is necessary for him, in order to have an efficient administration of his office, to attack all of those that had anything to do with it prior to his succeeding to the office. I do not assume that he himself is going to be there forever, and I do not believe he would care to subscribe to the program that whoever shall succeed him shall show that everything that he did was for a wrong motive. I know that these feeders are being used in institutions. I know that they are being used in industrial buildings. I know that they are being used in private homes. Personally, I have had that sort of thing in view to add to the heating of my own property. I do not know that I shall use it. An argument for it has been that it is automatic, and that the fuel used is much cheaper than that you would have to feed yourself with a shovel. If I had no other reason to be against this proposition at the present time, I would be against it on account of the arguments that have been made. All of us may be accused at times of playing politics, but if the present Institutions Commissioner is playing politics as a profession, then I submit that his attitude is entirely unprofessional. If he is playing politics as a game, then I submit, sir, that his attitude has been at least very unsportsmanlike, and for those reasons, briefly, Mr. President, I must be against the proposition at the present time.

Coun. WILSON—In order that the record perhaps may be clear on both sides of the question, I think it should be pointed out that some of us, including myself, or perhaps myself alone, are laboring under the impression that Mr. Maguire the present commissioner, made no attempt to discredit his predecessor. Naturally he is in the position now, holding the job of commissioner of that department, of indirectly attacking his predecessor, who he apparently feels left him at the very outset of the job with some pulverizing units and boilers that had cost from $150,000 to $180,000, at the Long Island Hospital, which had broken down. Mr. Maguire was very firm in his belief that it was a positive danger and a horrible situation to leave those pulverizing units and those boilers in their present condition down at that institution. It is not a question of politics at the present time, because he told the Committee on Appropriations as long ago as the 16th of April in this room that he would be in here to ask the privilege of replacing that outfit; that it was experimental; that it never should have been allowed there, and that he failed to find that either the visiting staff or the chief engineer was so much as asked with reference to his opinion on the installation of this expensive outfit. He assured us today, and I have no reason to doubt his word, that he is corroborated in his belief by Guy Emerson, engineer of the Finance Commission; by James J. Mahar, of the School Department, who refused to accept a similar outfit in the schools of the city, by Miller and Smith, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and by Manning of the Hospital Department. Apparently it seems to be almost the unanimous sentiment, even of such a merchandise establishment as Filene's, which I am informed put them in and took them out within a very short period of time, that these units are not only unsafe but are much more expensive than the outfit which Mr. Maguire asks to be provided with this money. It does occur to me—and I am constrained to agree with Mr. Maguire to this extent—that it is unfortunate that $72,000 of the taxpayers' money should within one year, so far as experts are able to determine, prove to be an absolute waste in that particular department. It is unfortunate that the taxpayers, without there being a consultation with engineers who know their business, should be stuck $72,000, and I think it is with that in mind, rather than for the purpose of an attack on his predecessor, that the present man who holds that office refuses, in the word of the street, "to hold the bag," and he in very plain words advised this Council in Executive Committee that so far as he was concerned he refused to accept the responsibility, as a safety proposition, of leaving these pulverizing units down at the island, and he would rather see the city recognize its loss of $72,000 than jeopardize the lives and safety of the unfortunate who are down there. The excellent suggestion has been made that if pulverizing units were put in there which are not mechanically perfect, proper action should be taken through the Corporation Counsel to recover some of that money for the city. I understand the councilor on my right has an order in mind along that line. However that may be, and whether or not we may be able to salvage something from this $72,000 wreckage, it does appear that on the testimony of those experts, and on the request of the present commissioner, we should not flirt with death, but should vote to pass this order.

Coun. BUSH—I recall that when Commissioner Kinney appeared before the committee with reference to the installation of the power plant on Long Island he at that time stated that these particular units would save money for the City of Boston, and they were more efficient than the old system. The City Councilors are not engineers. They are perforce compelled to take the information that is given them by city engineers, by department heads, by commissioners, and must be guided more or less by that information as they receive it. The Council acted on the information of the commissioner, who was then the head of the Institutions Department, and passed a loan order for the power plant. The Council had nothing to do with the details of the purchase of the various units and could not know whether these particular units were efficient or not, except from information which they received from engineers employed by the city and by the department heads. We are now faced with the situation of a new department head taking office, making an investigation of his department and finding, in his opinion, a situation for which he does not wish to accept responsibility. He finds these units that were placed there by his predecessor are not only inefficient, are not only not working as they were expected to work, but finds that they are more expensive to the city and, that which is much more important, finds that they are unsafe. Could anyone who listened to the commissioner in the executive session doubt his sincerity? Could anyone doubt the emphasis of his remarks? Could anyone doubt that he takes his position and responsibility with a great deal of seriousness? The commissioner stated there that he had consulted Guy Emerson, the engineer for the Finance Commission, and that Guy Emerson agreed that the units were impractical and unsafe. He tells us that Mr. Mahar, the engineer in the Schoolhouse Department, refused to accept those units because he thought they were unsafe for the school children in the schools. He tells us that Professor Miller stated that they were impractical and he asserts that from this information he has received it is his own belief that there may be a possibility that the great incandescence and heat generated by these particular units may cause an unsafe condition in the boilers to an extent which may bring injury to some of the patients at the hospital. Is there any man here in this Council who would care to accept the responsibility of refusing to vote for this order, in the face of such a contingency, no matter how remote it may be, in the face of a contingency that at some time or other one of those boilers may explode and cause injury and death to the inmates at that institution? I cannot believe that any man in this room would care to accept such a responsibility. I for one am not willing to accept it. I believe with the commissioner that if such a condition is discovered, there is no excuse and no alibi for not remedying it immediately, and to delay the passage of this order would be the greatest mistake.

Coun. NORTON—Mr. Chairman, it is unfortunate that in our executive meeting the Chairman of the Board that came there was, to say the least, undiplomatic. I agree with my colleague from the Back Bay that the charitable way of looking at that is that it was due to physiological effect, which was very apparent to the members present. I do not believe the Commissioner wished to leave the impression that he did leave among certain members of this body. I do not believe it was necessary for him to have gone into the question of integrity regarding his predecessors. This whole matter of what kind of a stoker is the proper kind is one that has the steam world, the thermo-dynamic world in a state of upheaval today. At the Copley-Plaza Hotel they have tried out one form and changed. At the new Manger Hotel there is a great controversy on now as to what will be the permanent installation of boilers. At the hotel here opposite the Public Garden, the Ritz, they have the very same thing; there is a great question on as regards automatic oil units, and as regards the boiler itself. I have had the proposition for a number of years of an engineer saying, "Unless you change these pulverizing units you will blow up the plant and kill somebody." What are you going to do? One man says one thing and another says the opposite. Well, there is no place in the world to repair with that argument but to go to the engineers. Go to the greatest engineer in this section of the country, if not of the whole country, Prof. Charles D. Miller, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and listen to his arguments. Go down to the Howells Technology Institute in New Jersey, and listen to theirs. It is just a question of the personal equation. Whom are we going to believe? Our commissioner, who has 1,500 people in his care down there on the island, thinks that the boilers are liable to go bad, and says that he will not assume responsibility unless we give him this change, and under those conditions I see no other way to do but to give it to him. I fully concur with the previous councilor that it is a highly argumentative matter just what is the proper type of boiler. For five years we have been trying to decide that question at the Commonwealth Pier, and are as far off now as ever. But under the circumstances, when the commissioner feels that these boilers are liable to go bad unless we install a new system, what is there to do? Who wants to assume the responsibility of leaving 1,500 unfortunates on a cold night without heat? I surely do not, and I surely am against the proposition of spending $75,000 for something that was unnecessary or would appear to be so a year ago. It is unfortunate, but it is one of those things that we must expect every so often. Therefore, Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of the passage of this order asking for new equipment at the Long Island Hospital.

Coun. HEIN—Mr. President, I do not feel that want to jeopardize the lives of the children at Long Island Hospital or the adult patients there. The commissioner stated the boilers were passed twice a year by the State Inspectors, and the only reason they aren't safe is in case the water gets low. They have no means of getting water in there. I asked the commissioner why we could not get light and power from the Edison Company. He said it would cost considerable money, but how much he doesn't know. Now, they have been experimenting down there on boilers for quite a while. As the councilor just said, they put them in the Copley-Plaza, at the Ritz and even on Commonwealth Pier. When are they going to stop experimenting with boilers around the City of Boston, I would like to know.

Coun. McGRATH—Mr. President, I know this debate has taken considerable time, and I do not want to inject myself into it except to stress a couple of features as they strike me. If the question was the goodfellowship of the past commissioner, Mr. Kinney, I for one would not vote against him. I enjoyed his hospitality, and he was a splendid fellow, and in or out of office he is just as good a fellow. I do not think that has any place here, whether the present commissioner or someone else referred to it. I have in mind this thought, however, that if there is anybody that wants information on this, there is nothing to prevent our taking a roll call on it at this time, and under our laws it must wait over two weeks, and the next time it comes up for roll call, anybody who has any objection can then rise and debate it on the floor, and if necessary the order could be defeated later on. However, I just want to stress this point, from a practical standpoint. I say this to you, Mr. President, and to the gentlemen in this body who represent wards such as I do, that this will be an issue in the next campaign. You are not voting on whether this present condition that obtains is good or bad. You have been asked by a commissioner, who went in to the most courageous man we have had in years, to the Mayor, and the Mayor has sent him up here, and he has brought this animal up to the doorsteps of this Council. You are now asked today to vote for the protection of the lives of 1,500 inmates of that institution, and you are voting whether you will give protection or whether you will deny protection. You are not an expert, neither am I, and neither is any man here. Experts have said that the condition that obtains is bad, experts say the lives of those people are in danger, and I do not want one drop of their blood on my hands, sir, and if there is a man in this Council courageous enough to assume the responsibility when the roll is called, I want to see him vote against it.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I feel that I should get up here now and explain the vote that I am about to make, especially as long as my predecessor from Dorchester, the previous speaker, has made the statements which he has. There is no person that will vote in favor of legislation that will benefit the city any quicker than I, but at the same time I hesitate to take $50,000 and I hesitate to junk $72,000 worth of machinery that the taxpayers of Boston have paid for, which has only been operating three months, and then install a $50,000 plant, costing the city $122,000, when there are men that say the plant that is there is O. K., and when there are men that say the plant that is there is not O. K. I have heard but one man, and that is the commissioner at Long Island, Mr. Maguire, who says it is not O. K. But he is not an expert on machinery, and neither am I. I feel that I want to explain my vote. I will never jeopardize the life or limb of a person or individual in a hospital, and do not let anybody say that against the councilor from Ward 15 because I vote against it. I am voting against it to protect the taxpayers in Dorchester who sent me in here to try to keep the tax rate down. I object strenuously to spending $50,000 and junking $72,000 worth of machinery that has been operating but three months, on the say so, to me at least, of one man. Now, perhaps the gentlemen who have been in the Council longer than I have more information on this subject, perhaps experts have explained it to them, and perhaps they have not, but no expert in the City Hall at any time has explained to me any danger that would come out of leaving this present $72,000 worth of machinery intact at Long Island, and I feel that before I vote away $122,000 of the taxpayers' money of the City of Boston I should have some information on it, and I sincerely hope this order will not pass.

Coun. RUBY—Mr. President, I hope that every man in this body has at some time visited Long Island, and I hope that the members of this body in their visits to Long Island have seen the construction and erection and present use of over $1,000,000 of new property which was under discussion in this very body three years ago. I voted to spend that money at Long Island because I felt at that time that the expenditure of that money was necessary for the proper care and custody of the men, women and children who are unfortunately confined in that part of Boston. None of us who voted for that needs to explain his vote at this time. I have the highest regard for those who had charge of the inmates at Long Island under the previous administration, and I think no explanation by us of them is necessary. We are now confronted with a proposition. We were told, not today, but when the Institutions Commissioner was requested by the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations to appear before our Committee on Appropriations last May or June, not with reference to this proposition but with reference to his budget for 1930, that there was a certain amount of money not included in the budget, $50,000 or $60,000, which he would, of necessity, be compelled to ask of this body within the next few months. I do not want to differ with the Institutions Commissioner, or with any department head entrusted with the performance of his duty. He has appeared before his Honor the Mayor, and this matter has been put before his Honor the Mayor, and there is not an individual in this body but would say that at least in his opinion the Mayor has not authorized this order without some sort of investigation, and upon investigation, I assume, by the Mayor of Boston we are given this order for $50,000. Some of you folks, and I hope every member of this body, has seen, as I have seen, the unfortunate children that are at Long Island, and I am not stressing that to create sympathy on the part of any member of this body, but I have been through that institution and I have been through that institution when some of the members of this very body told me, when I saw old men sleeping in quarters next to a boiler room, that that was a manufactured situation for my benefit as well as for the benefit of other members of this body. But when I visited that institution, unknown to anyone that I was coming, and saw that situation, I was satisfied that that situation was caused because of the lack of facilities for the proper care and housing of the unfortunates in that institution. I have been to other institutions, I have been to private institutions, and I have always taken pride and pleasure when the unfortunates in the institutions that I have been able to visit are properly housed as they would be housed under the same conditions, were they under the care and custody of their sons or daughters, of their fathers or mothers. And that same situation ought to exist in Long Island, where the burden of taking care of the men, women and children is placed directly upon us, and can we say that for $50,000 we are going to postpone action because we have an axe to grind? Because, if it is not an axe to grind we are bound to pass this order. When every member of this Council voted for the $60,000,000 odd of money to be spent in this year's budget, we took the word of every department head that came before us. We did not call any experts to tell us that the Public Works Department needed $2,000,000 or $3,000,000; we did not call any social service workers to tell us that the Overseers of the Poor or Soldiers' Relief Department would need over $3,000,000; we did not call any experts on the Park Department to tell us that all this money would be needed by the Park Department of the City of Boston, and now for the paltry sum of $50,000, which we are told we are accepting the responsibility for, I think it is unfair for those who feel inclined so to do, to vote against this order. It was in mind, Mr. President, that this meeting has been called especially for this purpose, and it has that additional significance, because if anything should happen the direct burden would be on us because we had adjourned our Council considerations until September 8. But the Mayor in his wisdom, in his sound judgment—and there is no person in this room that has a right to doubt it—called us together this afternoon for this specific purpose. Do we want to wait until there is a holocaust down there? Do we want to wait until something unforeseen happens down there, as has been the case in years past, when something happened before our eyes were opened? I call attention to that situation on Beach street a few years ago. No one anticipated that would happen, but it did happen on the Fourth of July one year, and then we woke up to the fact that those situations might occur again, and we try to correct it. We owe it to the people on Long Island, because we are obligated to them. They are in our care and custody. The Mayor has done everything he possibly can, so that this proposition is away from his door. The Institutions Commissioner has done everything he can, so it is away from his door. The burden is now on us, and if we do not want to take it we must say so; if we want to assume it, we must say so. I do not want to be bold enough to say that you have got to put this to a vote today, but it becomes necessary because under the law we cannot hope to pass this to a second reading until September 8. They ought to have heat down there by September 8; they ought to have a proper heating system, without any danger to any person there, by September 8. Instead of that, if we delay this until September 8 we cannot hope to give it to them, if we do, until October. The change in the heating system is going to take some time. The unfortunates there will be compelled to be without heat. I think we ought not to figure who is responsible for it. I dare say that if these boilers were properly approved when they were installed it covers everybody in back of it, the commissioner, and even those who installed them, because if we accepted them, or our departments accepted them, we covered them. But now we are told, regardless of what our personal feelings may be, that they are unsafe, and the Institutions Commissioner as well as the Mayor will not accept the burden. The burden is on us, and we ought not to delay it any longer.

Coun. GREEN—I move the previous question.

Coun. FITZGERALD—I second the motion.
President LYNCH—Councilor Green moves the previous question.

The question was taken and the motion agreed to.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege, to make a statement.

President LYNCH—Councilor Murray asks unanimous consent to make a statement. If there is no objection—

Coun. ARNOLD—If it is short, no.

President LYNCH—Councilor Murray may proceed.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I want to say on this order we are going to pass today, that I am the father of the largest family of any councilor in Boston, and I would not want a hair of their heads hurt by any catastrophe in our city. But in fairness to the other people of my district, I would like to know whether the previous commissioner is right in his judgment, or the present commissioner is right in his judgment. If there was a mistake made in the past, I believe we should wait and look into it. If the commissioner, as the councilor said, appeared before the Budget Committee and stated that he would come back in June, why didn't he come back in June? Then we would have had plenty of time to thresh it out. Why hustle this in now, and not give us a chance to debate it or see what is in back of the order? Why doesn't he go to the committee? There is where it should be threshed out. Every time there is an emergency we are asked to pass a loan order. What are they scared of? Why an emergency order? More emergency orders have come in this year than ever before.

The question came on the passage of the order. Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President LYNCH—Councilor Kelly asks unanimous consent to make a statement. Is there any objection? The Chair hearing none, the councilor may proceed.

Coun. KELLY—I did not feel I would be cut off from at least having a chance to answer this question. As my colleague from Dorchester says, this may mean the political future of any councilor, and I think it only fair that I should further justify my vote that I am going to give on this question by saying that I have investigated and found out that the state inspectors have O. K'd this plant costing the City of Boston $72,000 at Long Island. They have O. K'd it. No city inspector has run it down. Professor Miller or no authority on this technical subject was here today. It is just on the say-so of the commissioner who has been in office four months that we are asked to pass this order. If such an emergency existed, I ask him why didn't he present it three months and a half ago? Why did he allow the people at Long Island to remain in danger four months? What is he trying to do now? As my colleague from Dorchester says, he is trying to put us right in the bag. There is no question about it. He is trying—and that is the term he used in there—to put us in the bag. Let him not come here and attempt to pass through an emergency order, and try to say that we are refusing to protect the lives and safety of the public at Long Island. I just wanted to rise to make this statement, because I was shut off.

The question came on the passage of the order, and the clerk called the roll with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Bush, Curtis, Donovan, Englert, Fish, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Green, Lynch, McGrath, Norton, Power, Ruby, Wilson—14.

Nays—Coun. Arnold, Gleason, Hein, Kelly, Murray—5.

The order was rejected, fifteen votes being required.

Coun. WILSON—Mr. President, I move reconsideration, and ask that it be assigned to the next meeting of the Council.

The motion to reconsider was carried.

Coun. MURRAY—Mr. President, I would like to make a motion at this time that it be sent to the committee, so that we could then investigate it and bring in the people we want to get the information from. Then at the next meeting we may be satisfied to pass it.

Coun. KELLY—I second that motion.

President LYNCH—What is the motion again, councilor?

Coun. MURRAY—I make a motion that we refer it to its regular committee, so that we may then have a chance to go over it and find out the real right and wrong on both sides of the question.

President LYNCH—Councilor Murray moves the reference of the order to the Finance Committee.

The question was taken, and the Chair declared the motion lost.

Yeas—Coun. Arnold, Curtis, Gleason, Hein, Kelly, Murray—6.

Nays—Coun. Bush, Donovan, Englert, Fish, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Green, Lynch, McGrath, Norton, Power, Ruby, Wilson—13.

The motion was declared rejected.

The order was assigned to the next meeting, on motion of Coun. WILSON.

REMOVAL OF SUBWAY ENTRANCE, HAYMARKET SQUARE.

Coun. FITZGERALD offered the following:

Ordered, That the Transit Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the advisability of removing the present subway entrance at Haymarket square and erecting entrances to said subway on the sidewalks adjacent thereto.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

LOAN FOR COMMUNITY BUILDING, CHARLESTOWN HEIGHTS.

Coun. GREEN offered the following:

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commission, for the erection of a modern building, containing all-the-year-around shower baths, gymnasium, assembly hall, etc., on Charlestown Heights, the Breed's Hill of Revolutionary War days, to replace the present structure, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to Committee on Finance.

INVESTIGATION OF CONTRACT FOR INSTALLATION OF PULVERIZING UNITS, LONG ISLAND HOSPITAL.

Coun. NORTON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to investigate the contracts for the installation of the pulverizing units at the Long Island Hospital, with a view to taking such action as may be necessary, either criminally or civilly, against the contractor. Passed under suspension of the rule.

CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES BY HOLDERS OF TRACK FRANCHISE OR LICENSE, NEW CONGRESS STREET BRIDGE.

Coun. WILSON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be, and he hereby is, respectfully requested to refuse any claim made for any damages claimed by the holders of track franchise or license at the end of the new Congress Street Bridge, or in the alternative that such license be revoked.

Coun. WILSON—With reference to that order, I understand from sources which I consider should be believed, that an effort is being made by parties owning either property or privileges at the further side of the Congress Street Bridge to collect damages or alleged damages with reference to the construction of that bridge, and I have in mind the City Council minutes of November 13, 1928, and the hearings held by the Finance Committee of that year, of which Councilor Bush I believe was chairman, and of which I had the good fortune or misfortune to be a member. At that time the Finance Committee had a grave doubt with reference to reporting back a $800,000 loan order for the construction of the Congress Street Bridge. The chairman of the Finance Committee at that time, Councilor Bush of Roxbury, received a good deal of abuse in the newspapers and otherwise from the then Mayor, but he and the members of his committee, including myself, insisted that we felt there was a question with reference to the public policy of spending $800,000 for a new bridge, in view of the fact that we were given to understand that three weeks prior to the introduction of the $800,000 loan order in the City Council a spur track permit was given which would allow certain individuals to run a spur track flush across the South Boston end of the new $800,000 bridge. Various members of the Finance Committee at that time, including the chairman and myself, objected to the loan order on that basis, although some of us on the committee finally voted for the order on receiving assurance from the Board of Street Commissioners, or some source—my mind is a little indistinct on that at the present time—that there was an oral agreement at least between the owners of this license and the Board of Street Commissioners that they would use the spur track only during the night hours, and on the assurance being given the Finance Committee that it was a revocable license and could be revoked at any time. Having the history of that particular $800,000 loan order in mind, and having in mind the way in which a permit was given three weeks before we were asked to vote $800,000 for the bridge, it seems to me the height of poor business on the part of the owners of the spur track to now ask damages from the city for themselves, when the one real argument against the Congress Street Bridge was the very creation of the spur track at the end of the bridge. So I have introduced this order requesting the Mayor, with all earnestness, either to refuse any claim for damages by the owners or holders of this particular license, or to revoke the license itself.

Coun. NORTON—I heartily agree with my colleague from Dorchester in his remarks on the Congress Street Bridge spur track proposition. Many a man went into business in that section and lost a plenty because of noncooperation on the part of the railroad spur track element, and under the conditions that he illustrates I heartily favor his resolve.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONFIRMATION OF EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.

Coun. WILSON called up the names of Thomas J. Roche and Robert H. Homans, under Nos. 4 and 9 on the calendar, under unfinished business, as follows, viz.:

4. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor May 5, 1930, of Thomas J. Roche, to be a Constable.

9. Action on appointment submitted by the Mayor July 7, 1930, of Robert H. Homans, to be a Constable.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Hein and Arnold. Whole number of ballots, 12, yeas 12, and the appointments were confirmed.

LOAN ORDER FOR INSTALLATION OF NEW BOILER PLANT, LONG ISLAND HOSPITAL.

Coun. MURRAY offered the following:

Ordered, That the sum of fifty thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Institutions Commissioner, for the installation of a new boiler plant at Long Island Hospital, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Adjourned, at 5:13 p. m., on motion of Coun. KELLY, to meet on Monday, September 8, 1930, at 2 p. m.

MAYOR CURLEY ASKS POLICE TO HAVE "WELCOME" TAGS FOR VISITORS.

His Honor the Mayor, on August 22, forwarded the following communication to Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman, of the Boston Police Department:

MY DEAR MR. HULTMAN,—The indications are that between now and October 15 upwards of three million persons will visit Boston and I am extremely desirous that every courtesy be extended them.

The probability is that few, if any, of the visitors will be familiar with traffic regulations and undoubtedly many will innocently violate the same.

With a view to retaining the good will of those who visit Boston during the Tercentenary exercises I beg to suggest the advisability of having the Police Department adopt a "Welcome Visitor" tag, to be attached upon cars operated in violation of existing traffic regulations.

Atlantic City has been using the form of tag which I inclose for some years and apparently it meets the situation admirably.

Trusting that favorable consideration may be accorded this suggestion, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR CURLEY STARTS IMPROVING LIBRARY FACILITIES FOR BOSTON— TWO BRANCH EDIFICES TO BE ERECTED IN NEAR FUTURE AT COST OF $100,000 EACH—FOLLOWS OUT IDEA OF COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM OUT- LINED BY HIM AFTER STUDY WITH EXAMINING COMMITTEE.

Mayor Curley has approved sketches submitted by the Trustees of the Boston Public Library and work will soon start on two new branches. They are to cost $100,000 each, and are the first two units of the comprehensive system recommended by Mayor, then ex-Mayor, Curley, when he was a member of the Examining Committee of the Public Library, about two years ago. The whole program calls for the building of two other branches every year for nineteen more years. It is expected that these buildings will be adequate for the needs of Boston for another generation, at least, perhaps indefinitely.

In giving out the sketches, Mayor Curley said: "Boston will soon have the finest public library system, not only in the United States, but in the world. We already have one of the three great scholarly collections of books in the United States, the other two being in the Congressional Library at Washington and in New York. Our physical facilities, however, have not kept pace with the requirements of a great and growing city, and the program which is now being put into effect will correct this condition. The trustees, with the assistance of various departments in City Hall, have made a careful survey, in conformity with the recommendations of a recent Examining Committee, on which I had the honor to serve. I understand that plans have been matured for further expansion year by year. I have urged the trustees to use all possible haste, and am assured that the two structures will be ready for occupancy in the fall. There will be nothing better of the kind anywhere.

"It is a particular source of gratification to me that the trustees followed my suggestion and selected Ralph Adams Cram, of Cram and Ferguson, as architect for the first of the two buildings designed, the one at Parker Hill. Mr. Cram is the foremost architect, everything considered, in the world. The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York, will be but one of a series of noble monuments designed or supervised by him. This branch library is to be at the lower end of the municipal playground in Parker Hill. At the other end is the large Mission Church. I believe that the whole neighborhood will feel in many ways the effects of this little gem of architecture designed personally by Mr. Cram. It is not too much to say that this sets a new standard for small library construction.

"The architects of the other branch, the one at Mattapan, are Putnam and Cox, who designed the beautiful Kirstein Memorial branch in City Hall avenue. Their work is very well known throughout the United States, and the Amherst College buildings, which they designed, are considered splendid examples of American architecture at its best. Like the branch at Parker Hill, this Mattapan building will serve a large and growing population. When all our twenty branches are completed, Boston will be pointed to everywhere as having carried out the ideals which many persons have expressed, but which no city has ever carried out."

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF BRANCH LIBRARY IN PARKER HILL DISTRICT, ROXBURY, WORK ON WHICH HAS BEEN STARTED BY MAYOR CURLEY.

ANOTHER TYPE OF BRANCH LIBRARY BEING BUILT IN SUBURBS IN MAYOR CURLEY'S PLAN FOR COMPLETING SYSTEM FOR CITY.

PROSPERITY AT HAND IF PUBLIC WOULD START BUYING MOVEMENT, MAYOR CURLEY TELLS LABOR MEN DURING LUNCHEON ON LABOR DAY—PAYS GLOWING TRIBUTE TO ORGANIZED WORKERS FOR CONTRIBUTION TO BETTERMENT OF MANKIND.

At the luncheon tendered by the Mayor of Boston, Honorable James M. Curley, to the Boston Central Labor Union, Mayor Curley said in part as follows:

Mr. President, Honored Guests, Members of the Central Labor Union and Friends:

I am indebted to the Central Labor Union for a very great pleasure that has been mine today to sit beside Mr. Frye, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor. I have had a most enjoyable hour here reminiscing with him on the subject "There is nothing new under the sun," and I find that we have very, very much in common. I had occasion recently, as I told him, to visit Washington, with a view to enlisting the support of the Secretary of War to a program for the transfer to the City of Boston of Governor's Island in order that we might make it part of the East Boston Airport, thereby giving Boston the finest airport to be found on the Atlantic or Pacific Coast. And I told him that in my peregrinations around Washington I drifted into the office of the Secretary of War, and was greeted by him as one he seemed to have known for a long time.

He said to me, "I have been waiting for eighteen years to shake hands with you." He told me he was born on the Osage reservation in Oklahoma, and that he made his first trip to Washington in 1912; that he visited the Capitol, and some member of Congress from the South was assailing the Irish, Italians and the Jews. A member from Boston made a fiery speech in defence of these races, and this is what he said: The Secretary of War then proceeded to repeat the speech I made eighteen years ago. "You know," he said, "I had never been outside the Osage reservation, and I never could understand why there was any distinction between Americans. I knew Indians and Americans, but I never knew anything about Italians, Syrians, English or Irish strains. But after I heard you speak I made up my mind that I was Irish and was very proud of it." So I extended to him an invitation to come to Boston during the American Legion Convention.

I related this story to Mr. Frye, here on my right, and he said he was a friend of the Secretary of War, and a very interesting thing about him is that he is a descendant on one side from the De Lacey, on the other side from the Sarsfields. You may discuss great military leaders, Cæsar, Hannibal, Napoleon, Grant, General Washington, Robert E. Lee, or Stonewall Jackson, but never was there a warrior like Patrick Sarsfield of Ireland, so I anticipate we are going to have a very interesting time when he comes here.

In the course of the conversation he referred to the fact that on a visit during the war to Europe he had occasion to visit the wonderful libraries there, and he found the question of wages and industrial depression was not new in any sense of the word, but that it was a life subject for discussion 455 years before Christ came on earth. It is new to us, but it is not new in the life of the world.

Wealth Does Not Always Attract Real Friends.

There is one little story that I feel compelled to tell even though it may not be in order. I have not had an opportunity to tell it to my friend, but I will tell it to him and to you.

I had occasion while a member of Congress to win the friendship of the Republican junior senator from Massachusetts, the late Murray Crane. I suppose for a wealthy man Murray Crane was one of the most lonesome men in the entire United States of America. After all, while the common assumption is that wealth brings friends, it may bring admirers, and the curious, but it rarely brings worth-while friends. We became good friends and I traveled upon the same train back and forth with him between Boston and Washington a great deal.

After the first year, while a member of Congress, I commuted every Friday night to Boston, and every Sunday night to Washington, so that I might be home over the week end with Mrs. Curley and the children. The Washington climate did not agree with her health or that of the children. On one of the trips back to Washington I had been reading Guglielmo Ferrero's rise of the Italian civilization. This was in 1912. At that time Theodore Roosevelt was heading the Progressive movement and was a candidate against William Howard Taft for President, and it was feared he would wreck the party, which he did.

Crane said, "What are we going to do with this man Roosevelt?" I said, "It is interesting that you should ask that particular question, because Guglielmo Ferrero treats of a character that was identical with Roosevelt, the only difference is that his character lived 112 years before Christ, while Roosevelt was running against Taft 1912 years after Christ, but he was the same kind of character as Roosevelt. He was dynamic, energetic, inspiring, and forceful, and the strange thing about it was the old Gracchi that was in control of politics felt called upon to defeat this man, the prototype of Theodore Roosevelt. The platform of the opponent of the Gracchi was identical with that of Roosevelt, the return to the old standards of family life, the protest against sterility and the advocacy of larger families, and the reclamation of arid lands, and the recall of judicial decisions. It looked as though the opponent of the Gracchi was going to win. To prevent him from winning he was assassinated. I said to Senator Crane, "I will leave Ferrero's works with you, it may be the solution of Roosevelt." The interesting thing about it is this,—it was only about two weeks later that somebody attempted to assassinate Roosevelt at one of his rallies.

LABOR FORCED TO BEAR ECONOMIC BURDEN OF COUNTRY AND HAS STOOD AS BULWARK FOR JUSTICE AGAINST GREED AND BRUTALITY, MAYOR CURLEY TELLS WORKERS IN ADDRESS ON BOSTON COMMON. SEPTEMBER 1.

Today the hosts of organized labor assemble throughout America to review the past, consider the present and plan for the future.

The past is a story of struggle against superhuman odds, under circumstances which called for stout hearts, brilliant minds, unflinching courage, almost unending sacrifice and exceptional leadership. The full measure of the contribution of labor to the peace, patriotism and progress of America has never been accorded the tribute so richly deserved.

Without the contribution of organized labor the pledge of equal opportunity would be but empty substance and meaningless.

It has stood as a bulwark for justice against the greed and brutality of pelf, power and plunder fattening upon the women, children and men sweated in industry.

It has liberated the toiler from a condition bordering on serfdom and in bringing comfort, courage and cheer to the heavily laden, has awakened the conscience of the capitalist to a vision of duty that unfolded to him a truer appreciation of his stewardship and obligations as a citizen of America. It has combated with the hard-earned dollars of the toilers corrupt legislatures, venal judges and, upon many occasions, has not hesitated to face gunmen, police and military authorities in defense of principle, without regard to consequence.

The difficult problem to understand is the political action of the workers as a whole, organized and unorganized, when by acting as a unit it would be possible for them at all times to at least prevent the election to public office of men known to be hostile to what labor represents.

It is equally difficult to comprehend outspoken hostility to organized labor by anyone who works for a livelihood, yet these two paradoxes exist—but there is a prospect that ultimately they will, either as a matter of expediency or salvation, cease. Until such time as they do disappear, however, it is clearly the duty of every right-thinking American to study the glorious history and fruitful contribution that organized labor has made to the hope, health and happiness of America and Americans. The best index to the character and intelligence of a people and a nation is to be found not in wealth, but in the liberal and humane laws enacted to promote the health and happiness of the citizenship.

It is a singular anomaly that substantially every progressive measure upon federal or state statutes may be traced not to the home of culture or cash, but to that of the toiler.

To organized labor we owe the eight-hour day, Saturday half-holiday, Workmen's Compensation Act, Mothers' Aid and the saving wage, which has not only brought comfort, cheer and courage to the worker and his family, but prosperity to America.

During the World War the representatives of organized labor were welcome guests at the National Capitol, where their aid, advice and activities were needed to combat communism and sabotage.

The history of the past is glorious and constitutes a challenge to the present that may well tax the time, talent and thought of the present and future.

The present industrial depression is today engaging the attention of leaders in every walk of life who seek a solution for the problem of unemployment of more than three millions of men, notwithstanding the fact that America is the richest nation in the world.

Various reasons have been assigned for present day depression,—overproduction in agriculture and other commodities, the replacement of man labor by machines, the failure of capital to assume its share of the burden, but the fact remains that the condition of the unemployed constitutes a menace to the continuance of orderly government and correctional measures should be speedily applied.

Prior to the establishment of chain banking and chain grocery and provision store systems a period of depression was more alarming to the corner grocery or provision dealer than to the unemployed. The corner grocer or provision dealer was the good Samaritan in the past and the only requisite necessary to tide a family over a period of depression was the character and needs of the individual.

The local banks, prior to the creation of the chain system, in turn tided over the grocery or provision dealer, but this condition unhappily no longer exists.

The chain store demands cash and the chain bank demands endorsers, and, unfortunately, the unemployed can furnish neither cash nor endorsers, so that it may be truly said that the chain systems have unfortunately placed the unemployed in chains from which the only release is that which comes from work and wages.

Under the circumstances, the present and future of America are linked in an equitable solution of this all-important problem.

The picture has a bright side, however, due to the fact that all Americans are passengers upon the same ship and that what benefits even the most humble worker helps the largest employer.

The fallacy of reducing wages is today recognized and there is every indication that the hosts of labor will be shortly reinforced by economists and capitalists all interested in a program that will make for continuity of employment for the worker and prosperity for the nation.

Happiness in the home and prosperity in the land lie in a larger distribution of the wealth created in the form of high wages, shorter working day and week, and an end of the speeding up process which means seven months of prosperity and five months of misery.

Almighty God has been most generous to America, and ours is indeed a great heritage. Let us in our day give thought, not only to the present but to the future, so that succeeding generations in consequence of our efforts may not only revere our memory but give to our common country an even higher measure of devotion, based upon a broader and clearer conception of economic justice enjoyed in full measure.

SPEECH OF MAYOR CURLEY.

I met Senator Crane shortly afterwards, and I said to Murray Crane, "Isn't it strange how history repeats itself; there really isn't anything new under the sun." The only thing that is new is our failure to be governed in our every-day actions by the events responsible for present-day ills.

I don't know of anything that is more comparable to the present-day situation than the famine in Ireland in '47 and '67. Intelligent leaders in '67 anticipated a year in advance the famine. There had been a similar group in '46. In '47 there was a complete blight, yet while there was a complete blight they continued to ship out cereals and cattle, so when the potato crop failed the people died by hundreds of thousands on the roadside for the want of something to eat.

CONDITIONS FORESEEN BY STUDIOUS.

Anyone that is justified in being considered an economist or a student of social conditions could have seen the coming of the present industrial depression in America. During the period of the World War we so developed our agencies of production, and it was necessary for us to do so in order that the warring countries of Europe might be supplied with food, clothing, and everything needed to carry on the war, the result was that after the close of the war we had so developed our agencies of production that we were able to produce in seven months sufficient to take care of the needs of America for a full twelve-month period. We allowed the condition to continue and develop to what it is at the present hour.

It is an old saying of Scripture that "Out of evil cometh good," and out of the evil, misery, suffering and tears that have come to America as a consequence of the failure to adopt a reasonable and sane economic policy the probability is that public attention will be focused on the question of establishing a future economic policy in America that not only will we witness a reduction in the hours of labor but in the reduction of the number of working days in each week and without a corresponding reduction in the wages of the workers of America.

After all, as the guest of the day so well said at the Boston Common this morning, the real buying market for America in the future is not Europe, where the ferocity of competition is for actual existence, yes, life itself, but America. The seventeen hundred odd American branch concerns located in Europe, conducting their enterprises along lines of mass production, brings America in export trade back to identically the same position held twenty-five or thirty years ago when the only commodities exported were the raw materials. In other words, we will not export manufactured products to Europe.

CONSUMING FORCE DENIED ENTRANCE.

We have restricted immigration; we have shut out a prospective consuming force from the rest of the world to America. Being shut in their home countries they produce materials at starvation wages in competition with the productions of the workers in America who are paid an American wage, and thus the product of the women and the children, sweated in industry, and the products of convict labor are in competition with American labor and American wages. I am inclined to believe that before this year is terminated you will find this singular condition existing in America — you will find the wealthy capitalist, the educator, the leaders of religious thought, the representative of every faith in America, joining hands with organized labor in the development of an economic program which will make for stability, for security, for serenity, — that will make for a worthwhile future for the United States of America.

HAPPY TO WELCOME CONVENTION.

There is no one who has more occasion to be happy that organized labor convenes here this year than myself, for, after all, every great movement, so far as America has been concerned, and substantially every great movement, so far as humanity itself has been concerned, has had its origin in the City of Boston. With these two great organizations, the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor, convening here this year — the one which, in the hour of the nation's travail, made possible the preservation of the rights of man, the American Legion, and the other, which has been such a contributing force to a program which has tended to make a reality out of the theory of equality, of opportunity, namely, organized labor. There is certainly great glory in being permitted to serve as Mayor of the city during the year when these two great organizations come here, and possibly have the opportunity of presenting a thought or two in the solution of the problems which affect in such a tremendous measure the well being and happiness of the worker and employer in America. Because, after all, we are all in the same boat. We may have been sailing in our dreams during the wild times of 1929 — on the Leviathan — but in the last eight months we have been in a pretty leaky boat, and the capitalist who has been pulling the plug is beginning to realize he must take an oar or the craft is going to sink.

While I do not claim any particular credit, I want to say that perhaps we are a little better off here in Boston than in any other city in the entire United States so far as employment is concerned. True, we had to raise the taxes, but we raised the taxes in order that those who are innocent factors of an industrial economic condition for which they are not responsible will not suffer too greatly because of that condition.

PROVIDED WORK FOR NEEDY.

I had occasion to entertain two or three weeks ago the head of one of the leading hotels in Detroit. We stood at the window of the Mayor's office, looking out into Province street, which is a pretty busy little street, and he said, "It is a real joy to look out the window and see signs of prosperity and signs of happiness." He said, "For the last eight months I have looked out of the window of my hotel at eight o'clock in the morning when I came to report for work and I saw a line four abreast and of no less than three hundred feet in length, containing men and women, many of whom had stood there from three o'clock in the morning, waiting to get a bowl of soup or a piece of bread." This is the fact in some foreign countries. This is so in America; this is so in the heart of industrial America — in Detroit. We have in a measure anticipated the present depression and this condition does not exist in Boston because we provided public works and made provision for the needy, and we are going to continue to do so until conditions improve.

Your presiding officer has made some reference to the lack of cooperation by the Legislature. I do not feel justified in condemning the members of the Legislature, were it not for the fact that perhaps they did not have quite the same viewpoint with reference to the necessity of the case that I did myself. I applied in January for authority to spend ten millions of dollars for street construction and two millions of dollars for street widenings. I asked for fifteen million dollars for school construction program and three million one hundred thousand dollars for the Governor Square Subway extension, or somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty-eight millions, in addition to sixteen millions that we are going to spend for the East Boston Tunnel — a total of forty-four million dollars, a sum greater by thirty million dollars than ever previously expended in the history of the city.

The Legislature did not give me what I wanted. They cut down the street program to seven million dollars and made provision that a certain portion of this sum should come out of taxes, when it should all have been borrowed. Upon the school program they gave me seven and one half millions of dollars — one half of what I asked for. The point is this, — that the bills filed in January did not come out of the committee to receive the approval of the Governor until the last part of May or almost the first part of June.

Giving authority to appropriate the money or do the work does not mean that you can place men at work immediately. We have had the authority for three months to build the tunnel, but we have not proceeded further than to take the borings, so that we may be said to be in the blueprint stage of our construction program, and we will not be beyond the blueprint stage until December, so that in the event the depression continues we will have opportunity to employ many hundreds of men during the entire winter on the East Boston Tunnel.

On the matter of the Commonwealth avenue extension job, we obtained the authorization about the first of June and on the first of July we had a hundred and thirty men at work, then we decided upon two eight-hour shifts, making it possible to employ twice as many men, and two hundred and sixty men were working before the first of September. If the depression continues, we may establish three eight-hour shifts, working twenty-four hours a day and giving employment only to veterans of the World War, citizens of the United States of America.

COOPERATION OF LARGE EMPLOYERS.

With regard to the school construction program we are hardly beyond the blueprint stages, for advertisements have only been placed for no more than five hundred thousands of dollars of the work, for which seven and one half million dollars has been authorized. In December we will be beyond the blueprint stages due to the fact that I served an apprenticeship, having had experience as Mayor in years past, while in most of the other cities in America the men in authority have not served such an apprenticeship. It takes here ten months to get beyond the blueprint stages in Boston; it will take other cities a year and a half or longer.

I believe the President of the United States was absolutely sincere when he called for cooperation on the part of the large employers of America, but I do not believe they were honest with him when they promised cooperation. Certainly there has been scant evidence of it. I do not believe the President of the United States intended to deceive the American people with reference to the Federal Government giving relief in America for the unemployment situation. It was announced that the Congress of the United States would provide $520,000,000 construction program. The anticipation and belief was that the entire $520,000,000, would be expended in the present crisis to relieve the industrial depression. The facts disclose that the $520,000,000 is staggered over a period of ten years. With the existing conditions, $520,000,000 expended over a period of ten years does not mean anything in a crisis like the present one.

I had occasion recently in a radio talk at the WNAC studio to make reference to the failure of the President of the United States to carry out the promise made to the American people as understood by myself as an ordinary American citizen, and I was rather pleased to read on Friday that the echo had been heard in Washington, and that the President had called a meeting of his advisers with a view to establishing a program for the spending of $520,000,000 now rather than to stagger it over a period of ten years.

SHED PSYCHOLOGY OF FEAR.

What is true of the building construction program is equally true of the Mississippi river project. It calls for an expenditure in excess of two billion dollars. They have not proposed spending it this year; they propose staggering it over a period of twenty-five years. If they start working tomorrow on the major Mississippi river program, as they should, opportunity will be offered for employment for more than three hundred thousand railroad workers that have been laid off at the expense of maintaining dividends. The steamship companies will become prosperous. The basic industries of America—steel, lumber and cement—will find an outlet for their production.

The silver lining to the industrial cloud in America lies in the fact that there are few lines of trade that have sufficient supplies to meet a buying movement which would last for seven days. If every person who is working in America would shed the psychology of fear tomorrow and spend twenty dollars for household goods or for personal needs, would buy a new hat, a suit of clothes, or a pair of shoes, or buy an overcoat, within one week the shelves of every retail establishment in America would be empty, and the mills in America would be compelled to start work and overnight we would have prosperity. I am not thinking altogether of immediate prosperity but rather of the future preparedness which should provide opportunity for employment of labor and continued prosperity. How we can guard against a program that is destructive to America and the home and the individual man is our problem, and which threatens, unless checked, the very foundations of the finest government ever reared, the United States of America.

BOSTON CENTRAL LABOR UNION * HEAD PAYS TRIBUTE TO MAYOR CURLEY.

Nathan Sidd, the President of the Boston Central Labor Union, at the exercises held at the Bradford Hotel,

September 1, 1930, paid the following tribute to his Honor the Mayor:

I would feel remiss in my duty if I did not say a few words of praise of the city administration by his Honor the Mayor. Perhaps the majority of you folks here do not realize how much Mayor Curley has done for the labor movement generally and for the Massachusetts organization and the Boston Central Labor movement in particular. You may not realize that the Mayor is handicapped oftentimes by the Legislature at the State House which has a Republican majority. When he presents a bill at the State House in behalf of the people of the city he is oftentimes given a great deal less than what he seeks.

When he presented the bill to promote the work of conventions and public meetings in Boston during the present year he was only given authority to spend half the amount of money he deemed necessary. Nevertheless, he has been most generous of his treatment of the Boston Central Labor Union and has given it more consideration than ever given the organization by any other mayor that Boston has ever had. Not only has he supplied funds when needed but he has taken care of organized labor in every particular.

I am not making a political speech, as he is not a candidate for office, but I want the labor movement to know that when the City of Boston was about to enter into a contract with the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for the installation of power, which would necessitate the laying off of a number of engineers and firemen, a committee of the Boston Central Labor Union called on the Mayor and laid their cards on the table and told what the labor movement wanted. After listening to the committee, the Mayor said, "I am with you and I will give you what you want."

This is something I wanted the members of our organization to know because I do not think I had an opportunity to present a report on this matter to the organization before now. Since I have been elected president I want to say that I received the hearty cooperation of the Mayor in every instance. He has done more work and granted more favors to the Central Labor Union than any other public official who has held office in the City of Boston or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

DISTINGUISHED NEW BRUNSWICK OFFICIALS TO BE BOSTON'S GUESTS.

Mayor Curley, on September 2, received a communication from Government House, Rothesay, New Brunswick, stating that Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of New Brunswick, Major-General the Honorable Hugh Havelock McLean, K. C., V. D., LL.D., had accepted an invitation from the City of Boston to participate in the Boston Towne Meeting and Reception to His Worship Reuben Salter, Mayor of Boston, England, on Tuesday, September 16, 1930, at 7.30 in the evening, in the Boston Garden.

QUINCY THANKS BOSTON FOR FIRE AID.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from Mayor Thomas J. McGrath of Quincy, dated August 30, 1930:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,— Please accept my sincere thanks for your generosity in sending Boston firemen to Quincy yesterday. This courtesy was much appreciated and I am simply voicing the feelings of Quincy people in sending the message of thanks to you.

Sincerely yours,

THOMAS J. McGRATH.

$53,000 COLLECTED FOR TERCENTENARY FUND.

George S. Mumford, treasurer of the Tercentenary Funds Committee, reports that $53,000 has been collected. It has been agreed that $40,000 of this amount be forwarded at once to the City Treasurer to be used in the Tercentenary and Public Celebrations funds, to meet immediate obligations; that the remaining $13,000 be held by Mr. Mumford pending action by the state with reference to the distribution of money made available by the state for Tercentenary observances.

It is agreed that in the event that the state reimburses the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary Association, Incorporated, and the Conference of Cities and Towns that the balance of $13,000, with such other funds as may be collected, will be turned over to the City Treasurer. In the event, however, that the state fails to do this it is agreed that 15 per cent of the total amount collected be turned over to the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary Association, Incorporated, and that 10 per cent of the funds collected be turned over to the Conference of Cities and Towns.

SONS OF VETERANS THANK MAYOR FOR INTEREST.

Mayor Curley, on September 2, received the following communication from Frank L. Kirchgassner, 20 Paul Gore street, Jamaica Plain, sent from Hotel Metropole, Cincinnati, Ohio:

HONORED SIR,—Just a few lines from the G. A. R. encampment at Cincinnati and the part played by the Sons of Veterans.

I think it was mighty fine of you to send a message to our encampment and to give badges to our officers.

We tried to carry out the Tercentenary idea on our "stunt night." This is an annual event, when each state puts on a stunt, and this year we had a prize offered for the best one. Massachusetts was awarded the prize, and we are bringing home a loving cup for our Boston headquarters.

Brother Anderson will no doubt describe in detail how we depicted the scene of the Indians meeting and welcoming the Pilgrims to Massachusetts Bay.

I hope arrangements will be made when we get back to have you see the cup and also the group picture which we hope will appear in some local paper.

Very truly yours,
FRANK L. KIRCHGASSNER.

SAFE DRIVING.

Most cities and towns have a long list of "don't's" but do little to educate the drivers of cars. If one half the time that is used trying to make people do something or not to do something was spent in educating the drivers much better results would be obtained. We need drivers' schools and the city or town that first starts such a school will be doing a real service.

BOSTON BUSINESS CONDITIONS REFLECTED IN DECREASE IN BUILDING OPERATIONS FOR PAST EIGHT MONTHS—DROP OF MORE THAN 50 PER CENT SHOWN.

CHANGING STREET NAMES.

Alteration in the names of streets seems to be on the increase in the United States. In most cases the reasons for it are inadequate, while changes that would actually make for clearness remain unmade. The reason for change would usually seem to be general patriotism, national or local, as where the name of some prominent person is given to a street. During the war German names were largely discarded, as where Berlin avenue in St. Louis became Pershing avenue. In the height of President Wilson's popularity abroad, Wilson avenues sprang up all over the allied countries. Later, disappointment or dissatisfaction caused many of these to be changed again.

AIRPORTS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The number of airports in the country continues to grow steadily, and the listing compiled by the Department of Commerce showed 1,520 airports in operation on October 2 of this year. Of these, 442 were municipal airports, and 468 were privately owned and operated. The rest included army fields, naval air stations, Department of Commerce intermediate fields, marked auxiliary fields and miscellaneous others. As will be noted, the municipal airports comprise 29 per cent of the total number now in use in the country. The fact that 442 cities of various sizes have indicated their interest by investing substantial funds in the purchase of property and construction of these airports illustrates the stability of aviation today. As indicative of the volume of traffic already in evidence at municipal airports, it might be noted that in a recent representative week the Des Moines airport showed 88 airplanes arriving and 86 leaving. Oakland, California, showed 55 arriving, 52 leaving; while the Tulsa, Oklahoma, airport showed 272 arriving and 265 leaving. These figures are constantly increasing, and they show that the city airport is already being used.

PORT OF BOSTON.

Boston Harbor comprises an area of about 47 square miles (exclusive of the islands), including all the expanse of tidewater within a straight line from Point Allerton to Point Shirley and extending therefrom to the mainland. It is the best of natural harbors, near open sea, sheltered and spacious for anchorage; main ship channel 35 feet in depth at mean low water, increasing to 40 feet from President Roads to open sea; new dredging operations in charge of United States engineers are under way for increasing depth of said main channel to 40 feet; waterfront (i. e., lineal pier space) 40 miles, 6 miles fronting on 30 feet depth at low water.

Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, 1,200 feet long, 400 feet wide, accommodating five 600-foot ships at one time, 40 feet depth at mean low water on both sides, with three 2-story fireproof buildings of steel and concrete construction, containing 900,000 square feet of floor space, total cost of this enterprise to State, $4,500,000. Commonwealth Pier No. 6, South Boston (Fish Pier), buildings on same erected by lessee, Boston Fish Market Corporation, cost to State, $1,487,361. Commonwealth Pier, No. 1, East Boston, 900 feet long, costing State $764,600 for site and $426,674 for construction. New dry dock at South Boston (probably the largest in world), completed in 1919, 1,200 feet long and 120 wide, costing $3,169,651 and taken by United States Government at total cost.

Islands in Boston Harbor over 3 acres in area, 17, with total area of 965 acres; Long Island the largest, or 215.5 acres. Owned by United States, 392 acres; by City of Boston, 334 acres. Number of wharves, 143, of which eight are owned by the city.

There are 38 foreign steamship lines with regular sailings to and from Boston, ten coastwise lines and three intercoastal. In 1915 a revision of the harbor lines was made and the project undertaken whereby 600 acres of flats between Governor's Island and Jeffries Pt. will be filled in and used for extensive commercial developments under State control. About 175 acres of flats have recently been filled in and added to the land area of East Boston and 160 acres to that of South Boston.

In April, 1918, the Government decided to establish its Army Supply Base on a portion of the Commonwealth lands in South Boston. About 57.6 acres were purchased of the State, the price being $1,317,510, soon followed by the construction of two pier sheds, each 920 feet long, a wharf shed and other buildings, including one of the largest storehouses in the world, built of reinforced concrete, eight stories high, 1,638 feet long, 126 feet wide and with floor space of over 1,650,000 square feet. The total outlay for the plant was $26,000,000.

Total expenditure by State for improvement of Boston Harbor $22,575,827 from 1859 to November 30, 1927, inclusive; in the same period, there was expended additionally $951,992 on small channels; total Federal expenditure from 1790 to June 30, 1927, $13,258,846.

FLAG DAYS.

By order of the City Council it is the duty of the City Messenger to have the national colors displayed upon the public flagstaffs on the following days:

Franklin's Birthday, January 17; Lincoln's Birthday, February 12; Washington's Birthday, February 22; Evacuation Day, March 17; Patriot's Day, April 19; Grant's Birthday, April 27; Memorial Day, May 30; Anniversary of Adoption of National Colors, June 14; Bunker Hill Day, June 17; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, September (first Monday); Anniversary of Founding of Boston, September 17; Columbus Day, October 12; Armistice Day, November 11.

THE COST OF DIPHTHERIA.

Diphtheria costs New York City over $5,000,000 annually, according to Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, Health Commissioner of New York, whose statement, given in a news release from the department, is based on the calculations of the value of the lives lost, the cost of hospital care, and the expense of caring for patients in their homes.

Last year the loss occasioned by diphtheria in New York City was as follows:

Value of 642 human lives lost.....	$4,575,000
Cost of hospital care for 2,976 cases in the Contagious Disease Hospitals.....	391,000
Cost of caring for 7,800 cases in private homes.....	273,000
	$5,139,000

As against an annual economic loss of over $5,000,000 a year it is stated that an expenditure of less than 10 per cent of this sum will suffice to wipe out diphtheria and thus save the community $4,500,000 annually.

Figures by the New York City Department of Health show that thus far this year over 25,000 children have been immunized against diphtheria, nearly 12,000 having been protected by private physicians. The growing interest on the part of parents is well shown in the steady increase in the number of children immunized, which increased from 555 in the first week of the present campaign to 4,702 during the first week in April, or almost ninefold.

MUNICIPALITY TAKES OVER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AIRPORT.

Oklahoma City has voted $425,000 in bonds for the enlargement and improvement of its municipal airport. The Aviation Committee of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce has operated the airport for the past four years and was largely instrumental in putting over the bond-issue campaign. The port will in the future be operated by the city as a strictly municipal project.

When completed, the new field will comprise 360 acres and will meet all of the qualifications for an A 1A airport as set forth by the United States Department of Commerce.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS REDUCE BALTIMORE TRAFFIC TOLL.

An analysis of traffic accidents at street intersections in Baltimore indicates that the automatic traffic signal is proving very effective in reducing the number of such accidents.

There were 419 traffic accidents at all intersections covered in the report issued by the Baltimore Safety Council for the first six months of 1927, before the signals were installed. In direct contrast, only 259 such accidents were recorded for the first six months of this year, with the signals in operation.

The casualties were: one person killed and 129 injured before the installation of the signals, as compared with two killed but only 92 injured after. A reduction in the number of accidents was reported at thirty-two intersections, following the installation of the signals, while seventeen other intersections have shown little or no change as yet, and ten actually have experienced an increase since the use of the signals.

THROUGH TRAFFIC STREETS.

Many a city government, confronted almost unawares by the ever-increasing traffic problem, has seized upon the "through street" idea as the least expensive sop to those who clamor for something to relieve the distress. This situation is reflected in many city traffic ordinances which give absolute right-of-way to vehicles on any of the "arterial highways" included in a long list, and which fail entirely to provide for stop requirements, signs, enforcement facilities, or public education. Unfortunately, traffic regulation is not so simple. It cannot be successfully accomplished by merely designating certain through streets.

Still, through streets are useful. Their successful application depends only on an understanding of what can and what cannot be expected of them, and on a realization of where they fit into the traffic control picture. Consider a street as it develops with the increasing traffic from a minor highway to a heavily traveled main thoroughfare. Traffic control will logically develop in successive steps something like these:

1. No control at all.
2. Slow or stop signs at isolated intersections.
3. Through streets with stop signs at every intersection.
4. Occasional automatic signals introduced where there is heavy cross traffic.
5. Complete flexible progressive signal control.
6. Grade separation at important intersecting streets.
7. Elevated or depressed roadway without intersecting streets.

NOTED MEN TO GREET BOSTON'S DISTINGUISHED TERCENTE- NARY GUESTS.

Thomas J. A. Johnson, Official Greeter for the City of Boston, and chairman of the Reception Committee to receive His Worship, Lord Mayor Reuben Salter, the Deputy Mayor, Councillor Arthur Bailey, Mrs. Arthur Bailey, Deputy Mayoress; Councillor James Tait, ex-Mayor; Mrs. James Tait, ex-Mayoress, and Councillor Jabez Holland Mountain, all of Boston, England, has completed tentative arrangements for the reception of the distinguished visitors.

It has been the purpose of Mr. Johnson to have an especially noted delegation from the Dominion of Canada present at the Tercentenary ceremonies of Boston Week, and invitations of Mayor Curley were extended, under the direction of Mr. Johnson, from Halifax to Vancouver.

It is the contention of Mr. Johnson that there was never a time in the history of this country when the relations between the Dominion of Canada and the United States were marked by such cordiality as in the present year, economically, commercially, industrially and socially, and that with an especially notable program, incidental to the observance of Boston Week, a most cordial invitation should be extended to the leaders of public life within the Dominion.

In speaking of the present intimate relationship between the Dominion of Canada and the United States, Mr. Johnson said:

"I believe that it is the duty of American citizens to do everything within their power to enhance the cordial relations existing between the United States and the Dominion of Canada. Canada, with its enormous resources, is at our very door, and yet we have no Reciprocity Treaty, although the Dominion of Canada enjoys a Reciprocity Agreement with Australia and New Zealand, which are over fourteen thousand miles away from us by the Suez Canal and about nine thousand miles by the Panama Canal. If a Reciprocity Agreement is an important factor in the extension of commercial and industrial relations between the Dominion of Canada and Australia and New Zealand, how vitally important it is that the United States should enjoy a similar Reciprocity Agreement with its nearest neighbor.

Thanks to the energy of Mr. Johnson, a distinguished list of guests will come to this city for the observance of Boston Day upon Tuesday, September 16. An especially cordial invitation has been extended to Honorable R. B. Bennett, the new Premier of the Dominion of Canada, at Ottawa.

The list of guests who will come to Boston comprise:

HEAD OF K. OF C. THANKS MAYOR CURLEY FOR CON- VENTION COURTESIES.

Mayor Curley, on September 2, received the following communication from Martin H. Carmody, Supreme Knight, Knights of Columbus, New Haven, Ct.

"It is a real pleasure to write you a word of appreciation for the many courtesies extended the Knights of Columbus by the City of Boston and your good self during our convention. I shall not attempt to mention the many kind attentions and expressions of hospitality constantly showered on the officers, delegates and visitors while guests in the City of Boston, but all is summarized in the unanimous opinion of those present that nothing was left undone to make their visit to Boston most enjoyable and long to be remembered.

Your presence at different functions and the geniality and warmth of your greetings brought to each and every one attending the convention that sense of personal welfare that nothing else could supply.

I desire especially to thank you for the splendid and eloquent message broadcasted to millions in the United States and Canada through the courtesy of Station WNAC and the Columbia network, which will, I am sure, be very helpful and heartening to our members everywhere.

Be assured that Boston has a warm place in the hearts of all who attended the convention, and it has full reason to be proud of the splendid spirit of hospitality so cordially manifested by all its citizens.

With assurance of warm personal regards and best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

MARTIN H. CARMODY,
Supreme Knight."

DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL TO FOUNDERS OF BOSTON TO FEATURE CITY'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION NEXT WEEK.—DISTINGUISHED GUESTS FROM EUROPE, CANADA AND AMERICA JOIN MAYOR CURLEY IN DEDICATION AND UNVEILING OF PANEL ON BEACON STREET MALL OF BOSTON COMMON.—VISITORS ALREADY FILLING CITY FOR EVENT.

SCULPTURED PANEL, ERECTED TO FOUNDERS OF BOSTON, UNVEILING OF WHICH IS TO FEATURE CITY'S 300TH ANNIVERSARY WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY. MEMORIAL STANDS ON SITE OF LAND OWNED BY WILLIAM BLAXTON, THE FIRST WHITE SETTLER.

One of the chief features of the celebration of Boston's birthday, September 17, will be the unveiling and dedication of the Memorial to the Founders, on Beacon Street Mall, Boston Common. For this event Mayor Curley and distinguished dignitaries from all parts of the United States, Canada and Europe have been invited and will take part. The memorial takes the form of a panel and spring, completed by John Francis Paramino, the Boston sculptor.

The panel shows, in a picturesque way, the first important act in the founding of Boston, in 1630 — the meeting of William Blaxton, first white settler in Boston, with Gov. John Winthrop.

Those who are familiar with the early history of Boston know that Governor Winthrop and his associates decided to found the capital of the Bay Colony of Massachusetts in Charlestown, but owing to a lack of an adequate supply of spring water there they decided to accept William Blaxton's invitation to settle on the opposite shore — now Boston — where there was plenty of good spring water.

And it is the first meeting of the pioneer settler, William Blaxton, with Governor Winthrop, on the shore of the harbor, which Mr. Paramino has immortalized in bronze in this panel, which is 12 feet 4 inches wide and 5 feet 5 inches high.

In the immediate foreground, in high relief, is shown a group consisting of William Blaxton on the left, touching hands with Governor Winthrop. (In those days they didn't shake hands.) Behind the Governor is Rev. John Wilson, with the Bible under his right arm, and beside the clergyman is the little Puritan maiden, Ann Pollard, first of her sex to set foot on the shores of Boston.

A little back of this group is seen the boatmen hauling up on the beach the two rowboats in which the Governor and his party came across from Charlestown, in front of which the "Arbella" lies at anchor with her sails partly furled. Beyond this group and in the immediate foreground again is a fine-looking young woman protected by a Puritan soldier, helmeted and carrying a spear. These two figures symbolize the motherhood of Boston and the military spirit which was necessary to guard and protect the interests of the new colony.

On the extreme left is a group of the friendly Algonquians who accompanied Blaxton, and which also symbolizes the friendship and helpfulness of these Indians toward the early settlers. These Indians did not wear the feathered headdress which was worn by the Western Indians. Beyond Charlestown and extending to the left, across the water, may be seen, in slight relief, a topographical outline of the country which later became Cambridge. Over the group of Indians are the branches of an oak tree. The branches of a pine shelter the woman and soldier. The historical accuracy of the scene is preserved even in the marsh grass on the shore.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"
From Boston Centennial Poem by NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

MAYOR CURLEY WELCOMES EMINENT VISITING JURISTS FROM ABROAD TO CITY AS THEY COME TO BOSTON AFTER INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION.—TENDERS THEM LUNCHEON IN FANEUIL HALL.

At the luncheon to delegates of foreign lawyers, on September 5, at Faneuil Hall, Mayor Curley said in part as follows:

Your Lordships, Your Honors, Ladies and Gentlemen:

This is certainly an unusual occasion. Jurists from England, France, the Irish Free State and Canada do us a great honor in visiting the City of Boston, particularly at a time when we are celebrating the Tercentenary of the birth of constitutional government on American soil, and, as Mayor of Boston, I take more than ordinary pleasure in welcoming you, your wives, and other members of your families, to this historic city. I know of no better way of cementing the various peoples on the earth into one great family, and of realizing the dream of Tennyson—that there shall be a federation of the world and a parliament of man—than to have those who are engaged in the pursuit of law meet one another from time to time, sit down at the same table, break bread with one another, and discuss questions of serious moment, the solution of which makes for the reign of law the world over, and for the attainment, perhaps in the remote future, of a world peace.

We realize that the Civil Law is the foundation of the jurisprudence of all modern European nations and customs, and together with the old feudal law, is the basis of the common law of England, and that it is a large ingredient of the law of Scotland; and we realize further that the common law, together with the statute law, is the law in vogue here in the United States of America, with the exception of a few parts where the Civil Law is still the rule. And, therefore, we all meet on a common ground, and are devoted to the principle that the law, whatever form it take, is the thing which makes for a common brotherhood.

We welcome you to this historic city, in which we take no uncommon pride, because we feel that here the arts and sciences have been cultivated in a way that has been the admiration of the rest of the country, and, we hope, of the entire world. We have built up here a system of education which has been proposed for imitation all over the land and even beyond seas, and we may be pardoned for feeling that we have furnished our people a law-abiding citizenship, an aristocracy of education, and a happy, contented people. Indeed, education has been such a passion with our people that strangers have been kind enough to speak of Boston as a university in the streets. We do not forget that we derive our common law very largely from England, and the principles of equity, which are applied when the common law can no longer do justice, we attribute largely to the Civil Law, the law of the continent of Europe, and to the Church.

You have come to a Commonwealth whose charter dates back to the year 1780, a recent date in the calendar of the older countries, drafted by John Adams, a member of a family which more than any other justifies the belief in the benefit of the persistence of family stocks in a democracy, and who closed his remarkable draft of this constitution with the expression "to the end that this may be a government of laws and not of men."

We welcome you to a city of more than historic value. It is a very hive of commerce and industry. Its port sends out vessels laden with merchandise to all countries of the globe. While it takes more than ordinary pride in its history, which for three hundred years has been only another name for the march of freedom, it is not ever looking backward but straight forward into the future, the character of which it has in its hands to make.

I say to Your Lordships, Your Honors, ladies and gentlemen from England, that we glory as much as you do in the names of Coke, Littleton, Glanville, Cracton, Sir Matthew Hale and William Blackstone, of the elder days, and in the names of Mansfield, Eldon and Parke, in more recent times. These were the great builders of the law in which we all rejoice so much today. We beg our visitors from France to remember that, so long as memory lasts, we shall hold, in grateful remembrance, your outstanding citizen and friend of liberty, Lafayette. We assure our brethren from the Irish Free State that we study even today with keen interest the Brehon laws, which from very ancient times maintained peace among a contented people, and were not wholly superseded by the Common Law of England until 1641. And to our Canadian brethren what more can we say than that we hope that the pleasant relations which have existed now more than a hundred and fifty years between the people of Canada and the United States may continue until time shall be no more.

I hope that your stay in our city, all too brief for us, will bring to you pleasant memories, and that the union of so many peoples of different races in this historic hall, at this moment, and during the few days that you are with us, will give you so much of pleasure that you will look back upon these days as among the pleasantest of your memories, and that you will carry back to your several peoples the assurance that the people of America are so informed with the spirit of the law that this country may be well considered the perpetual residence of an inviolable justice.

Again I bid you a warm welcome.

VISITING JURISTS THANK MAYOR CURLEY.

Mayor Curley, on September 8, received the following communication from the Right Honorable Lord Tomlin, as leader of the lawyers from Great Britain, who have been the guests of the American Bar Association:

"It is to me a matter of very great pleasure to be permitted, as leader of the lawyers from Great Britain who have been guests of the American Bar Association, to express to you the very sincere thanks of all those members of our delegation who have come to Boston for your kind welcome to the city and for your attendance at the luncheon in Faneuil Hall on our arrival yesterday. Nothing could have exceeded the kindness of your greeting and I assure you that each one of us will ever remember with gratitude the warmth of the reception accorded to us by the City of Boston.

Permit me to take this opportunity of expressing to you also my personal gratitude for the great honor which you paid me in presenting me with the key of your city and the further interesting memento of our visit, both of which I and my family will ever treasure as a reminder of the very happy hours we have spent in your most beautiful and historic city."

CITY'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

And as far as historical accuracy is concerned, the sculptor has scrupulously observed all this in the costumes and characters of the figures. In fact, this is probably the first work in sculpture relating to their period in which—in a composition—the historical character in the costumes has been so carefully studied and worked out.

The whole thing has been admirably well done. There is a fine dignity in the poses and character of the principal figures—notably those of William Blaxton, Governor Winthrop, Rev. John Wilson and the little girl, Ann Pollard. These are the principal actors in the scene. The other figures and the environment give the necessary setting and emphasis to the importance of the event. As a composition it is well knit together, while the individuality of the characters has not been sacrificed.

And the whole thing is beautifully modeled—sharp and distinct in outline and artistic in every detail.

Including the architectural setting the whole memorial is to be about 50 feet in length, with this panel set in above the fountain and facing the mall. On the reverse, facing the street, are inscriptions from Governor Winthrop's celebrated address on board the "Arbella" and from Governor William Bradford of Plymouth—from his "History of Plymouth." The Winthrop quotation reads:

"For wee must consider that wee shall be as a Citty vpon a hill.

The eies of all people are vpon vs see that

If wee shall deale falsely with our God in this worke wee have vundertaken . . .

Wee shall be made a story and a by-word through the world."

The Bradford quotation made after his first visit to the Puritans at Charlestown, reads:

"Thus out of smalle beginnings greater things have been produced by His Hand

That made all things of nothing . . . And as one small candle may light a thousand

So the Light here kindled hath shone to many

And underneath these is the following inscription:

In gratitude to God for the Blessings Enjoyed under a free Government

The City of Boston has erected this memorial of the three hundredth anniversary of its founding.

September 17, 1630-1930

James Michael Curley
Mayor

Charles Allerton Coolidge, Architect,
John Francis Paramino, Sculptor.

This will be the first real memorial—of an enduring character—erected to William Blaxton, the pioneer settler and the first Puritan settlers of Boston. It is to be placed over the spring from which William Blaxton got water and near where his house stood.

It is due largely to Mayor Curley that Boston is to have such a memorial. His was the vision which the young Boston sculptor carried out.

ADDITIONS TO CONTRACT.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Thomas O'Connor & Co., Incorporated, have been allowed to make the following addition to the contract for erecting and completing a Fire Department building at Cambridge and Bulfinch streets:

Addition No. VI: A. Furnishing and installing rubber tile flooring and rubber asphaltum tile flooring on first and second floors, $6,537; B. Installing additional shower bath for officers, $975; C. Waterproofing walls in back of smoke flue up to first floor level, $195; D. Furnish and erect seven small lanterns and one large lantern on fire station, $2,950-$10,657. Deduct allowance provided in contract for lamps, $1,000—$9,657. Original contract, $270,000; addition No. I (January 10, 1930), $4,088.60; amendment (February 7, 1930), $4,083.75; addition No. II (February 28, 1930), $18,520; addition No. III (March 8, 1930), $2,370; addition No. IV (June 18, 1930), $2,217; addition No. V (August 6, 1930), $7,390.68. Total contract with additions, deductions and amendments, $318,327.03.

Although the foregoing is in addition to the work contemplated in the original contract it is incidental thereto.

Explanations.

A., furnishing and installing rubber tile flooring and rubber asphaltum flooring on first and second floors: The work of installing floor coverings was included in the original plans, but as the building exceeded the appropriation and new bids were requested, this work was omitted with the idea in mind that it could be included later on when it was decided just what would be the proper kind of floor covering. This addition is recommended by the architect, who states that the work should be arranged for at once so that it will be completed when the building is ready for occupancy.

B., installing additional shower bath: The plans called for shower bath accommodations for officers of the department which would be too crowded for practical use. Because of the large number of officers who will be stationed in this house it was decided, after a conference with the architect, that an additional shower bath should be installed. The amount of work involved to install this shower is considerable, and should be made to match the present work in all particulars. In the opinion of the architect the work should be done and the price is fair.

C., waterproofing walls in back of smoke flue up to first floor level: The architect inspected the portion of the wall referred to and finds that dampness occurs at this point. He recommends that it is to the advantage of the city that this condition be remedied.

D., furnishing and erecting seven small lanterns and one large lantern: There was an allowance of $1,000 in the contract for providing lamps for outside of building. They are a part of the design of the building and $1,000 was not sufficient to provide all the lamps. The architect is of the opinion that the price of $2,950 for the modeling, painting and erection of the lanterns is reasonable and recommends that the work be done in accordance with the plans.
